 word from the Department of Transport has been received that the department would not support part of the cost of installation. Mr. Drinkwater concluded $3,000 is a drop in the bucket if it saves someone from being killed". Reeve Hinton registered the only dissenting vote for the lights.

Local baker, Earl Tebow of Earl's Bakery, was present to object to the manner in which his garbage has been picked up and suggested council should consider changing garbage pick-up days from Monday and Thursday to Tuesday and Friday to accommodate merchants. Council promised to investigate his objections with the town workmen.

Councillor Drinkwater reviewed a special meeting of himself and the clerk with the road committee of County Council last February at which time Acton had requested consideration for the county for a connecting link road from No. 22 sideroad south of Acton which joins with the third line of Esquesing running to Churchill Road S. He also said at that time it was noted if this wasn't possible, consideration be sought for a connecting link from No. 25 Sideroad south of Acton to join with the extension of Mill Street, running to Main-Mill Street intersection. He said no reply had been received to date.

Reeve Hinton stated council should make formal application for these requests as it was the opinion of the County Road Committee this had never been done. Clerk McGeechie reminded him he had written a letter requesting the meeting and as the meeting was held, Mr. McGeechie felt this was a formal request. The reeve was of the opinion it wasn't.

"Surely a letter to the county road chairman is formal," remarked Mr. Drinkwater as he noted he and the clerk had been entertained as a delegation. The mayor was of the opinion if the letter was not considered formal application, the Acton delegates "had been led down the garden path".

Mr. Hinton, who is also the county warden, claimed the county road committee would not consider No. 22 Sideroad as a connecting link. Mr. Drinkwater said he hated to think he spent an afternoon in Milton discussing the proposal only to learn it wasn't official.

By resolution council agreed to petition the County Council for a reply regarding the request for both areas requested as connecting links. Reeve Hinton voted in the negative.

During No. 1 committee report it was revealed assessor William Eskjoe had requested an appointment as Assessment Commissioner. Council agreed to postpone any decision until such time as plans for renovations to town office facilities to include the present library room at the Y were completed.

Members learned that before an advance poll for municipal elections can be held a bylaw must be approved 60 days prior to election date. An advance poll had been suggested for the coming elections.

Library progress payment amounting to $16,339.30 was approved for payment as the second instalment to Kerr Construction Ltd. contractors. A debenture by-law amounting to $78,492 for construction and equipping of the new Centennial library received the third and final reading.

Council members present included Mayor Les Duby, reeve H. H. Hinton and councillors Doris Fryer, C. F. Leatherland, F. G. Oakes, Earl Masaks, Robert Drinkwater and William Williams. The meeting concluded at 11:28 p.m.

MASONRY CONTRACTORS at work at the site of the new hydro building on Alice Street have been favored with good weather to date. If weather continues in their favor for another couple of weeks it is expected the building will be closed in to allow interior work.

Free Press news in brief

—Cost of living has finally hit Georgetown library. The adult library cards, formerly 10 cents, will now cost 25 cents—the first increase since 1898!

—With the new garbage packer, twice-a-week garbage collection continues into the winter this year.

—Several lots have been sold in the newly opened area of Lakeview Heights and building of new homes is expected to begin soon.

—Miss Bea Hills, who has been writing the interesting historical series of articles on Ballinacree, observed her 85th birthday last week. She is probably our "senior" contributor. Congratulations, Miss Hills.

—Winter activities are well under way at the arena. The ice is in full bloom and the demand for ice time is heavy.

—Might be a good idea to clip out the new bus schedule on page B4.

—When collecting for UNICEF was first introduced a few years ago, it brought quite a change to Hallowe'en and many wondered if it would spoil the traditions of the fun-filled night. But it seems to only add to the children's pleasure to include others in their thinking. In the surrounding countryside and neighboring towns UNICEF boxes are also distributed. Wonder if there is any locality near which does NOT now collect for UNICEF?

—Hallowe'en is next Monday night, and perhaps parents who are tempted to recall and recite their wilder exploits might be cautioned not to set that kind of an example. Hallowe'en has been celebrated locally on quite a same level recently, and of course that's quite desirable.

AT CONFERENCE

Last weekend Warden Bert Hinton attended a labor-management conference at Paradise Gardens, Guelph. The conference was sponsored by the federal government in co-operation with the provincial Department of Labor. Mr. Hinton says he found the sessions most informative.

 rate of $2,400 per year. If the new one is approved it will be at the rate of $3,000 per year.

Persons using the ambulance service in town will be assessed existing rates. This is deducted from the annual $3,000 payment. Of the balance, the government pays the town a 50 percent subsidy which reduces the general cost to the town for ambulance service.

Tenders for installation of a watermain from Churchill Rd. N. to Young Street were perused prior to council meeting by a committee of council and the tender from Kleenway Construction at a price of $24,355 accepted. Other tenders included ones from Dundas Construction at $26,615; Armstrong Bros. Co. Ltd. at $29,497.65 and Decker Contractors at $26,129.75.

The Kleenway Construction tender is subject to approval from the Ontario Municipal Board and the consultant engineer. A special meeting of council will be held November 1 to deal with a construction by-law for installation of the watermain.

The same firm was engaged to install sewer and water services on Nelson Court and Elizabeth Drive in areas under development. This company had done sewer and water installations in other parts of the subdivision in the past.

Council members learned the annual Remembrance Day service in Acton would be held on Sunday, November 6 and were asked to attend. Payment of $300 to the North Halton Urban Board was authorized. General accounts totalling $7,018.62 were also authorized for payment.

McCulloughs show slides of Europe

The Alert Evening Auxiliary of Knox Presbyterian church held their Thanksgiving meeting in the Ellen Anderson room. The devotional period was conducted by the committee composed of Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Laura Wiles, Mrs. Clarence Coles and Mrs. G. Young. Mrs. McKenzie favored with a solo and a reading Beyond Nature to God, and a poem by Edna Jacques, Thankful for What was given by Mrs. Young. The roll call in keeping with the theme was Something to Be Thankful For.

The president Mrs. Earl Marshall presided over the business session when plans were finalized for the rummage and bake sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel McCullough showed pictures of their recent trip to Europe. The countries visited were Holland, Ireland, Scotland, England and the island of Guernsey. They gave a commentary on each and explained the purpose of their trip. Many places visited were in the rural areas.

Minister says Ontario museum set for Kelso

The Archie Service farm near Milton has been selected as the site for a Province of Ontario agricultural museum, Minister of Agriculture William A. Stewart has admitted.

The news was vaguely announced two weeks ago, although no general press release was made by the Dept. of Agriculture. The announcement has been in the offing for more than a year, and details of the land purchase and selection of a site were known generally here for some time.

The Province is acquiring 80 acres of the 145-acre farm, through the Halton Region Conservation Authority, for a museum to perpetuate the tools, implements and pioneer methods of Ontario's agricultural past. It will also serve as a location for the Ontario Steam and Antique Preservers' Association to build a permanent home for many of their pioneer agricultural implements.

To be known as the Ontario Agricultural Museum, the project is expected to get underway some time in 1967. The next session of the legislature is expected to approve the plan. "I am confident it will receive enthusiastic support from both farm and urban people of the province," Mr. Stewart said.

The Service farm was recently purchased by Halton Region Conservation Authority, as an extension to nearby Kelso Conservation Area. The Province will be buying 80 acres at a cost of approximately $40,000 from the H.R.C.A.

Negotiations between the Conservation Authority, Department of Agriculture and Steam and Antique Preservers' have been going on for over a year. The Association, which sponsors its annual reunion in Milton Fair Grounds on Labor Day weekend, has 200 members all over Ontario and northern United States, and they own hundreds of steam engines, gas tractors, vintage automobiles, shingle mills, sawmills and other antique and agricultural implements.

The "permanent home" of the Steam-Era sponsors would provide a large building where exhibits could be stored and exhibited on a year-round basis to the general public. Members feel the Milton Fair Grounds would still be needed for their annual three-day reunion, mainly because of its grandstand which seats a large crowd.

A building at the Service farm would give members a place to hold their monthly meetings, and a place to store heavy equipment which is costly to transport to the annual show from members' homes scattered throughout the Province.

Discussions have also been held with Department of Highways officials on the possibility of making an entrance to the museum property from Highway 401, which passes the property's northern boundary. No decision has been made to date.
