

Over 4,000 Jam Ukrainian Camp for Closing Program

Over 2,000 cars, filling almost every available parking space, and twice as many people, began to arrive early Sunday morning to enjoy the Festival Day at the Ukrainian Youth Association Camp on the Fourth Line, east of Acton.

Celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Ukrainian Secret Army, parents and young campers gathered on the massive assembly ground to hear General Futla, leader of the western division army.

On hand to greet the large crowd were Dr. M. Hoota, president of the Dominion Association, and camp commander Walter Dzeyukivsky, as well as many other dignitaries from Canada and the United States.

Two Streetcars First

The camp has grown from a mere handful of youths when it first began in 1954 and this year, 378 boys and girls registered for the summer sessions. When the camp first opened, two abandoned streetcars and an old farm house were the only means of accommodation. Today, six buildings and 10 tents are used for the boys' accommodation; the girls' classes use the six buildings and two tents. A new equipment building and large stage have been erected this year on the former William McDonald farm.

Summer camp began in July when 291 boys under the leadership of five instructors took religious training, physical education, historical training including Ukrainian and Canadian history, recreation and regular camp crafts. A large swimming area near the entrance of the camp, gives children from cities an opportunity to bask in the sun and enjoy the varied facilities.

Sunday afternoon, the large crowd gathered on the assembly ground and watched as the youngsters marched from the parade ground and lined up opposite the stage, where two flag poles holding the Union Jack and Ukrainian Flag were located. During the playing of "God Save the Queen", the Canadian Ensign was hoisted, after which the band played the Ukrainian National Anthem as the Ukrainian flag day, those in the large, friendly gathering chatted gaily and renewed old acquaintances as several speeches given in native tongue highlighted the program prior to dancing by children, donned bathing suits for a cool dip in the pool.

The main purpose of the camp is to assure a summer outing for the youngsters of Ukrainian descent but when accommodation is available, other nationalities are welcome.

NATIVE TONGUE

Several speeches given in native tongue highlighted the program prior to dancing by children, donned bathing suits for a cool dip in the pool.

The main purpose of the camp is to assure a summer outing for the youngsters of Ukrainian descent and parking facilities were at a premium.

Long after activities had ceased, camp chiefs were checking buildings and the grounds for misplaced and forgotten articles left by the visitors to enjoy the program. During the afternoon, five bus loads arrived as parents gathered children for the long trek home.

Revive Pipes Seek Players

Dave Peal and Bill Patterson are trying to blow some fresh air into the deflated pipes of the Junior Pipe Band. They are hoping to swell the thin ranks of the band to 16 at least. Mr. Peal, a charter member, hopes anyone interested from 14 to 40 will contact him right away.

On the band's executive are Jack McGeachie, George Holmes, Bert Remnick, Hamilton Peal, Rosemary Cook, Joyce Remnick and Dave Peal.

District President Speaker At Greenock W.I. Meeting

Mrs. J. Baldwin of Erin district president of Centre Wellington Women's Institutes was guest speaker at the August meeting of Greenock W.I., which was held at the home of Mrs. George Wallace. Mrs. Baldwin led the group in a study of the new hand book, explaining important features and any changes made. She also used a quiz on the hand book to which each person present answered one question.

Mrs. T. Heinsley, president, opened the meeting by reading a short poem, "Three Gates," followed by the "opening exercises" by Mrs. C. Aitken. Various topics such as nursing, news paper work, teaching and cooking were given as answers to the roll call, "What I would like to have been, had I not been a housewife."

A wealthy Texan who has been visiting Canada for an operation, Mrs. Wm. Johnstone, was a guest speaker. He said, "I can't afford the doctor's bill, so I'm going to go home and buy something imported."
