Brother, sister meet again after 47 years

Mrs. Melina Bone, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gregg, R.R. 1, Campbellville, enjoyed a three-week visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cooper, Arpington, Kent, England. Mr. Cooper is still teaching French in a London College. Mrs. Bone had not seen her brother since she sailed for Canada in June, 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Watson, of Watson's Music Store, Acton, with their son Scott, recently enjoyed a holiday with their son Delmar, and his family, in Saint Ste. Marie.

On Thursday evening at 8:30 and again at 10 p.m. the story of the great Dr. Bob McClure will be on TV. Dr. Bob is one of the truly great missionary heroes of our day. Don't miss it!

The Official Board of the pastoral charge is called to meet on Monday, Sept. 12.

Next Sunday, the Strunday School embarks on the third year of the new Curriculum. Some of the classes will be receiving the "Sunday Pix" as their take-home paper.

Rev. W. Leeman's sermon on Sunday morning — (Don't forget 11:40 is the hour now — 10 extra minutes to sleep) was an interesting introduction to the writings of St. Luke, the Physician. The Acts of the Apostles — (It might be more appropriately called the Acts of the Holy Spirit) and the Gospel of Luke constitute about one-quarter of the New Testament. There is a tradition that Luke was born in Antioch, the birthplace of Saul — later Paul. Luke and Paul could have gone to the same schools. Luke shows his practical knowledge of medicine; he notices suffering. He is the only one who tells of the Good Samaritan. He has fluency in the language of sailors.

The disciples became apostles after the resurrection. Luke may have been one of the 70 disciples sent out (Luke 10:1). He may have been the one who walked with Cleopas, on the Empress Road, on the first Easter morning. Other scholars say Luke never saw Jesus. Luke, the Physician, softens up Mark's criticism of the medical profession, Luke 8:43.

"The most Excellent Theophilus" to whom Luke dedicates the two manuscripts, could mean any "lover of God". However, there is a strong probability that Theophilus was a high Roman official, with great influence. The leather on which the letters were written would be very expensive. They would be sent to an important person for a special reason — to persuade him to use his influence to stop executing the Christians. Luke was concerned about the bleeding, suffering Christians. If our faith is weak, there is no one to blame but our own laziness. Study the Bible, reread the first chapter of Acts several times this week.

Mrs. Sheldon Trousdale continues to make good progress in Guelph General Hospital, where she is confined with a broken hip.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Diamond, on the arrival of a wee daughter early Sunday morning, a playmate for Janet and Kevin.

42nd annual reunion staged by Storey family at Pinegrove

The 42nd annual Storey reunion was held this year at Pinegrove school near Norval. Mrs. Andy Frank and her lunch committee had tables set up in the school.

Sports committee members were Dr. Harold Mason, Kitchener and Andy Frank, Milton.

Nearly 100 of the Storey descendants had gathered to renew old acquaintances. This year, Richard Brown had passed away. The elder members there this year were Tish Brownlee, Toronto; Agnes Cox and Mrs. Mary McGlaughlin, Michigan, a daughter of Dave Storey of Nasagawewa; also Dave Storey from Guelph.

Andy Frank acted as president for the business meeting and Mrs. George Brownlee announced each number for the program, when members of the younger generation helped to provide the entertainment.

James O'Rourke played a violin solo, grandson of Mrs. Annie Frank of Acton. A skit was given by Susan Kinton and Nancy McAllister; violin solo by Andy Frank; vocal duet by two former Storey girls, Mrs. McLean, and Mrs. Harold Royce; violin solo by Karen O'Rourke playing students' concert.

Mrs. George Brownlee favored the crowd by her beautiful rendition of "Liebe-streud" by Fritz Kreisler. Mrs. Brownlee is a talented violin teacher and has given many concerts and at one time played here in Acton.

Violin music predominates in the Storey clan and Mrs. Brownlee takes great interest every time she hears someone play a violin.

Five Maryland 4-H'ers visit Halton

During the week of August 21, Halton County was host to five 4-H club members from Maryland, U.S.A. and their Extension leader. This was the first such exchange with another county in U.S.A. that Halton has taken part in.

Dave Twilley (15 years of age) from Delaware, and Dale Homan (17), Ellen Bradley (17), Nancy Hearn (16), and Linda Brown (15) all from Salisbury were the visiting 4-H delegates. They were accompanied by their Extension Agent, Donald Josselyn, youth work with 4-H and Youth groups operating from the University of Maryland.

During their stay in Halton County, each delegate stayed with two host families whose children were either 4-H Home-owners or 4-H Agricultural Club members. The delegates were taken on a trip to the C.N.E. in Toronto where they watched the Dairy Princess Competition and visited many of the exhibits. Also included in their stay was a tour of several points of interest in Halton County — dairy, beef, fruit and mushroom farms, and a florist. On Tuesday evening at the Agricultural Office, each delegate took part in a discussion on the places and points of interest in Maryland.

On Saturday the members returned home with a much better knowledge of Ontario and in particular Halton's 4-H program. It is hoped that in the near future, several Halton 4-H'ers will be able to return to Maryland for a short stay.

The holiday plans of some Actonians have been spoiled by the rail strike.

A 22-year-old Kitchener man was apprehended in Acton Tuesday evening and taken into custody by Const. Bruce McArthur of the Acton O.P.P. Detachment, awaiting arrival of Kitchener police. Following a hit and run accident which had occurred in Kitchener earlier that evening, it was reported by Const. McArthur the Kitchener driver had gone through a stop street, struck another vehicle, and took off. The car he was driving stopped on the westerly outskirts of Acton; the driver went to a nearby home and telephoned Kitchener police of his whereabouts.

Const. McArthur, who was cruising in the area, saw the damaged front end of the parked vehicle, took the license number and was about to radio for a check when he was flagged down by the driver who told him of the Kitchener incident. He was detained in the Acton cruiser until Kitchener police arrived to take him back there. The vehicle was towed to Toth Motors.
