Steer life like ship - valedictorian

Valedictorian Victoria Newton, her long blond hair swinging, recalled most memorable experiences of the graduating class and then expanded on a simile which compared every one's management of his life to a captain's administration of a fleet of ships. "Each ship must be kept ready at all times for who can say when it is going to be needed?"

Then each student at high school captains a fleet of seven ships—one for each subject. If one ship founders, the cargo must be repacked.

To the teachers, the students are their fleet. Teachers should exhibit their leadership qualities on board (in school) and on shore (in the community).

Parents try to ensure that their young ships sail upright. "The changing is responsible to the world. It must do its best to prepare its crew for a lifetime in the sea of the world... there is no room for discrimination or mutiny."

Looking back over the past five years, she said in proper perspective the graduates remember the happier moments. "We have driven some teachers into a jibbering frenzy with our apathy and non-participation. Then again we have driven some teachers stark raving mad just by being ourselves."

Her specific references brought chuckles from the audience, and she asserted then these things were combined with hard work, "and we have learned many things which have brought us closer to maturity, responsibility and self-reliance."

She concluded by quoting Bob Dylan: "I make new sounds out of old sounds"

And new words out of old words,

Kind that it is me an' my Kind That will make these rules... If the people of tomorrow Really need the rules of today.

Her excellently-framed and well-considered address was greatly applauded by the attentive audience.

When the two top students had declined to give the valedictory address, she had agreed, principal Ted Hansen pointed out.

Her valedictorian medal was presented by student council vice-president Susan Clarke.

St. Alban's W.A. bazaar highlighted by quilt draw

Although St. Alban's W.A. membership is small in numbers, they can take credit for conducting a successful tea and bazaar and making a beautiful centennial quilt which was drawn for Saturday at the bazaar. Winner of the quilt was Mrs. George Jackson of London, Ontario, a relative of Mrs. J. M. Robbins, a guild member who played an important part in completion of the quilt.

In charge of the white elephant table were Mrs. George Haggott and Mrs. Jack Hargrave; baking Mrs. William Denny and Mrs. George Fountain; sewing table, Mrs. Ben Bayliss; sale of tickets, Mrs. Jack Crescey; and tea table, Mrs. H. S. Holmes, Mrs. John Rol, Mrs.

H. H. Hinton and daughter Cathy, Mrs. Clint Taylor and Mrs. Lorna Clarke.

Mrs. Robbins was in charge of the sale of the Anglican church centennial calendars.

The flowers which decked the tea table were later taken to the home of a shut-in.

Auxiliary planning bake sale, quilt draw

On Thursday evening, November 3, Acton Auxiliary for the North Halton Association for the Mentally Retarded gathered together for their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. N. Price. With Mrs. Loutlet in the chair, minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. J. Buchman and approved.

Financial statement showed excellent returns resulted from Acton fall fair with the sale of chocolate bars, Christmas cards and draw. Supermarket tapes have been put to good use with the purchase of a jig saw power tool and snow shovel for the adult workshop in Hornby. Mrs. Loutlet noted a paper cutter was required at the workshop and it was agreed one was to be located and bought with a donation from the Acton Lions Club.

With the festive season in mind arrangements were made for the bake sale and quilt draw on Nov. 18. Members were asked to contact friends to help with some baking. Mrs. R. McMurray, representative for the Acton Auxiliary N.H.A.M.R., reported on the excellent work being planned by the community services council.

Mrs. Loutlet thanked members for the help and excellent work done during the past year and vacated the chair as president. Nominations were taken and new officers will take over officially in the new year. President is Mrs. R. Loutlet again; vice-president Mrs. Jens Laustsen; recording secretary and advertising Mrs. R. McMurray; corresponding secretary Mrs. H. Dods; treasurer Mrs. John Buchman.

Legion reaches centennial goal $948 presented

To mark the occasion of Canada's Centennial the Royal Canadian Legion adopted a challenging and forward project, the "Royal Canadian Legion Centennial Foundation."

Capital funds will be invested and managed by appointed trustees and the annual interest earnings will be used to finance Legion projects such as scholarships, youth training programs, veterans' welfare and programs for the aged.

Acton's Legion, Branch 197, was scheduled to raise $948 based on the per capita membership. Last week this was accomplished and on Remembrance Sunday the cheque for this amount was turned over to Zone Commander Dave Capperauld for submission to Dominion Command.

The money was raised by the local branch through various projects as well as a donation from the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

The minimum objective by Dominion Command has been set at $1,000,000.

should be very careful about what he wants because he's likely to get it."

Then changing to speak of his own university, he noted "a decided tremor in the central nervous system of education in Ontario". He spoke of the federal and provincial problems, and taxes, pointing up that "higher education is an expensive commodity". Universities are now public concerns and the patrons are the taxpayers.

One problem at Guelph is the difficulty of finding qualified Canadians to join the faculty. There will be three distinctive marks of the University of Guelph: responsibility to the community, academic excellence, and a deep concern for the individual student.

Legion ladies buy new flag

Legion Ladies' Auxiliary held their November meeting in the Legion hall with president Mrs. D. Rogers in the chair.

The auxiliary has purchased a new Canadian flag to carry in the Remembrance Day parade. There is to be a social evening in Cooksville on November 23.

Mrs. William Finlay thanked everyone who helped with the successful Blood Clinic. The report from the bazaar conveners was read.

President Janet Rogers won a draw on a Christmas cake. A letter of thanks sent by Warden H. H. Hinton for their dinner was read. Members were asked to note that the Christmas dinner will be $2 this year.

After the business, a social evening and lovely lunch were enjoyed by the ladies.

Near 80 singers from four churches in choral program at Baptist church

About 80 church choir members from four churches contributed to an unusual and enjoyable "Evening of Sacred Music" in the Baptist Church Sunday evening. Extra chairs were set up in the church to accommodate the crowd, and then about 40 sat in the basement. It was estimated close to 300 were present for the musical program.

There were guests from Hillsburg and Georgetown as well as from Acton churches.

The Baptist Church choir acted as hosts and served refreshments to the participating singers afterward.

The fine program was arranged by Mrs. Murray Harrison, the musical director of the host church. The special collection will be used toward the purchase of new choir pews.

Each choir was accompanied by its regular organist and at the conclusion of the program, the massed choirs filled the platform to sing, accompanied by United church choir leader Dr. George Elliott, He's Got the Whole World in His Hands.

Baptist organist Charles Landsborough and his daughter Donna played the organ and piano before the service while the ushers searched for space and set up folding chairs in the aisles.

The Baptist church choir, accompanied by Charles Landsborough, opened the program with The Sweet Story of Old and later sang The Voice of Jesus Calls.

They led the congregation in the appropriate hymn Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love.

Baptist choir members Miss Linda Ralston and Jerry Skirrow sang solos, and Miss Ralston and Miss Joanne Landsborough sang a duet, So Send I You.

The United Church choir, directed by Dr. Elliott, sang without accompaniment Gabriel's Message and Break Forth Beautiful Heavenly Light. Miss Dorothy Simmons had a solo part. The junior choir sang We Praise Thee O Lord.

Seven girls of the Presbyterian Church Junior Girls' Chorus sang Beautiful Saviour. The senior choir sang Joy Cometh in the Morning, with Mrs. J. Davidson singing a solo part. They were directed by Ted Hansen at the organ.

The Anglican church choir sang the Resurrection. Two of the choir members, Vic Bristow and Les Dube, sang a duet, The Holy City. Mrs. F. G. Oakes was at the organ.

To conclude the program, Mrs. Marg Hoare sang The Lord's Prayer. Then Rev. Stanley Gannon thanked everyone for participating and attending and, seeing the crowding in the pews and aisles, asked everyone to simply remain seated for the benediction.

"Why don't we have this more often?" people asked each other as they left, deeply appreciative of the fine music beautifully sung, and the sight of so many members of various churches raising their voices in song together on the platform and sitting happily together in the Baptist auditorium.
