

Rouleau Halton N.D.P. Nominee

By Lorne Gundlach
The spotlight at the Halton New Democratic Party nominating convention was shared by an old hand — party leader Tommy Douglas — and a newcomer — Carl Phillip Rouleau of Oakville, who was nominated as the party's candidate in the next federal election. The convention was held in Thomas Blakelock High School, Oakville, on Thursday and was attended by nearly 1,000 interested supporters.

John Kane, president of Halton C.C.F., opened the meeting, then turned the chair over to Ken Broden, M.P.P. for Woodbine, who introduced the guests, Carl Rouleau, head of the geography and history department of Streetsville High School, was the only nominee when nomination were called for.

In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Rouleau stated that to candidate must be aware of the need for responsible handling of a campaign. "We must not use national problems simply as a political football . . . we must consider these problems in the light of the party platform." The nominee remarked that the Conservatives and Liberals are so staid and fixed in ways and policy that they will not listen even to members of their own parties who urge reforms.

Mr. Rouleau said the reason the C.C.F. party failed was a lack of funds. This lack of funds resulted from the party's refusal to take money from hidden interests which would dictate party policy. There is a clear-cut choice, according to the nominee, between parties dominated by corporations and wealthy individuals, and a party backed by trade unions, the representatives of the labor force, the common working man.

Bungle Unemployment
Mr. Rouleau went on to say that high unemployment is a result of government bungling and there are many ways to ease the situation which have not even been considered.

The nominee closed by stating there are three factors vital to any party which desires to be truly representative: democratic organization and financing; courage to pursue a policy of planning for prosperity; and the idealism to pursue world peace. He said the New Democratic Party is the only party which truly fulfills these principles.

Decorated In War
Born in Sudbury 41 years ago, Mr. Rouleau worked on a Canadian Pacific Railway section gang as a youth. When war came, he eventually managed to get into the Army in spite of failing the first medical. He was decorated by General Charles DeGaulle, receiving the Lamee Croix de Guerre, "for a feat of personal arms."

Following the war, Mr. Rouleau proceeded to complete a brilliant academic record, completing four years high school in four months, topping his class while graduating from Queen's University in Honors History, and receiving the McLaughlin Peace Prize for his efforts. He attended the University of Toronto, obtaining his Masters Degree, specializing in international affairs.

John Whitehouse, M.A., Director of Education and Publicity for the Textile Workers Union of America and a member of the N.D.P. National Council, stood to attack the Conservative and Liberal methods of financing campaigns. He read figures which illustrated the difference in money spent on campaigns between these parties and the C.C.F. party.

Values Of Democracy
The chairman introduced the national leader of the NDP and premier of Saskatchewan, guest speaker Tommy Douglas.

"Let no one speak lightly of democracy," said Mr. Douglas, emphasizing the value of democracy, reminding the audience that many men died to obtain and preserve it and it should not be taken lightly. However, he stated, the democracy we presently enjoy is only political, for we are subject to economic slavery. We are told that we can sell our souls for what they will cost us. This economic dictatorship is causing our economy to lose its momentum. We produce less per person, have fewer goods and services and more unemployment than we did in 1950.

On the subject of unemployment, Mr. Douglas said, "There need not be one idle able-bodied person in Canada." He said that there is a need for several million homes, for hospitals, schools, slum clearance, sewers, roads, parking facilities, and numerous other projects which could supply more than sufficient work to employ those now without work.

Needs Of Our Time
The party leader went on to the needs of the country — the need to start the economy rolling once again, the need for a better pension plan, more even wage distribution, government backed education, a complete comprehensive health plan — "I believe that health services should be the inalienable right of every person, just as education should be the inalienable right of every child, — an increase in buying power of the working man, and many other needs which the New Democratic Party feels it could satisfy if given the support of the voters.

There is a crying need, Mr. Douglas stated, for economic as well as political democracy. The answer is an economy run for and by the people. By striving for this economic democracy, Mr. Douglas concluded, we are building for our children and our children's children a society free from . . . fear, want, discrimination." Miss Sheila Spies, of the Bronte New Democratic Party Club thanked the speakers, particularly Mr. Douglas.

A collection was taken up during the meeting and close to $500 was raised to start the nominee's campaign.

Begin Fall Meetings With Wiener Roast
The Y's Men of Acton and their guests gathered last Thursday evening at "The Breezes" to usher in their 1961-62 season. The president, Bill Wilson, greeted the members with a few words of welcome during which he spoke enthusiastically about the prospects for a very successful year.

The thanks of the group are extended to Y's man Ed Foutitt who organized the party and to Y's man Elmer Smith who displayed his culinary talents to the assemblage. Very special thanks are rendered to Y's man Harry Arba for the entertainment he provided in the form of a visit to a Florida night club via tape recorder.

The Y's men were very pleased to welcome Mr. Sattz 80 as one of their guests at the evening. Mr. Sattz is the father of Y's man and Y's secretary Sid Sattz. Mr. Sattz Sr., along with Mrs. Sattz, have since returned to Germany.

The next meeting will be at the Y on Thursday, September 28.
