

Representative Trinity At Youth Conference

Lawrence C. Doby, B.A., is attending the Christian Theological Students' Conference at York University, Toronto, representing Trinity College Divinity Faculty. The conference runs from December 27 to December 31 and is attended by theological students of all denominations from across Canada. Mr. Doby has represented Trinity College on the Planning Committee of this conference since last Christmas.

The theme of the conference is "The Church as Community and the Church's Speaker". Dr. James Gustafson of Yale Divinity School, during the conference, there will be several crucial panel discussions. A panel of theologians will discuss "The Theological Relevance of the Secular City" (a recent controversial socio-theological study of the role of the church). A panel of theological students from Montreal will discuss "The Relevance of the Parish", and a panel of theological students from Toronto will discuss "The Relevance of Ordination".

During the conference, a display of contemporary religious art will be on view.

This conference is held annually, alternating between Toronto and Montreal as host city. It is one of many recent steps toward sincere ecumenicity.

Milk delivery drivers worked overtime prior to Christmas making extra milk deliveries.

No doubt storekeepers will have some "exchanges" to handle for wrong sizes this week after Christmas gift giving.

This is the last publication of the Free Press this year. See you all again next year!

Happy New Year!
