

Centennial library opens

CONSERVATIVES got together at the ceremony after the ceremonies. M.P.P. George Kerr, Rev. A. H. McKenzie and Bill Carochan exchange views. (Staff Photo)

ADMIRING THE gold key on a wooden plaque, library board chairman George Lee and M.P. Dr. Harry Harley pause in front of the newly-unveiled plaque. (Staff Photo)

ARCHITECT DON SKINNER and construction superintendent Dean Crowe present key to board chairman George Lee during ceremony. (Staff Photo)

FIRST LIBRARIAN Mrs. R. M. McDonald and Miss Madge Chapman found chairs for a chat during the tour of the new building. (Staff Photo)

Free Press Feature Page

SCARLET COATS of Acton Citizens' Band were reflected in the school creek as they played a concert before the official ceremonies of dedication. (Staff Photo)

CROWD OF about 250 clustered in the shade for the introductions and speeches at Saturday afternoon's ceremony, on the first warm weekend. (Staff Photo)

