Name Draw Winners For Credit Union

Those attending the Acton Fall Fair found much to interest them, judging from their questions to the members manning the booth which Co-operators Insurance Association (CIA) and Acton Community Credit Union Limited shared on this occasion.

Many adults filled out cards to participate in a free draw for a set of auto safety seat belts supplied by CIA, while the younger citizens filled them out for a free draw for two automatic piggy banks supplied by the local Credit Union.

The draw for both items was made at 5 p.m. on Saturday by a young neutral. The CIA seat belts went to Mrs. W. Scott of R.R. 1, Milton. The rocket piggy bank was won by Garth Taylor of Main Street, Acton, and Mrs. Charles Blake of Peel Street, Acton became the proud owner of the automatic calendar bank.

The advertisers were the youngsters who sported CIA hats across the entire grounds. They even found their way to the stage on Friday night.

By the appearance of the group admitted to the basement gymnasium will have to be used at least once more before winter.

On Saturday past, 17 "Old Sweats" from Acton and area travelled to Brampton for the Memorial Service and dinner, followed by entertainment and good old fashioned comradeship. It was staged to mark the 50th anniversary of the beginning of World War I.

About 200 attended and sang many of the old songs, favourites of that era, and generally enjoyed themselves as they renewed many acquaintances made through the years.

More on the trip is carried in another story elsewhere in the paper.

A maximum turnout is requested for the zone church parade in Erin on October 4. Your executive members will be contacting you by telephone and it is hoped your answer will be yes.

Our Readers Write

STREETS UNTIDY Dear Mr. Editor: Is there any organization - Women's Institute, service club, or indeed Town Council - who would be interested in placing receptacles for all kinds of cartons and papers on streets which the children use in going to the different schools?

It makes the streets look very untidy. Many residents continually are cleaning up the refuse and of course, many do not bother and that makes the streets look very unclean.

In Milton, neat receptacles are placed here and there and the town looks tidier.

I am sure if some organization would do this, with the help of the police and teachers, the children would soon learn to put their garbage in the proper place.

Thanking you, I am A long-suffering resident.
