PROGRESS

Two trips in the hobo jungle were discussing the employment situation. Joe said to Luke: "I've thought of going back to work, but prosperity brings inflation, which begets recession, which leads to depression, which calls for light money, causing unemployment - and I'd be right back where I am now."

Rhythm Band in centennial costume leads singing for Golden Age Club

The Acton Golden Age Club has several items of interest coming up in the future. There is a National Film Board film to be seen in the Baptist Church at the regular evening service time May 7; the annual Bazaar in Halton Manor, May 10, afternoon and evening; the Golden Age bake sale and tea in Senior Citizens Week in June and the annual Zone Picnic in June. R. L. Davidson was given authority to invite Zone 13 of United Senior Citizens of Ontario Inc. to hold the annual picnic in Acton, if he wishes to at the coming executive meeting.

A good attendance enjoyed the excellent program prepared by Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. Robert Warner. A couple of good readings were given by Mrs. Rolston.

Miss Carol Patterson, gave her prize-winning essay on "Canada" in a most pleasing manner. This talented girl's clear diction and enunciation at modest dignity were remarkably well shown to a very appreciative audience, who wished her continued success in future endeavors.

Miss Jean McLean gave some lovely piano instrumentals. Miss McLean is a favorite as she often graciously gives pleasure with her music.

Mrs. Ward Bruce entertained with several excellent portrayals - a neighbor visiting a sick friend to "cheer her up"; the "spring gold"; and "Levinski at the Weddings" - she was enthusiastically encored.

Mr. Winton at the piano, and Mr. O'Hara on accordion played duets and John Ford sang a Prisoner's Song, unaccompanied.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McEnery, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davidson formed a quartette for a couple of old favorites - "When You and I Were Young Maggie" and "The Church in the Vale". They were dressed in Centennial fashions.

The climax of the program was the Rhythm Band of about 15 members with original instruments and dressed in original and authentic Centennial costumes. Although they have only a couple of practices, they did exceptionally well. Mrs. Basil Johnston was pianist and Mrs. John Cossar was conductor.

They played and sang "Mocking Bird Hill", then led a general sing song.

A very fine program closed with "The Queen". Then a lovely lunch was served with Mrs. Ferguson, convener. The Acton Free Press photographer was present to take pictures for the press and for the club's Centennial Year Book.

After recovering enough from a painful knee to return to her post as chief librarian this week, Mrs. Isabel Watson unfortunately fell again and injured the same knee.

The Legion Chorale entertained last Wednesday evening at a banquet for World War I vets at the St. Catharines Legion. They travelled by bus to give their program.

Arthur Griese of Beachburg, Ont., visited with his brother, Charles Griese and Mrs. Griese last week. During his visit, their sister Miss Gertie Griese of Toronto and Mr. William Miller also visited.

Hold addressing bee for centennial fair

A long table was set up in the parish hall Monday evening when volunteers began the once-in-a-lifetime task of addressing envelopes for invitations to centennial year celebrations here. Quite a few names had been turned in, and a system was organized to avoid duplication.

Names were handed in at churches, at the Free Press, and to Mrs. C. Nelles at Hilton's store. The letters will go out later, detailing events of the four-day fair in September.
