

Mrs. H. Cleave

A lifelong Georgetown district resident, Mrs. Herbert Cleave, 64, of Georgetown, died in the Georgetown District Memorial Hospital on August 15. She was the mother of Mrs. J. E. Hartley (Dorothy) of Burlington, formerly of Milton.

The former Josephine Bell Anthony, she was the daughter of Andrew Kyle Anthony and Elizabeth Cunningham and was born on their Enslowing Township farm. She attended Pinegrove school and was a member of Naval Presbyterian Church in her youth.

Following their marriage in 1911, Mr. and Mrs. Cleave farmed on the present Ernest Curry farm in the Scotch Block, until they retired and moved to Georgetown in 1943. She was a member of Esquimaux Women's Institute and later Georgetown W.I. As a member of Knox Presbyterian Church, Georgetown, she was a charter member of the Scotch Block group of the W.A. and later the Royal Circle and belonged to the Women's Missionary Society.

Her Director

She took an active interest with her husband in the Esquimaux Agricultural Society and was an honorary director of the society.

She leaves her husband, one daughter (Dorothy), Mrs. J. E. Hartley of Burlington, three grandchildren, Carolyn, David and Dean Hartley, and two sisters, Mrs. Harold Bingham (Gertrude) and Mrs. W. C. Bessey (Emily) of Georgetown. She was predeceased by a brother, Walter Anthony, Georgetown and sisters, Mrs. Fred Howes of Lisowell, Mrs. Bertha Brill of Guelph, and Mrs. Joseph A. Leslie of Belmont.

Rev. Alex Calder of Peterborough, a former minister of Knox Church, Georgetown, conducted the funeral service in the church on August 17. Pallbearers were Frank, Walker and James Cleave of Georgetown, Donald Cleave of Noyal, Hyatt McClure of Brampton, and Cleave Wilson of Burlington. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown.

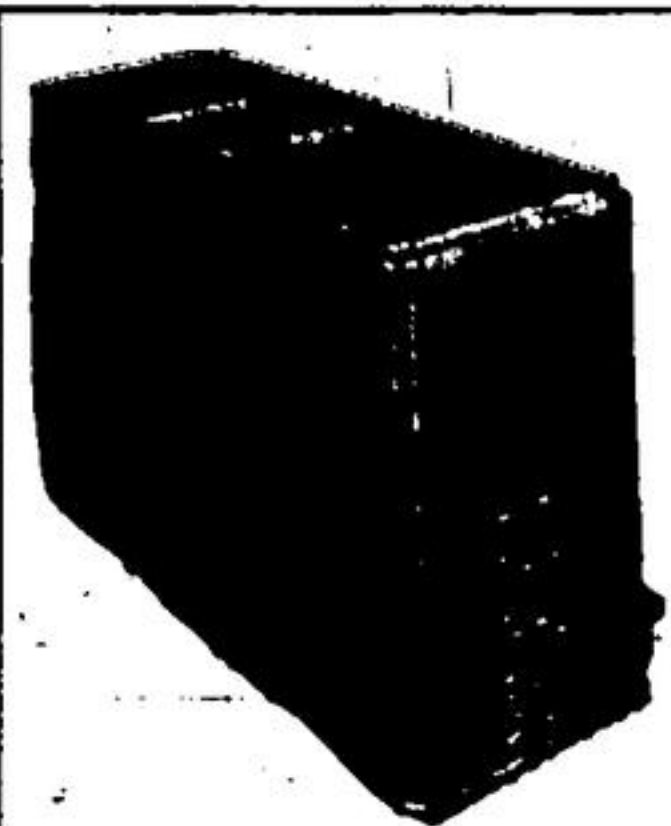

Blame Pedestrian

In traffic accidents, pedestrians are at fault more than some people realize, says the Ontario Safety League. As an illustration, here is some data taken from the Department of Highways reports. A total of five persons were killed on secondary highways in a recent month. One was a driver, with no licence, who had been drinking and rolled his truck over. The other four were pedestrians, all killed after dark. Two of these had been drinking; one of them walking, the other lying on the highway. The other two, aged 76 and 77 respectively, were walking on the highway; one of these, with poor eyesight, was walking on the wrong side of the road (i.e. on the right).

The above reports cover only secondary highways. The complete DHO figures for the month show 33 fatal accidents on highways killing 39 people. In 17 of the 33 accidents the official report labels a driver or pedestrian as DRINKING.
