Back sooner than they expected from the Shriners convention in California are Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bowles. When an airline strike prevented them from continuing on to Honolulu, they waited for transportation and finally took the train back home. They enjoyed the week-long convention in San Francisco with Dr. and Mrs. Allan J. Buchanan although the weather was quite chilly. An obliging Californian — not a Shriner — lent the two men coats after seeing them on the street one day! The Buchanans were able to continue on to Hawaii since their reservations were with a non-striking airline. They have gone on from there to Japan.

In court

In court in Milton Monday, Acton cases included 17 charged with violations of the Highway Traffic Act and eight on liquor offenses. Two were remanded; the rest paid fines totalling $728 and costs of $131 — a total of $859.

Half Staff

The town staff is operating at half-strength during the peak holiday weeks. There are six off in the office and work crews.

If you are travelling this summer, keep speed down and "Bring 'em back alive!"

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA staff members now wear trim uniforms comprising burgundy blazers with the bank crest, white blouses and grey skirts. Acton's branch is one of few to have adopted the attractive new uniform for the women. Ready and waiting (above) to handle your business are Gail Stewart, Mrs. Darlene Adams, Mrs. Heather Barnard and Beverley Anderson. Absent: Mrs. Eileen McFadden.

61st wedding anniversary for Mr., Mrs. Fred Coles

Their 61st wedding anniversary was celebrated last Sunday, July 16 by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Coles, Church St. Friends and relatives called on Saturday and Sunday to extend congratulations to the popular couple as they attained this milestone in their lives.

There was a large family celebration last year on their diamond anniversary.

This year Mr. Coles is confined to a wheel chair. A veteran of the South African War and both World Wars, he has been active in the Legion and Boy Scouts. It was he who first took scouts camping at what turned out to be Blue Springs scout reserve. They are faithful members of Acton Baptist Church.

They have been residents of Acton for most of their 61 years of marriage.

Mr. Coles is noted for his wit, is a story-teller and loves reminiscing. Mrs. Coles's willingness and kindness are known to many. Both have maintained keen interest in the town and in the neighboring Blue Springs scout reserve, and they have a host of friends as well as devoted relatives. Their son Ernest Coles lives in Guelph and their daughter Jessie at home with them.

A visitor for the week of the anniversary was a niece, Mrs. Fred White of Weymouth, Massachusetts. Another caller was Mrs. Bob Taylor, wife of a Boy Scouts Association official who has maintained close connections with the Coles for many years.

Many will join the Free Press in extending congratulations to this fine couple.

Accident prevention news brings paper certificate

The Acton Free Press has won a certificate from the Industrial Accident Prevention Association. Awards are given to dailies, weeklies, radio and television stations and are based on the amount of news published.

The Free Press published articles and accounts of meetings during the year of district chairmanship of an Acton man, Allan Laufer.

Other weeklies which will accept certificates are in Cobourg, Fort Erie, Lindsay, Owen Sound, Picton, Port Colborne, Preston, Tillsonburg, Trenton and Waterloo.

Milton's defunct Centennial Committee handed over the last of its accounts to that council. The drained mill pond stands testimony to the disagreement and the lack of a project there.
