

10,000 Shapely Stars Preparing for Royal

Opening night is drawing close for the more than 10,000 shapely stars of Canada's biggest farm show.

The 1963 Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, Canada's national country fair, opens in the Coliseum, Exhibition Park, Toronto, on November 15 for a week-long run to November 23.

Down on the farm, some 10,000 cattle, horses, pigs, sheep, goats and poultry, are being sleeked, shined, combed and coddled for their appearance before a mixed audience of city and farm families.

Bank From Money
The furred and feathered performers will come from all provinces of Canada and more than a dozen U.S. states, looking for $160,000 prize money, fame, and colored ribbons.

For many of the show's stars, the Royal will be a brief and glorious swan song, before they go under the auctioneer's hammer. Chain stores will compete briskly with each other for the right to buy the Ontario's finest steers, specially bred and raised by teen-age farmers for competition at the Royal. Many thousands more dollars will change hands at the show's Sale of Stars when other he-bribed cattle go on the block.

The Royal's all-star cast will also include prime exhibits of fruit, vegetables, flowers, dairy and poultry products, honey, maple syrup and a menagerie of pet stock ranging from cage birds to tropical fish.

Royal Movie Show
Top-billing in the Royal Horse Show goes to the international jumping teams from Canada, the U.S., Germany, Ireland and Argentina. They will meet at the Royal for the final round of their North American circuit that includes competitions in Harrisburg, Pa., Washington, D.C., and New York.

Another highlight of the Royal Horse Show will be the colorful and exciting, world-famous Musical Ride of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The quarter-horse, faithful companion of the Western cowboy, will have a bigger part in this year's show. Quarter horses, or cow ponies, made their first appearance at the 1962 Royal and this year the number of classes for these nimble-footed animals is being doubled.

Draught Breeds Too
The workaday draught horses, however, won't be eclipsed by the more glamorous breeds. As always, there are many classes for all the popular draught breeds. In addition, classes are being introduced this year to showcase the showmanship ability of junior farmers with heavy horses. In the beef cattle division, two additional classes will be provided for each breed for yearlings.

Guernsey Futurity Show will be a highlight of the dairy cattle competitions. To enter, owners were obliged to nominate their animals as yearlings, again as two-year-olds and finally as three-year-olds, paying a fee with each nomination. Total amount paid in fees will be offered as prize money.

Sheep Classes
A new class in the sheep division will be for groups composed of one yearling ram and two yearling ewes.

In the swine classes, Lacombe swine, a Canadian developed breed, will be more numerous than ever and will be judged in classes similar to those of the more traditional breeds.

Ladies from the farm, village and country towns, as well as those from the larger cities will be welcomed to the Farm Food Fair, an innovation at this year's Royal. Six Canadian farm groups have joined forces this year to dramatize the high quality of Canadian-grown foods in a home-maker's cooking demonstration.

Food Fair
The Farm Food Fair will be presented by Ontario Hydro and will be sponsored by the Ontario Hog Producers Association, Ontario Beef Improvement Association, Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association, Dairy Foods Service Bureau, Ontario Wheat Producers Association and the Poultry Products Institute of Canada.

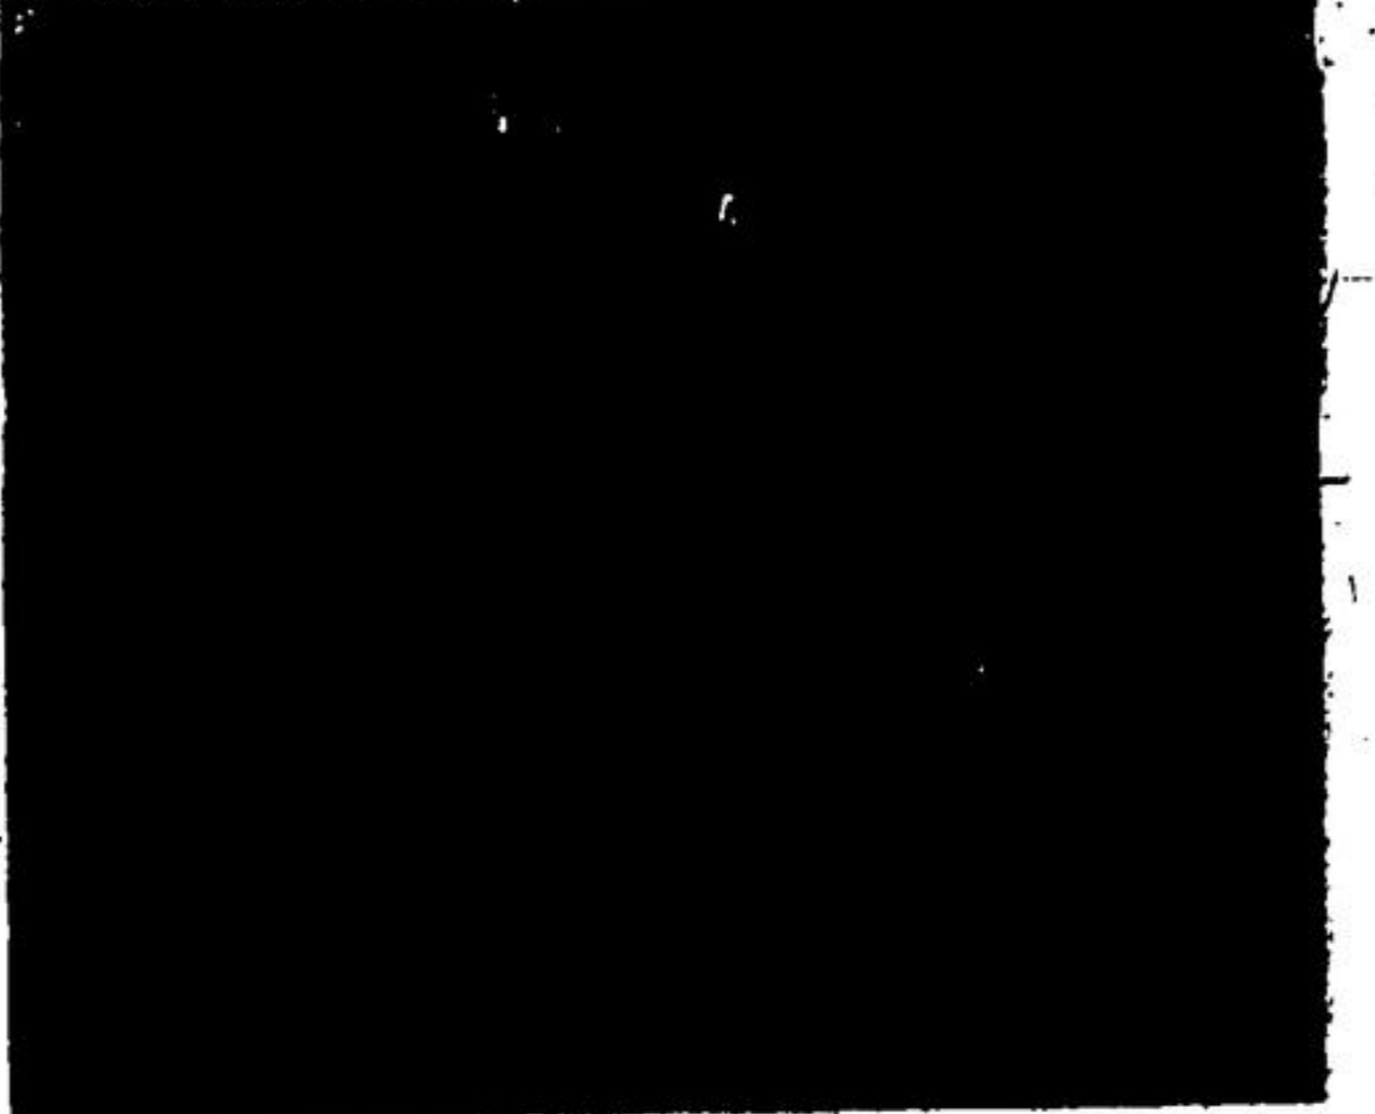

A fur fashion show, featuring minks and high-fashion gowns, is another Royal highlight planned for ladies.

Everyone in the family can take an interest in the 72nd International Salon of Photography, held in conjunction with the Royal. The Salon, the longest established photographic show in North America, is sponsored by the Royal and the Toronto Camera Club, now in its 76th year. Entries come from almost every corner of the world, including countries behind the Iron Curtain.

For the Children
A perennial favorite with the younger set — from farm and city — is the Children's Royal, a fun-filled farm made up of the variety of all the farm animals — piglets, ducklings, chicks, calves and other animal youngsters.

Many Royal visitors this year will be getting their first glimpse of the Coliseum's new facade, an impressive structure of gleam metal in modernistic design. The addition not only provides easier movement between the wings of the building but houses the Canadian Agricultural Hall of Fame, a collection of portraits of some of Canada's outstanding farm leaders.

The police line-up was arranged by Francois Eugene Viecuq, French detective early in the 19th century.

BANDSMAN ELMER SMITH sounded the Last Post and Reveille during the Remembrance Day services at Haltonville Sunday afternoon. Guelph Pipe Band led the parade from the cenotaph to Nassagaweya Presbyterian Church for a brief service. One of the largest crowds in years attended the service. The program was planned by Legionnaire Dr. B. D. Young.

Chairman Reid Stresses Close Board Harmony

Truce: Roy Goodwin said he agreed with parts of the letter and claimed certain work had been authorized without first calling tenders. The property chairman stated the board attempted to obtain bids whenever possible but stated there were times when only experts in their line could do certain jobs. He cited as an example recent roof repairs which contracts had been awarded through necessity rather than choice.

Mr. Bonnette said he was in favor of local people doing the work if they are able and willing. He also cited the proposed installation of an alarm system to warn of shutdowns in the heating system and said an out-of-town firm had been approached because a local electrician had failed to complete a plan requested earlier in the year.

Mr. Bonnette remarked, "Sure, we make mistakes and will continue to make mistakes but in the past we have stuck with certain men because they drop what they are doing to get our work done."

Trustee William Benson concluded the writer had "got his problem off his chest" by writing the letter. Chairman Watson stated "A lot of this is peanuts. I choose to disregard it."

Bulk Buying
Members also discussed a proposed method of purchasing supplies en masse instead of the present system of buying here and there. Under the suggested system supplies for both public schools will be purchased on a yearly basis in order to save money and cut down on the amount of salesmen calling at schools to see caretakers.

Blind Canvas
The Campbellville Canadian National Institute Blind canvas for this district realized $28,833. Thanks to all the local ladies who so generously gave of their time to make this canvass a success.

Thankoffering Meeting
Grace Mission Band Thankoffering meeting was held in the Sunday School Room at St. David's Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon. With the president, Judith Inglis in the chair and she opened with a call to worship and prayer. The devotional period was taken by Patsy VanSickle and Karen Early. The offering was dedicated by Pamela Hambly and Brenda Cramp.

Elizabeth McLaren gave the secretary's report, Jill Watson the financial report, and Mrs. Allan G. Cole gave the senior and junior study books on Korea and China during the past year, and thanked all who helped to make the meeting a success. Mary Ella gave a recitation on Smiles. Pamela Hambly introduced the guest speaker, a former leader of the Mission Band, Mrs. Roy Parker, who chose the four seasons of the year for God's work with Mrs. Lloyd Crawford accompanying at the piano with interspersing hymns of the four seasons.

Patsy VanSickle closed the meeting with prayer. Karen Early was pianist, and after Grace a social half hour followed. About 40 attended.

Teachers Study Problem Solving
Nearly 70 elementary public school teachers from Waterdown, Acton and Milton heard D. L. Bornhold, a specialist in the field of mathematics speak on "problem solving." Tuesday evening at the J. M. Davies school, Milton.

Mr. Bornhold, a brother of R. F. Bornhold, a former Halton County Public School Inspector, explained that the general objectives of problem solving are to help the learner acquire mathematical meaning, develop speed and competence in mathematics; to be able to use mathematics with understanding and to help the child see the value and use of mathematics in the "problem solving."

New Trend
The speaker explained that a new trend in problem solving is the use of algebra in developing and that this method could very well be in effect by 1964 or 1965. "Equations," the speaker noted, "are the most important part of showing the thinking that is going on in a child's mind."

Following the speaker's address, the teachers broke up into groups according to grades, and tried to solve problems given to them by the guest speaker using the new method that he had explained.

Answers Questions
When the meeting reconvened Mr. Bornhold answered questions asked by the teachers. He was thanked by Miss Kingsbury from Acton.

Introduce Brookville Staffers

Parent-teacher Open House was held at Brookville School on Thursday evening, when Kenneth Trowbridge, principal, was chairman for the program. He introduced the following teachers: Mrs. L. Wood, grade 1; Miss L. Cargo, grade 2; Miss J. Westenger, grade 2; Miss M. Pos, grade 3; Miss W. Harris, grade 4; Miss E. Wallis, grade 5; J. Zehr, grade 6; L. Duffield, grade 7; K. Trowbridge, principal; Mrs. R. Storey, principal's relief; Mrs. D. Manes, music supervisor, and S. Robinson, maintenance supervisor.

The transportation drivers were introduced, Mr. and Mrs. George Inglis, J. Chapman, H. Purdy, Stanley Price, and Mrs. T. Bayley, after which Mrs. Inglis presented the Transportation Trophy for the highest standing in general proficiency for grade 8, 1962-63, to Wendy Bryan.

Arthur Gibson brought greetings from the Nassagaweya School Board. K. Trowbridge talked to the parents on "Attitude between the child and parent, prior to school age," he said, "between the teacher and child all through public and high school, and into university, and the attitude between the parent and teacher through all the years of education. Closer relationship between all three makes a better student in the end."

Inspector O'McDowell sent greetings. The last Post and Reveille during the Remembrance Day services at Haltonville Sunday afternoon. Guelph Pipe Band led the parade from the cenotaph to Nassagaweya Presbyterian Church for a brief service. One of the largest crowds in years attended the service. The program was planned by Legionnaire Dr. B. D. Young.

Flowering Crab For Centennial

Mrs. R. D. Young was hostess for the Nassagaweya Women's Institute. The president, Mrs. B. Fraser, presided and opened the meeting with the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. After the usual business Mrs. Moffat reported on the District Directors' meeting held in Milton. She reminded the members of the cherry pie contest, also the muffin contest, using cooking bran.

She spoke of planning now to beautify your grounds for the 1967 Canadian Centennial. The Flowering Crab (Almev), has been chosen as the tree for the Centennial as it will survive in every garden soil across Canada. There is still time to plant a small tree and have bloom by 1967.

Miss S. Thornton, a nurse and member of the Halton Health Unit, gave an informative talk on mental ill-health and health education. She said, "Halton is a healthy county."

Conveners were appointed to arrange for the lunch counter to be set up at Murray Mahon's sale on November 9 and to make plans for serving refreshments. Lunch was served and a social time was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.
