

Campbellville Problems Aired Before Township

Problems concerning the village of Campbellville, including the need for a better snow removal system, possible installation of more sidewalks and the Plunkett Report (the Regional Needs Study being conducted in Halton and West Counties) were discussed Monday evening when Village Trustee George Goldstraw visited Nassagaweya Council.

Speaking on behalf of the Village's three trustees, Mr. Goldstraw inquired about the proposed service road which would take considerable truck traffic away from the village. He said he was under the impression the Township would take over the main tenance of the part of 5 Sideroad which goes through the Village, when the County took over the building and maintenance of the service road.

Plan Sidewalks
He stated the village trustees were considering the installation of more sidewalks within the Village. He wondered if the Township planned to widen the part of 5 Sideroad between Guelph Line and the Campbellville School.

Reeve William Coulter assured Mr. Goldstraw that the Township would not likely consider widening the road because of the expense involved.

The Village trustee also asked that "some suitable safety feature be installed at the corner of the Guelph Line and Five Sideroad, the main intersection in the Village. He suggested the need for a traffic light similar to the flasher installed on the Guelph Line at 10 Sideroad (Coulson's Corners).

Plunkett Report
Mr. Goldstraw explained to the members of council that the Trustees of the Village didn't know what information they were expected to furnish Mr. Plunkett for his report on Regional Government in the area. Reeve Coulter said the report will try to find the best possible form of government to look after every particular area and that Mr. Plunkett would be interested in knowing if the Trustees are satisfied with the present way the village is governed.

Jumping to the topic of snow removal, Mr. Goldstraw stated, "when the County plows the roads, they bury the sidewalks and sometimes even tear them up."

He said that currently the man who is under contract to clear the sidewalks is unable to do a sufficient job with the equipment he has. Mr. Goldstraw inquired if the Township might have suitable equipment that could be rented to the Village. He was informed that the equipment used by the Township would not be suitable.

Halton Mutual Aid Service Prepares for Refinery Fires

An interesting and educational discussion on refinery fires and more particularly the two recent fires at the B-P Refinery in Oakville, was the highlight of the Halton Mutual Aid Firefighting Services Association meeting held in Oakville Tuesday evening of last week.

In the annual elections, Fire-fighter Alf Waldie of Milton was named president for 1966, Burlington's Ralph Elderfield was named vice-president, and Miltonian Jim Coulson was selected as secretary-treasurer. Milton Fire Chief A. E. Clement was again selected as Deputy Co-ordinator of the Mutual Aid to assist Oakville Fire Chief Douglas Wilson who is co-ordinator.

Speaker was Ken Pollock an Oakville firefighter and head of the refinery fire brigade. He spoke on the actions taken by firefighters in the two recent fires at B-P and gave all the 40 firefighters attending the meeting a quick run-down on procedures to follow in case a large fire ever breaks out.

Propose Addition Georgetown Church

At its annual meeting Maple Ave. Baptist church Georgetown, unveiled a scale model of a building addition. A sinking fund of $5,000 was launched. The addition would include a gym, change room with showers, nursery, study and two new Sunday school departments.

HARLEY...to HALTON

By DR. HARRY HARLEY, M.P.

Canada's 27th Parliament has officially opened. The opening day ceremonies went as usual. On the day of the moving and seconding of the Throne Speech two episodes took place which duplicated the happenings of the previous parliament.

As soon as the question period began a Creditiste Member rose and attempted to adjourn the debate to consider a matter of national and urgent importance, namely the cancellation of some Winter Works projects. The new Speaker of the House, the Honorable Lucien Lamoureux, ruled this out of order as it can be discussed as can any topic, during the Throne Speech debate. No appeal of the Speaker's ruling was made, despite the fact that it is not evident yet whether one can appeal the Speaker's ruling.

No Time Limit
This was the basis of the second episode. When the question period had taken 30 minutes, the Speaker rose and said it was his understanding the question period should now cease. In the last session, new rules were tried out including no appeal from a Speaker's ruling and a limited question period.

The question now is — do temporary rules used last session apply to this new 27th Parliament? It was decided to allow a full question period with no time limit that day and on the following day to bring the matter up for debate. I sincerely hope the House decides to have the new rules apply, as they did work very well.

Speech Similar
The Throne Speech itself, as we expected, was very similar to the previous one. Most of the items had been discussed before but were not carried out in the last session as the election supervened. The one main addition in the Throne Speech was a promise, not detailed, to give more federal aid to education.

In Halton in the last election campaign two of the main topics of conversation were education and medicine, both of which are primarily provincial matters. I am pleased to see this as I feel federal assistance in education is not only desirable but a necessity because of the rising cost of education and the lack of standardization across Canada.

Boundaries Commission
The Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario have reported and this report has been tabled in the House of Commons. It proposes no changes in the suggested new boundaries for Halton County — as everyone probably remembers of the changes proposed are as follows:

(1) The new riding of Halton to be Oakville, Esquesing (including Georgetown, Milton and Acton) and the Township of Erin (including the Town of Erin).

(2) The new riding of Halton-Wentworth to consist of the Town of Burlington, Dundas and the Townships of East and West Flamborough.

(3) The Township of Nassagaweya to become part of Wellington Riding.

DOCTOR'S JOB
Children often poke small objects such as buttons, nuts or pieces of toys into their ears and noses. Probing for these can cause damage — removing such objects is a doctor's job.
