Included to the play were Normie Love, Harold Townsley Ugo Bolson, the coach himself and the old lamplighter Jim Cashurn It would be disastrous for any opposing team to draw penalties

If the play has the same success it did Sunday. In a wide onen game like Sunday's it's hard to draw conclusions but it seemed as if the defensive corps of both teams played possely. Defensemen on the teams looked as if they'd rather score mals than stop them and the number scored - 20 - is a good Indication of how many times they were out of position. You could hardly blame the netminders. They both played well considering the number of shots they had directed at them.
