

Pounding the SPORTS BEAT

WONDER HOW the Acton entries in the Tri-County hockey association are doing this season?

Bumped into Ilio Marzo-Saturday at the community centre as he looked for players from the Legion town league who might be able to help his team out. Ilio retired as coach of the Tanners last season in order to devote more time to minor hockey. He's coach of the midgets, the best-looking prospects of Acton's five Tri-County entries.

Ilio feels there has been a tremendous improvement in the local kids this season. They didn't win many games at first, but lately they've started to show they can make the best of the Tri-County has to offer.

Taking over the team, Ilio says they've lost three or four games by a single goal. They're starting to win their share now. It's the same almost all down the line from juvenile to bantam pee wee and novice. Installation of artificial ice is beginning to pay off.

This is the third season for artificial ice in Acton and actually only the second full season. It was generally thought five years would elapse before Acton teams could expect to compete with other towns in the Tri-County league had artificial ice for decades. The time is coming sooner if this season is a good yardstick.

"I like this idea of the association," declared Ilio, referring to the Acton Minor Hockey Association now in its first year of operation. "It means equal treatment for all the teams instead of some receiving all the benefits and others having to scrape for every penny." Quietly Ilio was also aware of the big job the A.M.H.A. has shouldered this season. It has cost them over $1000 already to run their teams. But the investment has already paid off if you measure the countless hours of hockey enjoyment the kids of this town have had.

A FEW OF THE INTERMEDIATE hockey fans must be won during with the Tanners seem to be saving their power efforts for the consumption of home town boosters. Their last two games at home haven't been nearly as good as their away efforts.

It distresses playing coach, James Beaumont, too. He may have a few shakies in mind before the next home game, but a week Friday, last Friday's contest saw the Acton club try hard to pull the game out of the fire with a hustling third period effort but it was a little late.

Some of the players seem to have forgotten hockey is a two-way street. You've got to check as well as score goals.

Third place is at stake this Friday night when the Tanners meet Fergus Flyers in Fergus. This is only the second meeting between the two clubs this season as Acton took the first at home. Flyers are right on the tails of the Tanners with 13 points, a point back of the Acton club which has seven wins to its credit.

If the Flyers take Friday's contest they'll leap into third. The Tanners have to face Orangeville on their own backyard Monday as there's a lot of hope of catching up then. Dufferins have first place wrapped up.

Measurably second place Milton Charles, an inconsistent as the Tanners managed to hold on to second place by beating Cheltenham Sunday. They're here next Friday night and if the Acton crew can come through with a win in Fergus, second place might be up for grabs in what could be one of the biggest games of the season.

BEAT BITS

N.H.E. Old timers who made a big splash when they were in Acton last year are playing Milton Charles this Sunday in the county town. 2:30 p.m. The Old timers have virtually the same line-up as they sported last season here. Mary Marshall, one of two Acton players with Georgetown's Junior B Beavers, was selected to play on the Eastern Metro Junior All Stars in the east west game. Only one other Georgetown player made the grade. Jack Gudgeon. Last won 6-3.

While the Milton Pre-Ann league a circuit modelled after international hockey, expands the Georgetown Industrial League has folded. The Sunday afternoon date the industrial league relied on has been taken over by the Beavers and Junior B's. Balders lost a 9-3 decision to Orangeville Sunday.

Milton Charles, meanwhile, after being shellacked 13-5 by Fergus Friday rebounded to slaughter Cheltenham 10-3 Sunday afternoon. Jack Price, latterly with Oakville's St. Oaks has retired from hockey. Still a young man Price has hung up his tack saving from points other reasons as well. They include demands of his job, a desire to spend more time with his family and the increased demands of senior hockey.

Don Campagnie, a fine ball player with Oakville Oaks, lost the sight of one eye as the result of a mishap playing industrial league hockey in Burlington last week. Andy Moland Jr., of Ottawa taking in some of the curling activities at the arena this week relates how in one of his saturdays to the north they had to heat one rink in the month of October to make it bearable for the main game. Competence dropped to 10 below.

Rec Director Jim Cashburn finished extending the players' benches in the community skating ring in time for Friday's intermediate game. Acton Juveniles, along with coach John Cunningham and manager Clint Taylor are making the run to Rochester, P.S.A. Sunday February 2 for an exhibition game. Plenty of hockey at the local gym Friday night when Milton's Tri-County teams play the Acton entries.

Oshawa Wins 4-1 Falls, Wings Tie

Second place Oshawa Generals scored a decisive victory over St. Catharines Falls in the 11th and the league-leading Hamilton Red Wings played a scoreless tie in the Junior A section of the Legion town league Saturday.

George McPhail and Bobby Knit each bagged two goals for the winners in a six-goal effort as the Generals got one in both the first and second periods and wound up with a pair in the third.

Dale Fisher's hard shot registered off his stick in the final stanza, assisting a shut-out. Neither Niagara Falls or Hamilton could engineer a scoring play in the second game, largely due to the play of the goalkeepers.

No penalties were handed out in either game by referees Dave Sprinson and Stuart Johnson.

Dufferins Weather Third Period Rush Defeat Tanners 7-5 Friday Night

While the Tanners played with their wits for almost the first two periods, Orangeville Dufferins scored five goals and went on to record a sizzling 7-5 decision over the Acton club in Friday's W.O.A.A. intermediate contest at the community centre, mostly on the strength of those goals.

Five hundred fans watched the Tanners come out on fire in the third chapter and almost the score with three goals but it was a case of too little too late. The league-leading Dufferins were the opportunists. They sank a pair of third period markers, the Tanners playing short handed on one.

The first two periods were tame affairs with the visitors steadily mounting up a lead of the expense of Jack Marshall in the Acton nets. He was given little respite. Score at the end of the initial stanza saw Dufferins ahead 4-1. Bolton banked the Tanners goal in the other end of the ice. Orangeville netminder Jack Watson wasn't having an easy time either. He must have had a tab full of foot, two pairs of horse shoes and a lucky penny dangling from his pendant. He completely foiled the Acton sharpshooters who went back to their sockets in frustration.

Orangeville added two more goals in the second period, finished off a pretty play for which Fred Kenner did all the spade work in the final minutes. That goal seemed to lift the Tanners.

Dufferins Fade

They came out strong in the third. Norm Lockhurst in the nets. Then with both teams a man short Ego Holzman rebound was rapped in by Norm Love. Orangeville started to get rattled.

Cohort of the visitors started a rumpus with Bob Marshall in the net. However, Norm Love, who always wraps up for which both seems to lift the team by its boot straps when the going gets tough, let a bullet-like slap shot fly at the 6:40 mark while the teams still played shorthanded. It registered and the score stood at 4-4.

At this point Fred Kenner incurred a cheap holding penalty. Incensed, on his way past the referee, Simpson, he administered an elbow. He was sent packing. While his holding penalty was being served, Acton shot two. Solomon put the visitors ahead 6-4.

Cotton Hurt

Penalties played a leading part in the contest again when Ron Mellon of the locals went off for hooking. Cotton of the Dufferins led a rush at centre and took a terrific body job from Harold Towlesley that sent him crashing to the ice, injured. Towlesley relayed the biscuit to Tom McLean who wasted no time in passing a back to Harold. His shot hit the ice, bringing the Tanners to within a goal.

Cotton was assisted off the ice by the St. John men who looked on a makeshift stretcher. It was feared he was badly hurt but examination by doctor Garrett revealed only bruises.

The Tanners tried hard to equalize the score but Watson put on a scintillating display of netmending to keep them from the sheet. Orangeville added an insurance marker at the 16 minute mark and it was all over but the shouting.

Ice Clips

Fred Kenner's conduct in the final minutes, including hitting the referee, will be missing from the lineup in Fergus Friday night. The Tanners don't play back here until a week from Friday. Milton Charles will be in town for that one. Some of the players of the county town were shrewd but it wasn't the officials who beat Acton. The Tanners go to Orangeville Monday. It's no secret they're looking for help for the blue line brigade.
