Boost Blood Bank by 113 Pints As Donors Brave Poor Weather

The eighth blood clinic in Ac- ton sponsored by the Acton Canadian Legion and Legion Ladies Auxiliary had over 40 per cent fewer donors than the one last year. In spite of efforts by the Legion to have a large turnout by sending out letters and ap- pointment cards, only 113 donors showed up to give blood.

A combination of Halton's cold and poor weather was partially to blame for the poor turnout, but Legion executive members were disappointed at the short hours worked by the Red Cross

Local workers assisting dur- ing the day included registered nurses Mrs. Dave Gordon and Mrs. Janet Rogers and St. John Ambulance Brigade members Mrs. George Hargrave, Mrs. Ed- die Hefferman and Miss Bella Maye Roszell. Receptionists were Mrs. Arthur Ford and Mrs. Frank Toth Jr.; cloakroom attendants, Miss Sandra Hargrave; typists, Mrs. Mac Symon, Mrs. William Damsrah and Mrs. I. Green- wood. In charge of the lunch were Mrs. Lloyd Masales, Mrs. Charles Townsley, Mrs. George Lazenby and Mrs. William Chris- tohm. Mrs. Charles Higgin- based out fruit drinks to don- ors before giving blood.

Donors who failed to receive their five or 10 year pint are asked to contact Mrs. Frank Toth Jr. at 853-1846.

The following were donors at the blood clinic during the after- noon and evening:

Stewarttown dam by Dorothy Stone, entitled "Esqueing Au- rium" which will hang in the new township building at the of- ficial opening this Saturday.

Members suggested the Up- per Canada College property should be posted with no tres- passing signs, after a complaint from the owner about hunters roaming the 40-acre farm and the danger of accidents.

Nomination date was set for November 25 and the election if necessary will be December 2. Deputy returning officers will be paid $9 plus mileage, and poll- clerks will receive $7.

At a meeting of the Halton County Clerks' and Treasurer's Association last Wednesday in Milton the Association passed a resolution to the effect that it was unable to see the advantage in the county administering plan- ning at the present time. The resolution continued, "The As- sociation would not rule this out but feels that it requires con- siderably more research and dis- cussion."

The motion was passed after an excerpt from the Halton County Planning Committee re- port had been read requesting that the Association place the matter of "Planning at the County Level" on its agenda.

Frank Gowen was the speaker and he discussed the many as- pects of "Municipal Insurance" bringing forward such points as the purpose of insurance, fire in- surance replacement value as op- posed to depreciated value, boat insurance, floater policies equipment floaters, tendering for insurance, the method of proce- ding—claims—consolidation—can claim and for what, Workmen's Compensation, municipal neglig- ence and employee's automobile insurance.

Reeve George Leslie felt, how- ever, that since the quarry wid- ened the road, the repair work should be the quarry's responsi- bility. But councillor Walter Lin- ham said the phone line was in poor shape before the quarry was built. Members agreed to discuss the problem with John Moore, quarry manager.

Esqueing Council pointed the finger at Acton Limestone Quar- ries Monday, when the Bell Tele- phone Co. asked council to put up $776 to remove telephone wires from 22 Sideroad between Highway 25 and the Quarry prop- erty at the Fourth Line.

Bell representative Jack Sny- der told council that since the quarry dumped stone along the roadsides to make the road wider and safer for heavy truck traffic, the road edges are too near the phone lines and several trucks have hit the lines, knock- ing them out. The $776 should be the township's 50 per cent share of moving them.

Talks, Demonstrations, Discussions Highlight Teachers' Convention

The teachers of Halton Inspec- torate No. 1 assembled in the Howard Wrigglesworth Public school in Georgetown on Friday, Nov. 1 for their annual conven- tion. The president J. D. Watson asked the Rev. F. N. Young of Knox Presbyterian Church, Georgetown to take the devo- tional after which Mr. Findlay of the Georgetown Board welcomed the teachers to the school.

E. Balkind introduced the guest speaker of the morning, D. A. Clee, assistant superintendent of curriculum and text books in the department of Edu- cation. Mr. Clee's topic "Old oil in new lamps," left every teacher with some excellent ideas for classroom use. Miss J. Ruddlel thanked Mr. Clee and a short coffee break followed.

Mrs. V. Darcie and her grade 5 pupils from Georgetown followed with a demonstration lesson in conjunction with Mr. Clee's ad- dress. Mrs. E. McKeown thanked Mrs. Darcie.

Dinner was served in the Knox Presbyterian Hall and apprecia- tion expressed by Mrs. E. Glow, W. Kinrade introduced the din- ner speaker, D. Laitmer, a Georgetown lawyer who made a very interesting presentation. Mrs. F. Parsons thanked Mr. Lait- mer.

Mrs. M. Armstrong and Mrs. G. Cromar entertained the teach- ers with a musical number and recitation which were well re- ceived.

Mrs. A. Paul, who retired from teaching in June of last year with a gift on behalf of the Halton teachers. Mrs. Paul expressed her sincere appreciation to all.

D. G. McDowell, Inspector of Public Schools gave a short ad- dress and expressed his appre- ciation for the help of all who worked toward the convention.

Reports from M. Armstrong, E. Balkind, and J. Zehr the sec- retary-treasurer and nominations committee chairman were made. J. D. Watson adjourned the meeting back to the Wriggles- worth school where three discus- sion groups met under Miss I. Elliot, primary consultant from St. Catharines, F. Reynolds, In- spector of Auxiliary services, De- partment of Education and Mr. Beer, Mr. Knapper and Mr. McKeown.

The group speakers were in- troduced by Mrs. A. Rudy, C. Homer and H. Knapper and ap- preciation was expressed by Mrs. S. Zehr, Miss W. Harris and J. Leay.

The vice-president Mr. L. Mac- donald was unable to attend the meeting because he was re- ceiving his BA degree on this day.
