Future of Rural Young People Debated by Farm Radio Forums

What does the future hold for help and encouragement of both rural young people? What kind of training do they need for the obtain the best kind of education? The reports received from the young people indicated they can parents, teachers and youth leaders assist young rural people in choosing a career. These and vital help from their parents in many other questions were discussed by regular Farm Radio forums and special interest groups on January 6 and 13 under the title "Rural Youth Face the Future".

A high percentage of parents said they had made plans to provide a higher education for their children but in many cases they admitted the plans might not suit their children. Rural parents do not face any more problems when helping their children to choose a career than urban parents, concluded the report.

They did state, however, that neither the parents nor the children of rural Canada were aware of as many career opportunities as were urban residents. It also cost more to educate a rural child as it was necessary for the young people to live away from home when attending colleges and universities.

"By all means," said the lawyer, "Advice is advice."

Career — guidance rated the highest of the types of help needed to equip youth for the work world. They also needed the $30.

See Record Farm Cash Income $2,319 Million in Nine Months

During the first nine months year, the slight increase was $1,184 million cash income set a little possible, however, only new record totaling $2,319 million through increased poultry and hog production according to the Dominion dairy income index than official Bureau of Statistics. This is 46 million smaller returns from cattle per month, $101 million above, calves, and hogs.

Most important contributors to the increase were higher receipts from sale of wheat, grains, poultry meat, and larger cash advances on farm stored grains in Western Canada. Reduced returns were realized from cattle, calves, hogs, and hawks. All provinces shared in the increase except Alberta which was down 4 percent.

Total income from the sale of livestock products was estimated at $1,664 million up 1 percent from the first nine months of last year.
