

Hargrave-Jarvis wedding in St. Alban's church Dec. 3

White pom pom mums and white candles decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the guest pews at St. Alban's Church, Acton, for the marriage of Olga Louise Jarvis of Guelph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Jarvis of Toronto, and David Raymond Hargrave, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hargrave of Acton, on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Rev. Ritchie McMurray officiated with Mrs. Frank Oakes as organist for the afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor length crepe gown, embroidered appliques accenting the empire waistline and the front of the A-line skirt, with a bateau neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A lace coronet held her elbow length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart-roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Sandra Hargrave, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, with Miss Lena Jarvis of Toronto, sister of the bride, and Miss Nancy Crump of Oakville, cousin of the groom, as bridesmaids. All wore identical floor length gowns, with attached trains at the back falling from the waistline, with bateau necklines and short sleeves. The maid of honor was in blue and the others in pink.

Miss Gail Butler of Guelph, niece of the bride, was flower girl in a white floor length-nylon dress with a lace over-bow and blue sash. All four attendants wore net roses holding their shoulder length veils in place, and all carried gold rings decorated with white shasta mums and contrasting ribbons designed by the groom's mother.

Master Peter Hargrave served as ring bearer carrying a heart-shaped ring pillow.

Don Jarvis of Toronto, brother of the bride, was best man, with Dick Longman of Toronto, friend of the bride, and Bill Morde of Rockwood, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held at the Acton Band Centre, with 140 guests attending, catered to by the band mothers and wives.

For the reception the bride's mother received wearing a navy blue dress with navy accessories. The groom's mother wore a pale blue, silver brocaded dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Special guests were the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrave of Acton. Mrs. Hargrave Sr. wore a blue two-piece dress and a pink sweetheart rose corsage.

The three tiered wedding cake was made and decorated by the bride's sister, Mrs. Hilda Boone of Toronto.

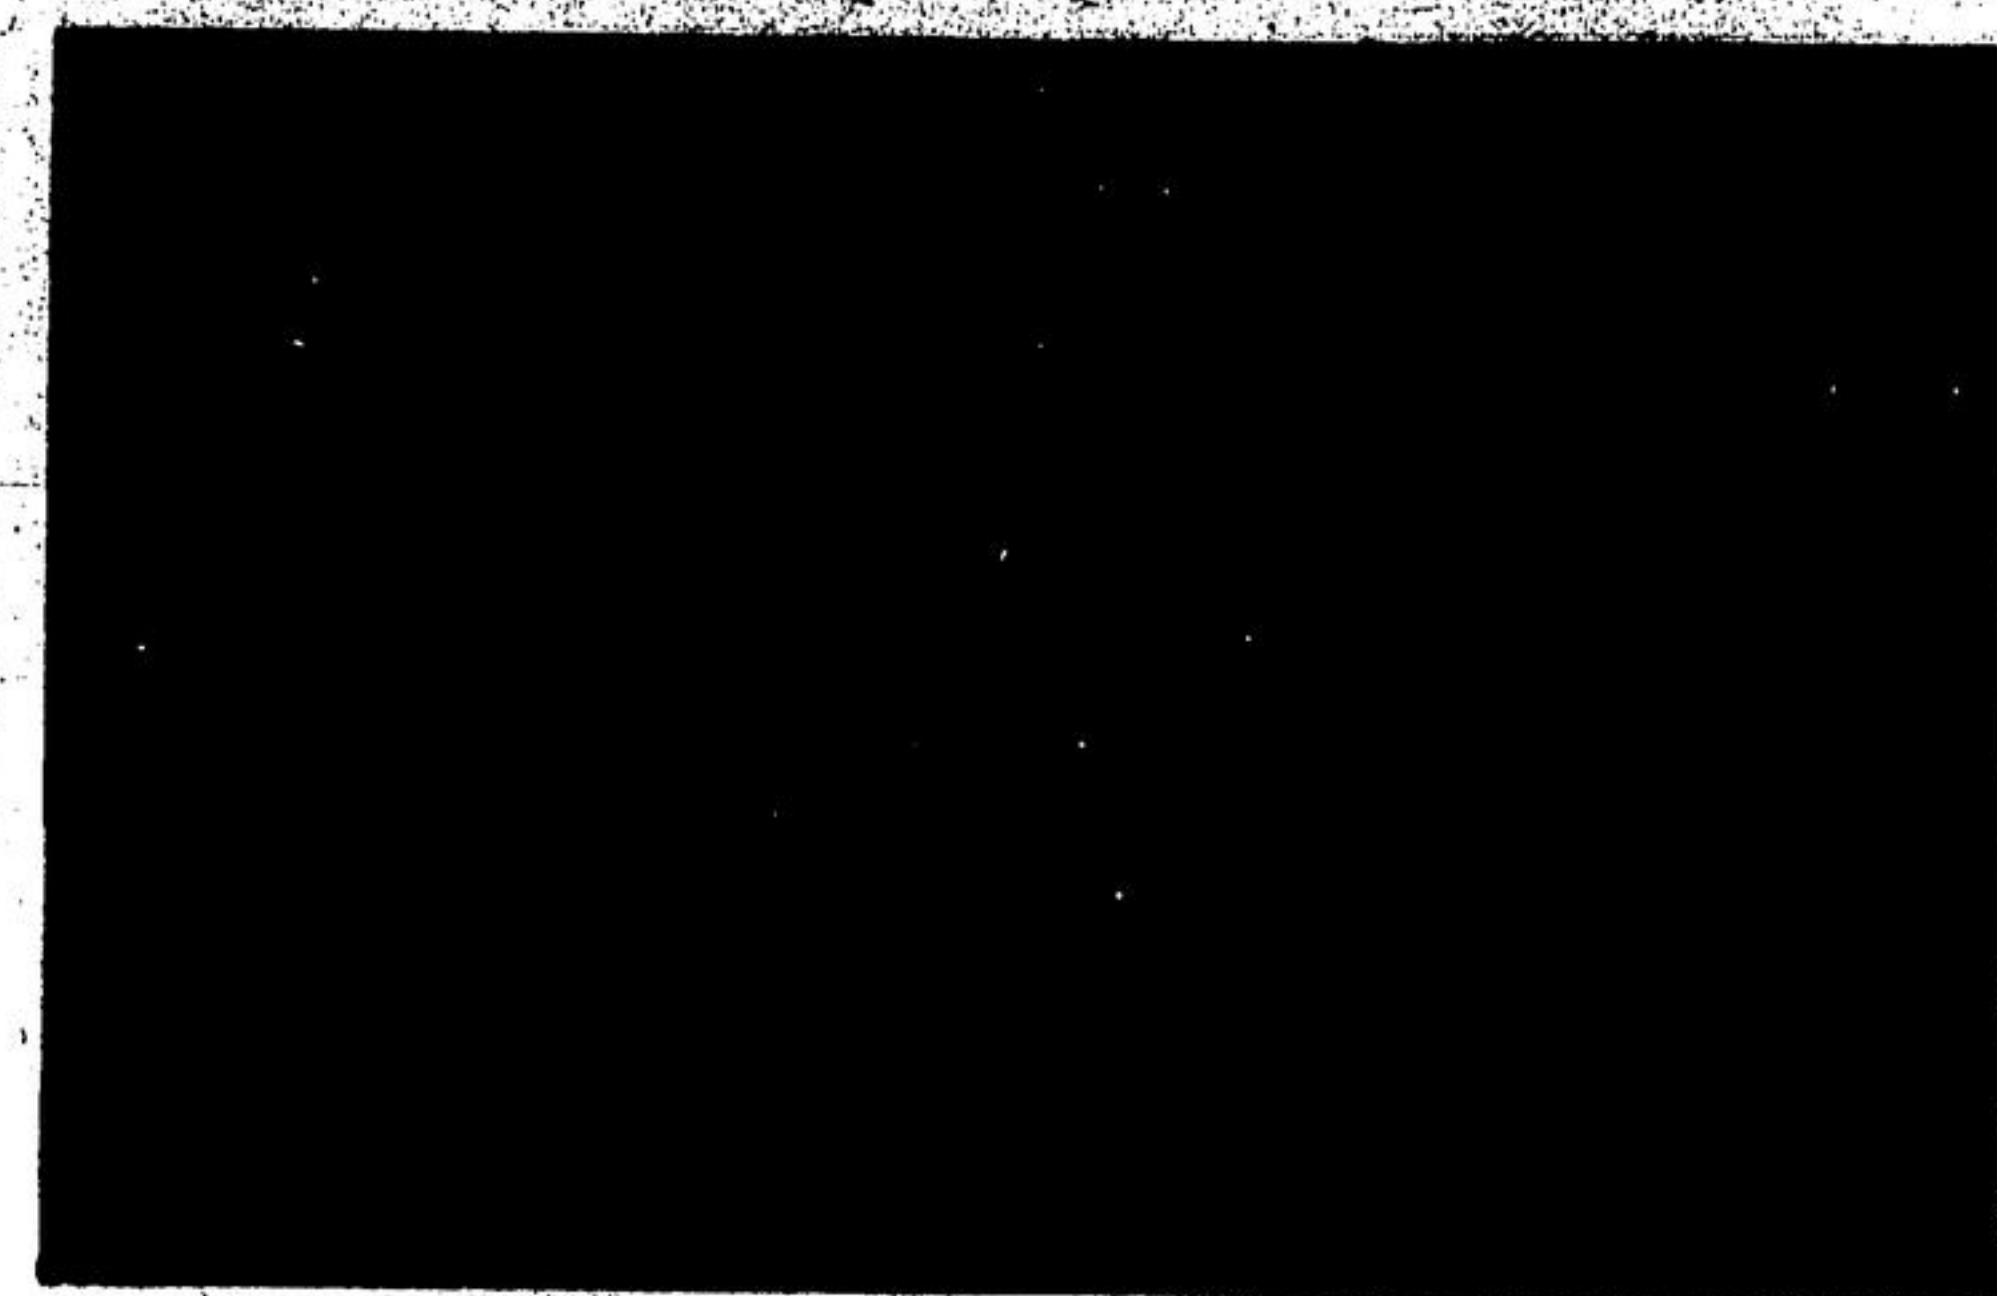

Guests were present from Acton, Toronto, Rockwood, Arnis, Michigan, Oakville, Islington and Guelph.

The bride was employed on the staff at the Guelph General Hospital. The groom is employed at Provincial Paper Mills, Georgetown.

A delayed honeymoon will follow in the summer of 1967 to Newfoundland. They are residing at Main St., Georgetown.

Proceeding the marriage a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of the groom's grandmother, hosted by the maid of honor Miss Sandra Hargrave of Kitchener and presentations were made to the bride and groom by Guelph General Hospital and Provincial Paper Mills.

County vs. nurses

Little solved in dispute

Charges and counter-charges added spice to a special meeting of Halton County Council on Monday, but little was solved in the dispute between the Halton County Health Nurses and the county.

Deputy-Reeve Charles Menefy of Milton challenged Warden H. H. Hinton, Reeve of Acton, to either confirm or deny published reports that he said, "concerning Mr. Menefy, we are not very proud of his actions."

Warden Hinton quickly confirmed the report. Deputy-Reeve Menefy charged, "I'm not here for you to be proud of me. I'm here as a representative of Milton. Whether or not you are proud of me means very little."

Warden Hinton asked whether or not the Deputy-Reeve had stated what was printed in an Oakville paper, "I don't like the way the Warden is handling things."

Deputy-Reeve Menefy denied the report and suggested, "I don't use personalities."

The Warden made his remark concerning Deputy-Reeve Menefy following a meeting between the Warden's Special Committee and the County Nurses. At Monday's meeting he said to the Deputy-Reeve, "I think you had a responsibility as a minority opinion — your statement at that meeting was disloyal to the majority of council."

The Warden then quoted

LIMEHOUSE

Baptism, W.A. party in news of district

Rev. F. N. Young baptized Marilyn Ruth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Maw, at the Sunday afternoon service at Limehouse Presbyterian Church.

Twenty-five attended the early Christmas family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ingles, Limehouse, on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Ingles of Acton was the honored guest, prior to her leaving for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ingles and family at Burnaby, B.C., where she will see her new grandson. Guests attended from Barrie, Acton, Port Credit and Limehouse.

The W.A. ladies, their husbands and friends, held a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brown on Friday evening.

Mr. Ronald Moore is home following a week in hospital for allergy tests.

reter hasn't been home for Christmas often himself in the past few years. After Acton high school he joined the navy and spent two chilly Christmases at Churchill in the far north. After working at the National Employment office in Toronto he joined the Department of External Affairs, and spent his next Christmas in a far different climate.

The constant heat in the east was difficult to get used to. Tropical illnesses were common, and Peter is still taking doses of prescribed medicine such as anti-malaria pills. He will soon have a complete check-up, as everyone does returning from tropical climates.

The war-torn country provides some unhappy sights and plenty of contrasts. He feels sorry for some of the young savages in the highly commercialized city of Saigon. The Saigon hotel at which Peter was staying was the site for mortar shelling but at the time he was away and missed all the excitement. The airport he left from was mortared the next day.

On his trip to Viet Nam, Peter's baggage weight amounted to 44 pounds. After buying souvenirs and clothing, his return baggage weighed in around 700 pounds. Most of his souvenirs were packed away in his trunks which haven't arrived to date.

In an interview with the Free Press, he recalled that made-to-measure suits of good quality material purchased in Laos cost $40. These ran much higher in Saigon. Among the many souvenirs he purchased are a matching golf bag and pair of golf shoes made from elephant hide.

Of interest to him was the fact that a youngster whose father was a craftsman, began working at the same trade at the age of six years. By the time the youngster has reached the age of 10 or 12 he is a competent craftsman. One incident he recalled was when an electrician was needed to change over a complete light circuit. When the electrician arrived he was 10 years of age and his assistant was six years old. The circuit was changed without even switching off power.

It was interesting for him to return home by a completely different route. He had gone out to Viet Nam by way of Tokyo and Hong Kong.

Let's Play Bridge

by bill coats

Last week, we were discussing leads and some of the new ideas in leads. If I continue to miss defining no trump contracts, I'm going to start using these new ideas.

The lead of the fourth of your longest and strongest suit has long been favored against no trump contracts. This lead works quite well when you have something in the suit but when you haven't, it's dangerous.

One way to overcome this difficulty is to lead fourth best only when you have an honor in the suit. This leads to a small problem — is then ten an honor?

Some current American bridge writers suggest the following: the lead of a jack indicates a suit headed by jack ten and no higher honor. The lead of the ten indicates that there are higher honors in the suit, such as K J 10 X or A J 10 X X or A Q 10 X. The lead of the nine is made from ten and shows no higher honors.

A standard fourth best lead is made if the top honors are scattered or you have a five card suit with some possible re-entries.

Here is a hand from last week's duplicate game at the Acton Bridge Club where some of these ideas have been very useful.

The dealer is East and neither side is vulnerable.
North
S-5 2
H-A Q 10 9
D-K J 7
C-A J 8 5
West
S-A O 6
H-J 5 2
D-10 9 4 2
C-K 9 2

South
S-K 10 9 8 7
H-K 8 7
D-A 5 3
C-7 6

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass Pass Pass 1H
Pass 2S Pass 3C
Pass 3NT All Pass

With all suits bid except diamonds, West should lead that suit, but which card? With standard leads, West leads the two and East must guess which honor it's from.

West - East players would play the queen, giving declarer three diamond tricks. Declarer now can develop a spade trick with no difficulty.

With the lead of the diamond nine, showing ten/nine, East can play low if declarer ducks. Now if the defense is careful, two diamonds, two spades and a club can be made to set this contract.

Oh yes, if declarer goes to dummy to lead spades, West should duck the first spade lead. No doubt declarer will enter dummy again to repeat the finesse.

Last week's winners were: first, Jack Coats and Bill Wandel; second, Cam Sinclair and Pat Jeffares; tied for third, Katherine Coats and Gwen Jeffares, with Penny Bristow and Betty Ashley.

Raise $900

Announcement was made this week that the annual canvass for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Acton and district raised over $900. This most satisfactory figure was totalled by the campaign chairman, Mrs. Tom Shields.
