

INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY enjoyed a successful season Acton. That's why it was so said to see it end so poorly with a lowing a meeting of Newmarket series that meant little to either of the teams involved.

Few fans bothered their heads about the outcome of the group final especially since it concerned two teams who had been ed for the arcs and hydro superousted from the playofts in their own class. Played a month earlier when both the Tinners and Orangeville were fresh from the group. Mr. Pope they would be dug in semi-finals, filled with vim and yigor, it would probably have filled as soon as the ground around both rinks to the rafters.

Orangeville retained the group title they won for the first time last season, with three straight victories. They had some trouble dates for the anticipated six team | with the Tunners here Friday night but proved Monday they could fill the nets with a for more pucks than the Acton sharpshooters. Neither team thought is worthwhile to recruit a full timeup for the group final, proving there wasn't much enthuslasses

AS WE SAID EARLIER It was another successful season for the Tunners, their third in the WOAA. Although they didn't win any titles and fell again to their old nemesis - Fergus - they furnished some mights exciting backer this season. Funs responded by flocking to the community centre in great-or numbers than the previous season to lead the league in attend ance figures. For some reason peculiar to the Tanners the more fans they packed into the rink the worse they played. Even coach Junior Beaumont, in his freshman season as a couch, was flabbergasted. On the road it was entirely different | the WOAA, group one backey club's three and rapped in four large contingents of fans who followed. No here's a tip of the old chapeau to coach Beaumont and the 1963-64 edition of the Yunners. It was an exciting season and the lessons of this your can be applied next season.

IT'S CUSTOMARY TO LAVISH most of the praise on the players and coach of a team when they've finished a season of hockey but there's plenty of work done at other levels, too.

Take manager Ed Footitt who has endless duties of notify ing players of practices and games, arranging transportation and filling in for the coach when he takes a whirl on the ice. Trainer Bonny Townsley and his assistants Barry Inscor and Mick Holmes had the task of looking after equipment, nursing bruises, sores and other miscellaneous frems which most people never notice.

At the executive level, headed by president Ray Mason, the on the long end of a 160 score. Tunners had plents of bookes wisdom to handle the problems raised during a normal backey season. Treasurer Rue West and secretury George Haggett handled ticket selling and taking doties as well as their own office. The prez himself handled the time clock for all home games white vice-presidents Bob Marshall and Ross Ballentine served as scorekeeper and on the goal lights respectively.

Acton was fortunate in having the league convener Bob Marshall to look after their interests in the W.O.A.A. again this season and he did it as impartially as any normal human being could, sometimes under provocution from officials of other teams. It's doubtful if he'll serve another term in that position.

BILL RICHMOND, chairman of the Halton County Baseball Association, minor series, confirmed that all Acton teams were bur red from baseball in the Association this season until they pay last year's registration fees.

In a telephone conversation with Bill, who lives in Georgetown, this wribe learned there was little likelihood any minor teams from Acton will be accepted. Entry date is rapidly approaching and no inkling from any Acton club concerning their intentions has ville Parks Board. Necessary bebeen received by league brass.

Bill would like it to be known that Tip Top Tailors is sponsoring a juvenile All Star team this season. Hoping to attract juventle age players from Georgetown, Acton, Milton, Brampton and Oakville the team is having its first workout this Sunday at Wallace Park, Oakville, 2 p.m. Players from Acton are welcomed to try

The minor baseball chairman also pointed out he'd be happy on the Seventh Line, but Mr. Polto welcome any Acton boys for his midget team in Georgetown, lock on inspecting the property He had four on the club last season and they were his outstanding suggested that it should be closer players. To secure storm-proof dependability, most telephone cables are fitted with pressurized dry air. If a cable aprings a leak, the force of the sacaping dry air bolds out moisture and keeps phones working.
