Credit Auth. Keeps Aims Control, Plant, Protect

A hundred thousand dollars to cover current expenses, a great deal of enthusiasm and hard work and the organization meeting of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority was held June 15, 1964, a press release is issued this week says.

First chairman was D. J. Reddington and members were representatives of 13 of the 16 municipalities in the Credit River watershed. Concern, not only for the vanishing beauty of the valley but the water itself, prompted the formation of the Authority.

Now entering its second decade, the CVCA still follows the original aims set out in the Order in Council forming the Authority, to control the water, reforest every inch of the watershed that can be covered with trees and protect the historical sites and buildings to the extent that the budget permits.

It now encompasses the 16 municipalities of Port Credit, Toronto Township, Oakville, Streetsville, Brampton, Chingwood Township, Esqueting Township, Erin Township, Caledon Township, Erin, Orangeville, Mono Township, Acton, Amaranth Township and East Gwillimburgh Township.

Population Rise
The population in 1955 in the 31 square miles of watershed was 60,572 and these persons were billed at a rate of two cents each for the budget of the Authority. Total levy was $2,017.50 compared with a population in 1965 of 116,266 and a levy of $104,659.40.

Graduating to the realm of big business over the past five years, the CVCA still costs the ratepayers of the Valley only 90 cents per year. This levy of 90 cents per capita has been held since 1962 and compares favourably with the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority levy.

Own Many Acres
With a total budget for 1965 of more than a quarter million dollars, the Authority now owns 1,882 acres in the Valley. These acres include: forest—435 acres; water reservoir sites—831 acres; multiple use areas—developed 130 acres, undeveloped 307 acres of the $172,280 budget, $187,700 has been set aside for conservation projects.

Little Change
There have been only three chairmen during the life of the Authority: first chairman D. J. Reddington, A. M. Greenaway (1956-1962) and R. K. McMillan (1962 until present). Mr. McMillan received a personal appointment as Authority Chairman in 1964. W. P. Wright was the original secretary and secretary-treasurer until his resignation in January of this year.

Early meetings were held in the various municipalities in the watershed, then in the Department of Agriculture offices in Brampton and finally in 1964, the Terra Cotta Conservation Area was purchased and administration offices set up there. At present, lack of space at Terra Cotta makes management difficult and the "Mill House" on the Meadowdale Conservation Area is being rebuilt to provide adequate office space.

Million Trees
The CVCA maintains a reforestation assistance program which has seen more than one million trees planted during the past four years. This spring alone, the Authority will plant 400,000 trees on private and Authority owned land in the valley.

The multiple use areas at Terra Cotta and Bellfontain are open to the public. At Terra Cotta, there is swimming, 90 camp sites, nature trail, fishing in the five large reservoirs and open space for those who enjoy both sun and shade. Bellfontain, restored to its original beauty by the Authority, provides fishing, swimming and a haven for camera fans.

roads of past achievements in the Credit Valley.

The Authority was originally made up of six advisory boards. This has now been changed to five—consisting of members of the Authority, land interested people who give the CVCA the benefit of their experience.

These boards are: reforestation, land use and wild life, chairman J. A. Carr; public relations and education, chairman A. M. Greenaway; historical records, chairman R. P. Hardy; parks and recreation, chairman J. W. Pawley; land control and pollution, chairman R. E. Parker.

GREEN AND CLEAN
Careless people forget what they should remember. The forest should be kept clean and green. Let us remember that to keep it green, we must prevent forest fires!
