

Public to Decide Future Home and School Association

No Further Purpose
Mr. McKenzie, in contact with many parents, feels the consensus of opinion is that the Home and School serves no further purpose now that the town has such fine modern schools and is to most parents a waste of time.

Yet the present executive feels there is still a place in the community for Home and School. Besides a need for books and films for the school libraries, there is still much to be accomplished in parent education. Education for modern child-raising in modern times, education in school curriculum and what to expect from the child and from the teacher in the grade that child attends.

Right now, there are no more dragons to slay, so the Home and School is relegated to oblivion, yet the role of today's Home and School is that of prevention, rather than cure.

Symbol of Security
Like inoculation and preventive medicine prevents disease from spreading, a strong association is a symbol of security and a safeguard for high educational standards. If the parents of this town feel they owe no further obligation to this purpose, then the Home and School Association as it stands today is obsolete and must go.

Although the executive feels the town has no interest in having a Home and School Association in their midst, they voted to hold a general meeting to give them the opportunity to keep it alive or let it die a quick and painless death.

General Meeting
The meeting will be held in the Robert Little school auditorium at 8 p.m. sharp, Thursday, October 19. Subject of the meeting will be "Acton Home and School Association - To Be or Not to Be?"

The decision of the executive to turn over the charter and funds of the treasury at the close of the meeting to the Guelph Regional Council depends on the turnout of parents that evening.

And One Is 13

A new police officer joined the North Halton O.P.P. Detachment last week, bringing the staff to 13.

He is Wilfred Griffiths, formerly of Niagara on the Lake. Constable Griffiths was a member of the Liverpool, England police force for several years. He is married and has a small family, and is currently looking for a place to live in town.

Grows Giants

Mrs. A. Gates, R.R. 1, Campbellville, joined the modern trend towards bigger and better things by growing a couple of giant castor bean plants this season. Mrs. Gates reported that one of her plants grew to a height of 10 feet, while one eight foot plant grew leaves three feet wide. These plants usually grow five or six feet high.
