

Halton farmers

Another county farmer suggested the Federation should not be asking for a farm policy, they should be telling the government what they want.

Mr. Hergott told the group no "next step" had been planned if farm demands were not met in future weeks. "There is other action that can be taken, however. It depends on the mood of the producers", he suggested.

"Those fellows down there aren't too bright. I sometimes wonder if there's any use going down to talk to them", one egg producer suggested. He noted the government was permitting entry of "cheap" eggs from the U.S. and Mexico, forcing the local price down and making it necessary to pay deficiency payments to the local producers. "They're not so cheap, are they," he emphasized.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was noted that those who wished to go on the bus could contact Tom Foster in Burlington, Denzil Lawrence, Roy Coulter or George Pelletier in Milton, Victor Lawrence in Oakville, Bert Davidson in Acton or Don Lindsay in Georgetown.

De. Harry Harley, M.P., has also been notified of the delegation's intent to be in Ottawa, it was reported.

Rev. Laurence Duby

Hill is much in need of assistance.

Reverend Duby, who was chosen to read the gospel for the ordination, was vested in a stole, the mark of a Deacon. A Deacon's functions at the Holy Eucharist include proclaiming the Holy Gospel, preparing the chalice at the offertory, bidding the prayers of the congregation, administering the chalice at Communion and leading other parts of the service.

It is customary also for a Deacon to baptize, offer to perform marriages and to anoint the sick.

Sermon in Sunday's service was preached by the Reverend E. J. Franconi, B.A., B.T.L., Anglican chaplain to Western University. He spoke of the changing life in the church and the necessity of church people to go out into the market place leaving much of what they hold dear.

He asked that the ordinands be allowed full scope in their work, predicting no easy path for them to follow. Too many priests, said the chaplain, have had vocations smothered by a well meaning but suffocating parish.

The two candidates were seated in the front pew until they were presented by the Dean, The Very Rev. Harold R. Bagnall, B.A., D.D. The ordination ceremony was held on the steps leading to the altar.

The Rev. Alan Drummond, a Hamilton man, will serve under Rev. Brillinger, a former Acton rector, at Aldershot.

The bishops, new deacons and Rev. Ritchie McMurray received after the service.

Cooking school, graduation achievement day of interest

By Mrs. D. G. Robertson

Bradley Bruce celebrated his tenth birthday last week with a party, attended by several school chums.

Mr. Len Buck enjoyed a few days fishing at Lake Nipissing with friends from Guelph.

Friends of Mrs. G. M. Sumter are sorry to learn she is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, Guelph.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Winter received word of the safe arrival of their first grandchild, a daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Winter of Guelph.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunter and children of Guelph visited with the latter's mother, Mrs. A. Sinclair on Sunday.

Mrs. D. G. Robertson and son Douglas of Guelph attended the convocation at Hamilton on Friday when her youngest son, Brian, received his graduation diploma from Mohawk College of Applied Arts and Technology in Institute Management Technology Class.

Brian has accepted a position with Northern Electric in Montreal and leaves the end of the month to assume his duties.

The auditorium of the local school was well filled Wednesday evening when the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church sponsored a "Hydro Quick Tricks" program featuring cooking with portable appliances.

A film "Home modernization through electricity" was quite interesting.

Hydro home economist Mrs. Beth Gilroy, demonstrated several appetizing dishes using different appliances.

The uses of various lighting effects were shown, whereby room decor could be entirely changed with the use of lights.

Mrs. Ross McEwan, president of the Ladies' Aid, extended a word of thanks and conducted the draws for several prizes which had been donated. Rotisserie — Mrs. Alice Wilkinson; study lamp, Mrs. Ben Wingrove; floral centre piece, Mrs. John Awrey, food vouchers, Mrs. Roden and Mrs. S. McKinnon; car wax, Mrs. F. Archibald; 2 boxes pansies, Mrs. Trysenaar, Mrs. S. Fuller, Mrs. K. Stubbington; shampoo and set, Mrs. R. Wheeler; chocolates, Mrs. B. Clarke.

"Mothers' Day" was fittingly observed at the local Presbyterian church with a combined service of the Sunday school and church.

Rev. Herbison had a special message and was assisted by members of the Sunday school.

The junior choir, with Mrs. Norman McKenzie at the organ, sang a special number. At the close of the service all gathered on the lawn for a group picture to add to the church records.

Mrs. David Stewart was hostess for the meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Everton Christian Church.

Mrs. John McDougall presided and Miss Marilyn Kingsbury read the minutes and called the roll, answered by "One Way to Improve Our C.W.F. Meetings". Eleven members and two visitors were present.

Theme for the program was "Money is as money does".

Mrs. Alan Lillis, assisted by Mrs. Gary Bateman conducted the worship portion and asked the question — "Are our riches being used, today, on earth as God would have us?" She cautioned, "our possessions are not our own, they are only held in trust."

Mrs. Marlon Burns, was study leader and continued along the theme, citing the wealth we all have in comparison to European countries where many are starving.

An interesting discussion followed on the questions asked by Mrs. Burns. It was noted "money is not the root of all evil — but it is the love of money that is the root of all evil."

Mrs. Aleck Kingsbury reported on the service group. The entrance room in the Sunday school rooms has been painted, completing this project. The group have been asked to cater for a silver wedding anniversary early in June and plans were made.

Mrs. Arthur Harris reported on the "Kits for Vietnam". One shipment has been made and another ready to go. It was decided to continue sending these.

Mrs. Stewart, assisted by her daughters-in-law — Mrs. Vern and Mrs. Ed Stewart — served dainty refreshments and a social chat over the tea cups was enjoyed.

Two students will attend U.N. seminar

Two students from Acton high school will attend the United Nations seminar at the University of Waterloo this year after all. There was no active UN club at the school this year, and at first, inquiring previous sponsors were told there would be no representatives going.

Now, however, Neil Anderson and Brenda McKeown will be attending the sessions on Saturday, June 24 to Friday, June 30. It's hoped this will form a nucleus of keen interest for a UN club at the school next year. Both are grade 11 students and have attended a previous seminar.

The Rotary Club is sponsoring one student and Beardmore and Co. the other.

Young Georgetown youth killed in race with train

Kenneth John Connelly, 14, of Georgetown, was killed Saturday when he lost a race with a freight train on a railway bridge near Georgetown.

Police said the boy and a friend, John Edmund Stufko, 14, also of Georgetown, were out hiking and started across a railway bridge that spans the Credit River. They were halfway over the span when a train approached.

where they could have huddled while the train passed.

Stufko, a few feet ahead of his chum, jumped clear but young Connelly was struck.

The bridge is a popular hiking spot for children and has been the scene of many similar close calls.

The Georgetown boy has many relations in Acton and district.

Firefighters douse car, Crescent fires

Firefighters were called Monday night to douse a fire in a car and again Tuesday night at 6 p.m. for a grass and brush blaze on the Crescent.

Tuesday's blaze was believed started by children on the site of an old dump and firefighters had to be prompt to stop spread of flames to old refuse. Previous fires there burned for days when combustion started underneath.

Flowers of Hope drive success

Flowers of Hope's very successful door-to-door campaign on Monday evening brought in $396 — considerably more than came from private homes in previous years' mail campaign. Last year, when letters of appeal were sent to Acton homes, industries and rural routes, the total received from all three areas was $388.

Acton rural routes and industries are still to be heard from.

Chairlady of this year's Flowers of Hope campaign is Mrs. Nancy Willets, 540 Peel St. Volunteer canvassers were organized by the newly-named L'Arche Auxiliary (North Halton Association for the Mentally Retarded).

Mrs. Willets points out that anyone interested in the work of the association who was missed Monday evening, may leave a donation at the Bank of Montreal. She expressed appreciation to the many volunteers.

The seeds, given in thanks for donations, will produce cosmos.

A careful motorist always starts a trip by driving at moderate speeds until the car has a chance to warm up. Tires always benefit from a warming-up period. A cold tire may bunch at speeds over 50 mph. This induces flat spots and the tire wears out faster.

Call tenders Vanier Institute for Women

The Honorable Ray Connell, Ontario's Public Works Minister, called tenders for the Vanier Institution for Women to be built this year at an estimated cost of about $34 million at Brampton. Tenders close June 15.

The Vanier Institution for Women — a correctional institute — will be built on a 30-acre site. Designed by Chief Architect D. G. Creba, in association with Toronto architect Harry B. Kohl, it will be a minimum security arranged in campus fashion on the widely landscaped site. There will be about 10 one-storey wings — some isolated and some connected by corridors. It will replace the present Mercer Reformatory.

Mr. Connell said the institution could be described as "open", as there are no perimeter walls, fences or towers. He said security devices will be built into the structures themselves, including special windows and hardware facilities.

Aside from a total floor area of about 100,000 square feet, there will be outside facilities for recreation.

Construction will vary between pour-in-place concrete and precast concrete and masonry and brick. Facing will be mostly of brick and exposed concrete.

Roofs will be precast with structural steel for the longer spans. Some wings will have pitched roofs. Hot water heating will be installed in some groups of buildings with a central boiler, but cottages and other buildings will have individual heating.

ONE IN 1,000

Of every 1,000 children born, 30 will be mentally retarded. But of those 30, 25 can be educated in special schools and trained to self-sufficiency; another four can be trained to work productively under supervision; the one remaining will be totally dependent for all his personal needs.
