

Hazard Hunt in Barn At Farm Safety Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McCullough, R. R. 2, Acton, played host to 45 district 4-H members and parents on Wednesday, June 24, for their annual safety meeting, jointly sponsored by the Halton Safety Council and the 4-H Club Leaders' Council.

To open the program, the club members were split into two groups and conducted a hazard hunt throughout the farm buildings and implement sheds in search of fire and safety hazards which had previously been planted. Each member reported hazards to a group captain, who later read a complete report to the entire gathering.

Fire's Causes
Larry Argue, Halton agricultural engineer, addressed the audience on the causes of farm fires, stating that the annual loss from farm fires in Canada exceeds 10 million dollars, with Ontario contributing almost half this figure.

He explained, with the use of a large triangle, that to start a fire, three factors are necessary: fuel, heat and oxygen. To extinguish a fire, one or more of these factors must be removed. He went on to describe the various types of fires and the methods to control each class.

Class 'A' fires, he said, include hay, straw and wood, and can be controlled with water. He urged his listeners to have a permanent garden hose attached to the barn pressure system or pairs of water hung at strategic points to extinguish small blazes before they spread.

Class 'B' fires involve gas, oil, grease and wax, and must be controlled by dry chemical extinguishers. A box of baking soda, he noted, has saved many homes from destruction by kitchen fires involving grease.

No Water Here
Class 'C' fires originate from electrical equipment and must also be controlled by dry chemical or carbon tetrachloride extinguishers. He warned against using water on such fires on account of the risk of electrocution.

Farm Safety Slogan Contest Top Entries to Receive Prizes

A Farm Safety Slogan Competition is being sponsored by the Halton Farm Safety Council. All farm people in Halton may submit their slogan to Mrs. A. Roy Coulter, R. R. 3, Campbellville, by July 31. This slogan will be adopted by the council to promote safety on the farm. Prizes will be awarded to the top slogans.

"No Smoking" signs are also to be provided to all 4-H and Junior Farmer members, and to any other farm operator requesting them.

Upon adoption of the new slogan, services engraved with the slogan will be available for banquets held throughout the county.

A safe driving competition for one member from each 4-H and Junior Farmer Club is planned for early fall.

THUMB INJURY
Hector Dawe of Rt Mill St. Acton suffered a crushed thumb when the car in which he was a passenger rolled onto its side on the Fifth Line Nassagaweya early Saturday morning. Sandra Jean Campbell, Eden Mills, was the driver and escaped injury. The car received $200 damage and a mailbox suffered $5 damage. Milton O.P.P. reported. The accident happened just north of 25 Sidemad.

To prove that dust contributes to uncontrolled barn fires, Mr. Argue conducted a demonstration using a lighted candle and a small funnel full of flour attached to a plastic tube. A sudden blast of flour against the open flame resulted in a violent explosion of fire, simulating the effect of dust, which is frequently present in most barns. A good system of ventilation, he said, can greatly reduce this hazard.

He also stressed the importance of maintaining lightning rods and ground cables in good condition. After showing the latest types of extinguishers available, Mr. Argue concluded that farm fire insurance to have buildings and tractors protected by approved fire control equipment.

Prussian Attend
To conclude the meeting, the gathering was shown a group of color slides which were taken on Halton farms, depicting faulty electrical installations which posed as fire hazards. The slides were shown by Acton fire chief Mickey Holmes with commentary by captain Charles Charrington of the Oakville fire department.

Bruce Huff, summer assistant agricultural representative who was chairman for the evening, conducted a draw, assisted by Robert Lindsay Sr., in which seven 4-H members received various safety devices donated by the Halton Safety Council.

Club leader Nino Braida briefly addressed the members and urged them to make a thorough inspection of their home premises, in an effort to locate and eliminate fire and safety hazards which could result in serious loss by fire and accidents. He also thanked everyone who contributed to the success of the meeting.

Russell Murray expressed the appreciation of the gathering to Mr. McCullough for his kind cooperation in permitting the meeting to be held on his farm. Refreshments were served through the courtesy of the Halton Safety Council.

Hold First Graduation Ceremony Term Ends at Sunshine School

A graduation ceremony, songs, dances and skits highlighted the annual closing exercises of the North Halton Association for Retarded Children's "Sunshine School" students on Thursday evening. The stage in the St. Paul's United Church Christian Education Centre came alive as the 21 pupils presented a variety program emphasizing the skills they have learned during school hours.

There was a touch of sadness in the evening, as John Ambrose and Diane Rusk were honored in a graduation ceremony. Both were original students in the school when it was founded nine years ago, and both are now 18 and ineligible for regular classes at Sunshine. John was present and received a fine wrist-watch from G. G. Addison, a past president of the Association. Diane moved recently to Guelph with her family and was unable to attend.

Retirement Party For E. C. Ross Allan
E. C. Ross Allan, a former resident of Acton district, was honored at a dinner party, given by associates and customers of the Bank of Montreal, Quebec St. and Broadview Ave. Branch, Toronto on June 25. The occasion coincided with his retirement on completion of 45 years with the Bank of Montreal.

A dinner was held at the Royal Canadian Curling Club, Broadview Ave., with over 90 of Mr. Allan's friends and business associates in attendance.

His career began in Acton in 1920 with E. B. Shorey as manager. Transfers in the years that followed took Mr. Allan to branches at Aisa Craig, Stratford, Windsor and Toronto. He has been on the staff at the Queen and Broadview Branch, Toronto for the past 22 years.

Following the dinner, the guest of honor received gifts, which included a 16" Polar portable TV set, a 35 mm automatic camera, and a Coleman aluminum Snow-Lite cooler.

Speakers included Alderman Fred Beavis, P. C. Soules, representative of the A. E. Long and Co.; A. Begin, Manager of Queen and Broadview Branch; Hugh Paton, manager of Weston Branch; Earl Steckley, manager of Danforth Ave. and Dawes Rd. Branch; W. Tyler of Lever Bros.; and George Corey of Supreme Knitting Mills.

Many letters were read, including messages from George Leonard, vice-president of Coca-Cola Ltd.; V. K. Du Bois, president of International Despatch; and Rowland Hill, of International Union of Operating Engineers. Telegrams were received from Caracas, Venezuela, Nassau and Calgary.

Everyone extended to Mr. Allan their very best wishes for a long and happy retirement.

Will be Missed
"I am not so sure this is a happy occasion," Mr. Addison commented as he made the presentation to John. "We are going to miss you." Turning to the audience, he explained the North Halton Association has set to form its adult workshop and training centre program, so that retardates over the age of 18, who presently have nowhere to go once schooling is finished - except to their home. Mr. Addison expressed the executive's hope that some day in the future, a daily workshop would be under way where adult retardated citizens could work and train with others of their own age.

On the back of the presentation watches were the engraved words, "Sunshine School, 1955 to 1964". It was the school's first actual "graduation" ceremony although two former students have reached the age limit and had to leave. Billy Lawson of Hornby left two years ago to work on a farm, and Mary Anne Ford of Milton has been engaged as a teachers' helper at the school, where she aids teachers in handling the junior classes.

Mr. Addison reminisced about Sunshine's earlier days, when it began in 1955 with three pupils and the corner of a room in the town hall. That year the budget was $75 a month. Now there are 21 pupils, using a three-classroom school, and operating on a $12,000 annual budget. Today there are two full time teachers and one working half time, plus a teachers' helper, and occasional visits from music and art teachers. Back in 1955 the school operated half a day, five days a week, with one teacher.

"There will always be retardated children, and there will always be you and I to help them out," Mr. Addison suggested in closing. The variety program was presented by the pupils, with principal Mrs. G. Jeffares introducing the members and playing accompaniments, and teachers Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. J. Hill assisting behind the scenes. Other helpers during the evening were Lucienne Jeffares and Lynn Hill, daughters of the principal and teacher.

Sunshine School officially closed on Thursday for the summer months. Pupils enjoyed a year-end picnic at the Terran pony ranch near Milton, to wind up the year with a day in the fresh air.

Ontario Government's Policy on Farm Ponds

The Farm Pond Policy has been established to provide farm water supply for livestock, domestic purposes and fire protection, and to provide water for spraying and irrigation.

The government of Ontario will pay 50 per cent of the cost of approved ponds up to a maximum of $500 subsidy for any one pond per 100 acres of farm land or fraction thereof. Assistance is exclusive of the owner's own labor, machinery or material.

This assistance is available for new pond construction or the improvement to an existing pond for which no previous grant has been paid. All ponds must have a minimum of 6,000 square feet, with a minimum depth of 10 feet over 25 per cent of their area.

All woody material must be cleared from the underwater area and the banks properly graded. Anyone interested in applying for this grant should contact the Agricultural Office, Milton, for the required forms. If assistance is required in planning location, size etc., of the pond, the services of the Agricultural Engineering Specialist, Larry Argue, are available.

St. Alban's Guild Barbecue, Meeting
Wednesday of last week the ladies of St. Alban's Guild had a barbecue and strawberry tea at the rectory. The Rev. D. H. West was in charge of the cook-out.

They played court whist; Mrs. G. Pricker was first, Mrs. Lorna Clarke and Mrs. George Fountain with consolation.

Three new members were welcomed, Mrs. D. Hunter, Mrs. D. Lindsay and Mrs. G. Pricker.

There was a short business meeting at the close of the summer. Everybody thoroughly enjoyed the pleasant evening.
