Armour Sheepskin Leather Added to Beardmore's Line

In a joint release, P. W. Kenyon, general manager, Armour Leather Company, and W. J. Beardmore, president and general manager of Beardmore and Company Ltd. of Acton, announced the appointment of Beardmore and Company as agents for the Armour line of sheepskin leathers. Beardmore will represent Armour throughout Canada except in the provinces of British Columbia and Manitoba.

Expanding Business Mr. Kenyon stated Armour's expanding volume of business in Canada required more complete coverage and servicing of the accounts using sheepskin leathers and the appointment of Beardmore, one of the oldest and largest tanners in Canada, will make this possible.

According to Mr. Beardmore, the addition of Armour Sheepskin leathers, including lining, glove, sports, novelty, slipper, and garment leathers, to its own line of upper, sole, patent, wetting, belting, and fancy leathers, makes it possible for Beardmore to supply the complete leather requirements of the shoe, garment and allied trades of Canada.

"Tragic Waste" Launch Grass Fire Campaign

An intense campaign against Spring grass fires will be launched next week when Halton County Fire Prevention Bureau issues 25,000 copies of a leaflet, urging everyone to be careful with outdoor fires while the grass is dry.

"In six weeks last Spring the County's fire departments answered 445 grass fire alarms," said Chairman Erwin Lewis, Deputy Chief of the Georgetown Fire Department. "It means a cost to the taxpayers of over $100,000 in firefighting wages and equipment alone, plus the cost of the resulting property damage. We've got to cut out this tragic waste of time and money."

Revisions of voters' lists throughout Halton County last week turned up less than 200 extra names, returning officer Richard West of Burlington said. Monday the original census of enumerators a few weeks ago missed very few voters. One poll in Burlington saw 89 names added, however there were no more than that in the other 284 polls across the county. There will be close to 60,000 eligible voters.

Mr. West said the last count back in February turned up 99,141 voters, a 30 per cent increase of 3,500 since last June.

Minority Government Can be Stable-NDP

Over 30 attended a meeting held in the YMCA on Tuesday night, to meet and hear the New Democratic Candidate, Ellis Fullerton.

The meeting was opened by Acton's NDP President, Bob Drinkwater, who welcomed those present and introduced the candidate, Ellis Fullerton, Halton County Organizer, Bill Cumpsty, and assistant organizer (Halton North), Alex Korveck.

Well Received Bill Cumpsty brought the audience up-to-date on the progress of the campaign. He stated that Ellis Fullerton is being well received at all the public and meet the candidate meetings and the news papers in the areas where these meetings have been held, had confirmed this statement in their write-ups.

Mr. Cumpsty went on to say that all over the County the response was very good, and with an extra effort on every one's part, it was possible that Halton County would elect their NDP member of parliament on April 8.

Minority Governments Mr. Fullerton stated that the Liberal Party was telling the people of Canada that they have a stable government. By stable they mean of course a minority Liberal government. However, all predictions to date indicate that the people of Canada will not give any party a clear majority on April 8.

A minority government does not necessarily mean an unstable or bad government, as the records show that in Canada's parliamentary history, the minority government of the McKenzie King, and the 1957 government of John Diefenbaker were the most productive governments, this country has had, since Confederation.

He also stated that during the era of the McKenzie King minority government, two CCF members were able to force the federal government to introduce the Old Age Pension Bill in return for their support in a vote of no confidence.

After Mr. Fullerton's address the audience was given the opportunity to ask questions. There was no lack of takers, and the candidate was kept going for about an hour, with questions ranging from nuclear arms, farm policy, unemployment, economic planning and American investment in Canada.

Donated Prize Money The $500 Draw was won by Robinson, R.R. 1, Acton, who donated the prize money which amounted to $50 to the Democratic Party for use in the election campaign.

The Halton organizer announced that the Carleton Place will be held Saturday, April 6, and will leave the Georgetown Shopping Plaza at 9 a.m. The route will take it through Acton, Milton, Burlington and end up in Oakville, Milton, Grey, Ripley, Barab and a Hamilton Road will take part in the Carleton.

It was also announced that a surprise office has been set up at Mrs. St. to serve customers who will be inconvenienced when they visit post office on the outskirts of town. The old building, 2550 St. was converted to a post office.

Panel Discussion At Greenock W.I. Greenock Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Wain Johnston for their March meeting.

Mrs. Hennessey, president, opened the meeting by reading a poem and Mrs. Elvess Johnson gave the secretary's report. A domestic job I would like to see a man do was the topic of the annual display at Acton.

The annual display at Acton last year was discussed and a theme and Mrs. C. V. and Mrs. T. Hennessey agreed to take charge of this display. Plans are also under way for a party on the 28th, head of the class, a party on the 29th, head of the class, a party on the 30th, head of the class.

Members were encouraged to bring canisters of cleaning supplies, and have a party on the 28th, head of the class, a party on the 29th, head of the class, a party on the 30th, head of the class.

Let us leave the world to the young men, it was the topic of a very interesting meeting given by Mrs. Elvess Johnson. Several short convener reports were given. An informative panel discussion on resolutions was the highlight of the meeting. The participants of this panel were Mrs. G. Wallace, resolutions convener, Mrs. T. Hennessey, Mrs. G. Lesie, and Mrs. E. Peavon. Mrs. Lesie conducted a contest on the night.

Lunch was served by the hostess, and assistants, Mrs. J. Thompson was courtesy convener.

Rehabilitation Now Replaces Punishment

Breakdown in family life was cited as one major cause of anti-social activities by the Rev. Peter O'Flynn, Rector of St. Patrick's Church, Guelph, when he addressed the Lenten meeting in Tuxton hall.

Outlining the church's responsibilities to the offender, the guest speaker, Anglican chaplain of the Ontario Reformatory, cited several scriptural references in support of the premise that family environment is a factor in anti-social behavior.

Mr. O'Flynn noted the Old Testament gives examples of the deterrent philosophy of crime prevention.

Rehabilitation Slowly, society's attitude towards the offender is changing with the trend to rehabilitation rather than simple punishment becoming apparent.

The Guelph clergyman said the church must concern itself with those who have broken the laws of society.

St. Leonard's House provides an example of the type of assistance necessary to get the offender back on the right track. Here, ex-offenders are helped and accepted and taught how to fill useful roles in society.

Individually, as church members, Mr. O'Flynn told his, and since the first move is to pray for the offender and visit him in prison.

Often Bitter Neither approach is easy, he pointed out, and understandably the former often is bitter and suspicious of efforts to help him.

The rector of St. Alban's, Rev. D. H. West, introduced his Guelph colleague and thanked him on behalf of the B.A.C. membership.

It was also announced that a surprise office has been set up at Mrs. St. to serve customers who will be inconvenienced when they visit post office on the outskirts of town. The old building, 2550 St. was converted to a post office.

Work starts this week at the site of the new Progressive consolidated school in Esqueville.
