Rockwood Blanks Indians Salmon Hurls 6-0 Game

Rockwood — Well, the "ten little, nine little, eight little Indians" went down to defeat at the hands of the Centre Inn ball club on Saturday evening in Edon Mills. The Oshweken Braves, last year's O.R.S.A. champions, took a 6-0 beating from the local boys under the superb pitching of John Salmon.

Good hitting, sharp fielding and smart base running have combined with the unbeatable pitching of John Salmon and Ken Bridges to give Centre Inn the O.R.S.A. championship for the 1964-65 season. Congratulations to all the players in attaining this well deserved honor.

Presentation Made At First H & S Meet

Rockwood — A good attend- ance of parents and teachers were present for the first autumn meeting of Rockwood Home and School.

The president, Mrs. Oscar Driber, presided for the meet- ing, reading and explaining the aims and rules of the Home and School Society. A summary of the progress made during the past and previous years was most interesting, especially to the new members present. The new teachers on the staff of Rockwood school were introduced to all present — Mrs. Cullis, grade 6 teacher; Miss Hodgins, who is teaching grade 5 and Mr. Millson with grade 7.

Missionary Work Stressed At United Church Meeting

Rockwood — The members of Rockwood United Church Women met in the Sunday School room of the church for their general meeting recently. Mrs. Freeman Wilson was in the chair for the meeting. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and adopted.

A letter announcing the hold- ing of workshops in the Presby- terian was read. The first is to be held in Guelph on October 7 and another at Ferris on October 20. Those hoping to attend are Mrs. F. Hosking, Mrs. W. Guild, Mrs. G. Lawrence, Mrs. R. Con- ner and Mrs. F. Wilson.

An article from the clip sheet "What women learn from the U.C.W." was read by Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. F. Hosking, supply conven- er, gave a report, stating the need for more old nylon stock- ings.

The program was in charge of Mrs. O. Driber and Mrs. S. Har- ris, missionary education con- veners. A very interesting and full account of the missionary work in Brazil and the role of the women was given. Following this, the members discussed the very vital subject of what should be required of a missionary. At the conclusion, Mrs. W. Guild reported for one group and Mrs. G. M. Rae for the other.

Letter to Missions

As a result, it was decided to send a letter to the Board of Missions on points mentioned in the discussion.

In the devotional, Mrs. Driber read the Scripture lesson, with Mrs. Harris giving the reading. "If Jesus came back today" and closing with prayer. Mrs. Hosking thanked the ladies for a most interesting meeting. A hymn and the benediction brought the meeting to a close.

The program was in charge of Mrs. O. Driber and Mrs. S. Har- ris, missionary education con- veners.

Extend Credit

The second measure for discus- sion will be the Farm Machin- ery Syndicate Act. This will provide for the extension of credit to farm syndicates (groups of not less than three farmers) for the purchase of farm machinery. Such loans can amount to 80 per cent of the actual price of the farm machinery to be purchased by the man. The farmers who would form such a syndicate could use this machinery them- selves and also rent it out for use by their neighbors. More details on this will be given when the detailed bill is produced before the House of Com- mons.

The third measure is an amend- ment to the Crop Insurance Act. This will establish a crop re-insurance program to supple- ment provincial crop insurance plans. The details here are at present not known but should be available by next week when further discussion will be car- ried out.

Mental Health Pres.

To Speak to Nurses

The Registered Nurses' Assoc- iation of Ontario, Halton Coun- ty Chapter, announces that Cecil Thom will be the guest speaker at their October 1 meeting. Mr. Thom is the Halton County Pres- ident of the Canadian Mental Health Association. His subject will be of special interest as nurses are concerned with both the prevention and the treatment of mental illness.

The meeting will be a dinner at the Country Squire restau- rant in Oakville on Thursday, October 1, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are available from each Halton County hospital nursing office. All nurses in the area are wel- come to attend.

Youngest competitor in the contest was Clifford Green from Rockwood, while the real old- timer of the contestants was William Davis of Erin, who still handles the fiddle like a veteran at the age of 81 years. Other competitors included Jesse Mc- Enery of Acton and Ted Sinoski of Woodbridge.

DANGER AT CORNER

Dear Mr. Editor: Reading the Council minutes in last week's issue of the Free Press, I noted that several street corners where there was foliage obstructing the view were going to be cleared away. This is a very worthy and neces- sary work.

However, the corner at Mill and Main Streets was not consid- ered dangerous. I think if your town foreman would check ag- ain, he would find this a very bad corner. Travelling north to this corner from Main St. S. it is necessary to pull out over the pedestrian line to see if there is any traffic coming from Mill Street West.

This corner is obstructed bad- ly by trees growing beside the Russ-Mac Beauty Salon proper- ty. With Mill Street being a through street and cars driving very fast, this corner could be the scene of a very bad accident due to this obstruction.

Liberal Delegates Attend Royal York Convention

Rockwood — With their ears still ringing from the noise of the enthusiastic crowd, the seven liberal delegates from Well- ington-Dufferin to the Leadership Convention in Toronto, returned to their homes. It was a full schedule, and never a dull moment from the time of registration until the new leader had been chosen and applauded.

There were 1,391 of a possible 1,459 delegates present at the convention, held in the Royal York Hotel, plus over 700 alter- nate delegates, scores of official mate delegates, scores of official husbands and wives of delegat- es. As well as this vast number, a host of University Liberals heard each of the candidates speak on Friday morning in the Canadian Room of the hotel.

Nels Jackson Wins Fiddler's Contest

Many fall fair patrons returned to the arena Saturday evening to enjoy the Old Time Fiddler's Contest and the dance on the new arena floor.

First prize in the contest went to Nelson Jackson of Guelph, with three other prize winners being Hank Hamilton, Jack Mc- Gregor and Ken Bowles, also from Guelph.

Youngest competitor in the contest was Clifford Green from Rockwood, while the real old- timer of the contestants was William Davis of Erin, who still handles the fiddle like a veteran at the age of 81 years. Other competitors included Jesse Mc- Enery of Acton and Ted Sinoski of Woodbridge.

Two Halton Junior Reps Attend Leadership Camp

Each fall, several trips are awarded to outstanding Junior Farmers across Ontario. One of the most important was the pro- vincial leadership training camp at Lake Couchiching, September 6 to 12. This year, Halton was represented by Shirley Langevin, Moffat and Harold Thompson, R. R. 2 Milton. Shirley has com- pleted 12 4H Homemaking Clubs and is vice president of the Ac- tion Junior Institute. Harold Thompson has completed 19 4H agricultural clubs and is vice president of the Palermo Junior Farmers.

The week at leadership train- ing camp was designed to pre- pare these young people to as- sume more responsibilities, both other community activities.

United Nations Tour

This week, September 20 to 26, the United Nations tour is being held. One Junior Farmer from each county travels to Niagara Falls, to Gettysburg, Beltsville, Maryland, Washington, and to New York with the highlight be- ing a tour of the United Nations.

Aileen Harrop, R. R. 2, Norval, has been chosen for this trip to represent Halton County. Aileen has completed nine 4H Home- making Clubs and is president of the Norval Junior Institute.

Let's Play Bridge

By Bill Coats

Summer, what there was of it, has passed and another season of duplicate bridge has started at the Acton Bridge Club. The first night saw five tables in play. The winners were Mike Lorusso and Earl Emond, a couple of regulars in the winning slot. For those who are reluc- tant to try duplicate bridge in case they come last, I will mention that your correspondent came last. I guess it can happen to anyone.

Anyone who wishes to be a good bridge player must learn to plan the play of the hand. In planning, it is imperative that you count your tricks.

A couple of pairs had trouble with the following hand and I think it was because they didn't count their tricks.

Board No. 13 — Dealer — North. Both sides vulnerable.

North S-J H-854 D-A Q64 C-A 652

West East S-K 0764 S-A 5 H-K 3 H-1072 D-10 852 D-K J 07 C-0 3 C-J 874

South S-O 10 8 12 H-A Q 9 6 D-3 C-K O 10

The bidding: North East South West 1D Pass 1S Pass 2C Pass 2H Pass 3H Pass 4H All Pass

If you don't agree with North opening the bidding, then South will open. North will then jump and four hearts should be reached as before.

Although there is no plan that will absolutely guarantee four hearts, declarer should certainly make some plan. If the heart finesse works and if the king of hearts is doubtless or if the 10 falls and if clubs break, then declarer can make his con- tract by drawing trump.

But that is a lot of "ifs". A far better idea would be to try for some sort of a cross ruff. West opens a low diamond and dummy takes the ace. Now lead a spade. If East wins and leads a trump, go up with the ace and lead out your clubs. Take the king and queen of clubs and lead the 10.

Whatever West does, you are home free. At the most, you will lose two trump and a spade. At the best, you may only lose one trump and a spade.

You must plan from the begin- ning to cross ruff, for a cross ruff is the only way to count on 10 tricks.

This week's winners: first, Mrs. Marion Hunter, Mrs. J. Coats; second Earl Emond, Mike Lorusso; third, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dubois.
