

Inadequate Facilities Found by Grand Jury

Several cases of inadequate facilities were listed Tuesday by the Halton County Grand Jury following the usual inspection of the County Buildings.

The seven man jury met to find a true bill and cause for trial in the case of a Burlington woman on trial for a charge of non-capital murder. The inspection of county facilities is required by law.

"In the buildings, equipment and staff of the Halton Centennial Manor we found something of which Halton can be justly proud," said the jury's report. Jurors were pleased to see recreational facilities in use in the manor basement, and congratulated the superintendent on the "homelike atmosphere which prevails."

The Registry Office was found to be "efficiently staffed and capably managed," however, "present space is very inadequate" at the Halton County Health Unit and the jury recommended that the present Registry Office building be made available for the Health Unit office when the new Court House is completed and the Registry Office moves there.

The Family Court and Children's Aid building has a limited waiting area and office space is "badly overcrowded," the jury found. Although a new Court House is under construction, jurors felt the present building needed an information desk at the main entrance to guide jurors and other personnel to the proper offices and rooms.

At the Jail, which is part of the Court House building, the jury found that office space and visitors' facilities were very inadequate. The report noted the one and only stair case was condemned by the Fire Marshal, and recommended a second stairway be constructed immediately.

In closing, jury foreman Arthur H. Diamond suggested a mental health unit be established for the county. "We would also recommend that some more suitable facilities be provided for holding those suspected of mental illnesses, rather than by use of the County Jail."

Their report will be forwarded to the Attorney-General and County Council.

Museum Wheels Start Rolling

Formation of the Halton County Museum Association was approved at the second meeting of the County Council's Museum Board in the court house, Milton, Monday. So far there are no by-laws and no members. The group whose membership fees will help support the Halton county museum financially is yet to be organized.

Committees of the museum board are just beginning to determine and tackle the tasks that lie before them before the Halton county museum, in a barn on the Duff Alexander property near the new Kelso dam, can be opened — perhaps in the late spring.

The acquisition and collection committee headed by John Milne, Nassagaweya's representative on the board, will arrange to accept gifts and loans at a later date.

On the newly-formed Museum Board, headed by Deputy-reeve Herb Merry of Oakville, are Wilfrid Bird representing county council; Dr. Carl Martin and Robert Marshall representing the Sixteen Mile Creek Conservation Authority; Jack Pemberton, Trailgar; Alex Cooke, Milton; John Milne, Nassagaweya; Mrs. David Dills, Acton; Keith Barber, Georgetown; Ralph Wakely, Oakville; Ben Case, Esquimes; and Walter Reeves, Burlington. Jim Andrews is secretary-treasurer.

Halton Egg Producers Stage Dinner Meeting

The editor of the Canadian Poultry Review, H. B. Donovan, addressed a dinner meeting of the Halton Egg Producers' Association on Tuesday, January 16. Mr. Donovan outlined the proposed Ontario Egg Producers' marketing scheme.

Following his remarks, he answered a series of questions presented by the Halton association, and led an open discussion. President Is. Chairman Douglas Shaw, president of the Halton Egg Producers' Association, acted as chairman of the meeting. Mrs. Ken Ella, secretary, presented a report of the activity of the association, and proposed meetings.

S. Rodway, manager of the Canadian Poultry Institute, discussed the work of the institute and traced the development of the Poultry Products Institute during the past 10 years. His outline included methods used in promoting egg sales and other poultry products.

"The only way to keep a good friend is to be one."

"GOING OR COMING?" There seems to be some doubt about this but actually Ray Saltz is being assisted by his father as he does a somersault during gym class at the Y Monday night. With spectator space limited it was impossible to have "Open House" during Y Week but the secretary has a busy week lined up for the youngsters.

Blue Mountain School Fire Soon Doused Friday

On Friday the Blue Mountain school came close to being a thing of the past when fire broke out after smoldering, they feel, for a day or two. The fire was directly under the furnace which was in the school room as there is no basement. It was lucky it was discovered in time as it was burning in one of the sleepers. When the Georgetown firemen arrived they cut a hole in the floor to get at the fire and it was soon put out. This 91-year-old school will be closed when the new school at Limehouse is ready.

Mrs. Richard Shortill, who has been teaching in this school for 11 years, and her pupils were eating lunch when they smelled smoke and saw it seeping up through the floor. One of the pupils went to Elwood Snow's who phoned the firemen. They lost no time in getting there.

The youngsters had the rest of the afternoon off and are back to school this week.

Switch Euchre Spot
The W.I. euchre was to have been in Blue Mountain school on Friday night but owing to the fire, was held at the home of Mr. Elwood Snow when 10 tables were played. Winners were Mrs. Delores, Mrs. Leo Jamieson, Bert Davidson, Harding Price; low, C. Snow, lucky draw Mrs. Wilfred Burt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, visited with Mrs. J. Snow and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Snow on Friday.

Communion Sunday
Communion services were held on Sunday morning. Rev. Engel of Acton was in charge. He also held an inaugural service for two elders, Norman Sinclair and Jesse McEnery.

Approve Plan
The Building committee of the new hall met on Tuesday night and approved the plan which will be sent on to the community centres act for approval. Miss Helena Hills spent a few days in Toronto with her sister Marjorie.

The first meeting of the U.C.W. will be held in the church on Thursday night.

William Hindley Elected Chairman Of Eramosa Township School Board

Newly-elected trustees subscribed to the oath of office and allegiance to the Queen before the secretary, George Day, at the inaugural meeting of the Eramosa Township school board on Wednesday, January 17 at No. 2 school. They are Warren Parkinson, William Jackson and Dr. R. J. Hilton. Other trustees present were William Hindley and Ben Hosking.

William Hindley was elected chairman for 1962 and Warren Parkinson vice-chairman. Arrangements were made for the annual board-staff dinner to be held at Barrie Hill Church on February 24.

Correspondence was received from the Retarded Children's Association thanking the Board for the grant. From the Eramosa Teachers requesting the purchase of a projector; from Mrs. L. Root and Mrs. S. Dryden requesting consideration of physical education equipment at the Rockwood School.

Concerned Delegation
A delegation from No. 1 school, W. A. McDonald, E. Osborne, and G. Darby, waited on the board expressing their concern about the school building proximity to Highway No. 7 and the County Road. The delegation suggested the possibility of adding one or two rooms to No. 11 or building a new school near the present structure.

The chairman and secretary were authorized to bring us from the Royal Bank Mrs. Irene Hindley was engaged as teacher at No. 3 school commencing January 1962.

The board joined the Ontario

School Trustees Association and Trustees' Council. The secretary was instructed to write to the Eramosa Planning Board requesting information in regard to present and future plans for zoning, etc. in the township, particularly in the No. 1 and 11 school areas.

A tentative budget was passed providing for a levy of $61,544.00. Carl Wheeler was appointed maintenance man for schools 3, 4, 5, and 6, and Murney Weirmer for the remainder of the schools.

SCOOPS from Speyside School
Room 1 — The children enjoyed a very quiet week.

Room 2 — The student council is only one of the good things of Speyside School. They try to do only the right thing for the school. Now they are making Year Books and the pupils are drawing pictures to go in it.

Room 3 — Most pupils should get a high mark in supplementary reading on this report in room three. At Christmas many of us received books and we have been exchanging them.

The examinations are about over now. We have just science and language left to write next week.

Room 4 — In room four this week for art the girls had to draw a dress for the year 2000, and the boys a car. Some of the ideas were well done, others we hope don't come true for the sake of fashion.

Room 5 — Grade eight won in spelling this week although grade eight said they would win.

Mrs. Kidney gave us our music test on Thursday.

In science grade eight are learning about comets. Grade seven are learning about magnet
