He warned the county the nurses in Halton are not a splinter group, they have the full support of the professional association. "I view with great alarm a conflagration among nurses in the province," he declared, Later, Mr. Sharpe explained the Registered Nurses' Association had promised "escalating support" to the Halton group. He declined to indicate might take.

Deputy Reeve C. Menely questioned Mr. Sharpe on how the county could negotiate toward settlement, when the nurses had resigned.

In the business session, the budget for the Y's Men's year was presented and accepted. It called for projects to produce $1200 and recommended disbursement of $500 to the Y Board, $200 for Minor Sports (hockey), $100 for Y gym equipment, $50 for student scholarship grants plus several other community projects.

Y's Man Pat McKenzie directed his induction team to receive Brian Smith, Barry Kirkness and Brian Otterbein into the club. The young men now being inducted will be a distinct asset to the Y, the community and the club.

The Y's Men consented to sponsor a musical variety proproblem: "It is easy to settle

Mr. Sharpe declined to state on what terms the nurses would return to work. "Both sides get into a certain amount of face saving," he noted.

Referring to the recent meetings by the Warden's Special Committee with the nurses, Deputy Reeve Alan Day observed there dich't appear to be any success at solution. Mr. Sharpe reported he understood the committee attempted to impose their solution rather than bargain, It had been indicated he was not welcome for the discussións, he noted.

Reeve W. Coulter pointed out the county didn't have any outside advisor present for the discussions either.

Warden Hinton suggested that it the nurses were still working for the Health Unit, they could insist on collective action. The legislation that permitted municipalities to prévent establishment for bargaining units had been repealed.

Mr. Sharpe pointed out certification is not the only basis on which collective bargaining can take place. He noted the nurses had chosen to seek voluntary recognition, rather than certification under the Labor Relations Board

Committee of Adjustment approves mimor variances

Five applications for minor variances were approved Monday night by the committee of adjustment. A sixth one was partially approved and the applicant instructed to alter plans for a parage and submit sketches to the town clerkadminis-

An application from St. Alban's church for a variance in lot coverage was approved with no objections from surrounding residents. Sid Newton was present at the meeting to represent the church and informed the committee it was the intention to build in between the church and parish hall and make a front entrance off Willow St.

An application from L. Shakesby, 56 Guelph St., to erect a garage six feet from the lot line was turned down but a side lot variance from 1'6" to 2'6" was granted and the applicant asked to consider moving the proposed garage back from the front of the house. This was approved by Mr. Shakesby who prom ised to submit new plans to the town clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Grant, neighbors of the applicant, were present and approved the side lot cariance but were of opinion the original proposed location for the garage Would cut off their view.

Four applications from A 7 Construction Limited for minor variances in lots in Lakeview subdivision were approved with out lany objections. The first application was for Lot 9, plan 603, 44 Nelson Court for a variarice in side yard setbacks on

Field dressing the moose:

Bleed the moose while it is still warm. To do this, place it so the head is downhill when possible, cut into the slight cavity at the base of the neck, and sever the main blood vessels by a crosswise cut deep into the program supervisors, members neck.

> When opening the body cavity, avoid cutting the intestines. This can be done by making the first cut through the skin and thin muscles of the upper abdomen just back of the breast bone. Lift the skin around the cut enough to insert two fingers of your free hand into the body cavity. Then, keeping the cutting edge of the knife up and between the fingers, slit the skin down to, and round, the anal opening. The two finger guide assures that the stomach and intestines are not cut.

When the abdominal cavity is opened out, cut the membrane separating the upper and lower body cavity from the ribs. Splitting the breast bone part of the way toward the neck makes it easier to cut ligaments, blood vessels esophagus (tube from mouth to stomach) and wind-
