"British Look" Latest Fashion in Men's Clothing

Toronto's picturesque Cava ker ma, the "British Look", latest development in men's stylings, was introduced.

Not to be confused with the tweedy or ultra-formal clothing so often associated with Britain, the "British Look" reflects the flavor of international styling. It borrows the best from Britain, France and Italy, adapted by U.S. and Canadian designers for North American demand.

Style Pentures This new look takes in sports coats as well as suits. The shaplier-sillionette shows a well de # fined waistline, a generous chest expression and fuller but still natural shoulder. Jacket fronts are-three-button single breasted and gracefully cut away, with natural placement of buttons. There is wider lapel treatment. Pockets and vents, both side and centre, are mansized and func

Trousers, worn with the "Brit ish Look" are usually self-supporting style with plain or single pleated front. They are trim, straight hanging and cut with or without cuffs.

Jackets are fairly short, in keeping with the trend toward shorter lengths. Present models Acton- Baptist Church Explor. are shown with slanted flap pockets, the tlaps being moder ately wide. Matching vests in straight-hottomed style will of ten be-worn with the "British
