

ROCKWOOD

Red and White Store Closes

Regret is felt in the community in connection with the closing up of the Red & White Store, due to Mr. W. Lahn having to go back to Drayton to look after the store there, the transaction in real estate business falling through and Mr. Lahn having to take over the store.

It has caused him to give up here after four months of business due to ill health. Mr. and Mrs. Lahn have made many friends during their brief stay in Rockwood. Mrs. Lahn has been looking after the business here and Mr. Lahn, coming home each evening and returning to Drayton every morning.

Thanksgiving Day passed off quietly here. Considerable traffic was noticed along Valley Road and into the former High-Pot-Low Park as well as into the Grand Valley Conservation Park off the Highway.

Services on Sunday were mainly on Thanksgiving themes. Weather conditions were ideal for the holiday season. Mrs. Wm. Mulholland of Guelph and also former resident of Rockwood, was a brief visitor in the village on Sunday.

Richard Harris attended the Guelph Camera Club meeting at the Recreation Centre on Delhi Street last Wednesday evening, when a number of camera fans were present to see slides devoted to numerous pictures, dealing with photography. During the showing of slides a number of flowers were on the screen, and roses were predominant.

Mr. Cole of Stewart's Drug Store had charge of the meeting and gave brief information on the slides. Richard Harris had a number of slides, some of them dealing with his trip to Matheson in Northern Ontario last July and others in connection with local scenery as well as trees in autumn colors.

WRETFIGHTERS WENT to blaze four times during the weekend in a rash of flash and grass fires. One of the most difficult to extinguish was a straw and tractor fire in Exousing. Fire chief Mick Holmes believes dry straw backed up in the hot muffler of the tractor, setting off an explosion in the gas tank, which spread to a large quantity of baled straw which was destroyed. The straw belonged to Oscar Broughton, R.R. 1, Acton. The tractor was owned by Willard Britton and was being operated by his son Ross.
