Christmas Lights Will Guide Santa

Even if the weather remains foggy for Christmas, Santa Claus will be able to direct his reindeer to Action and make his usual calls leaving presents under the tree of every child in town.

Action Hydro workers made certain the jolly old fellow will be able to zoom into town by stringing Christmas lights in the downtown business section which will help guide the annual visitor as he skims over the rooftops.

The annual Christmas lights, just started a few years ago by the Action Chamber of Commerce, seem to be early this season but several other communities have had lights turned on for over a week.

On Monday hydro linemen Doron Frizzell and Ken Hudson made short work of hooking up the colored lights with the use of the bucket attached to the hydro truck.
