Miss Doris Fines presided for the regular meeting of the Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. E. Fisher with nine members and a visitor present. Miss Fines read a poem "God and My Garden".

The secretary, Mrs. S. Fuller, read the minutes and corresponded and also presented the financial report.

A reminder of the annual meeting of the Wellington County Historical Research Society at Ennottville Library on June 19, to which all are invited, was made.

The secretary reported a new shipment of centennial coffee spoons was on hand.

Due to the small number of members, it was decided not to enter a float at Erin Township Centennial Celebration.

Current events were given by each one present, providing a wide assortment of news.

Scripture reading, a new feature of the programs for the year, was given by Mrs. D. G. Robertson.

Excellent reports of the recent District Annual were given by Mrs. William Milton and Mrs. E. Archibald.

Roll Call was answered by a donation of plants or slips. These were later auctioned off by Mrs. A. McCrae, which proved quite a source of amusement, as would be green thumb gardeners, purchased plants, hoping for the best.

July and August are to be holiday months and the September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. Fines and Doris.

Mrs. William Milton, Mrs. K. Klooster and Mrs. A. McCrae, assisted the hostess in serving a delicious lunch.

E.M.O. rescue club starting Saturday

Bruce McGregor, Emergency Measures Organization co-ordinator for Halton County, hopes to begin a rescue training club this Saturday at 10 a.m.

Mr. McGregor said he hoped to have at least 12-15 people out, but he felt that this might be hard at this time of year. If this course shows promise he intends to initiate a communications course in August.

"Several people have expressed interest, including some St. John Ambulance men," Mr. McGregor said.

BURLINGTON

The Expo 67 centennial boom has spread as far as the Burlington economy.

C. H. Norton Bus Lines of Burlington are transporting two busloads of Expo visitors daily from Hamilton, Burlington and Oakville to the world's fair site.

The tours range from three to seven days, including accommodation in a modern downtown apartment-hotel.

The bus boom has caught even the Norton people by surprise. "We've had to buy two new streamlined coaches to handle the bookings," general manager Grant Norton said. "Response has been just tremendous."

The stainless steel coaches used are air-conditioned, have their own washroom facilities and reclining chairs.

Many tourists from Buffalo, Detroit and other U.S. cities have booked excursions on the Norton Lines, preferring to drive to this area and travel by bus the rest of the way.

The line operates a package deal offering transportation to Montreal, from hotel to fair site, and accommodation for a three-day minimum period. Some excursions last seven days.

MILTON

Swimmers who have enjoyed cooling dips in the town's centennial project mill pond for the past couple of weeks got their last swimming there on Monday of last week. That evening council decided to post the pond with "no swimming" signs in the interests of public safety. It has been a popular spot with youngsters since it was refilled with water last month, but councillors were afraid accidents might result and the town might be liable.

A $1,000 program of landscaping the property at the Mill Pond Centennial Project will be underway soon, following council's acceptance of Rainbow Landscaping's estimates.

While 1968 budget-setting time is more than 10 months away, councillor Brian Best went on record as being the first to predict an increase in Milton's 1968 mill rate. He mentioned ratepayers could expect a tax hike in '68 as a series of by-laws authorizing the town to issue debentures totalling $227,100 covering part of the cost of seven recent construction projects were approved by council.

As a result of a recent fatal accident at the junction of Hwy. 10 and 24 and the requests of several ratepayers, Caledon council has requested the DHO to erect stoplights in the village. This was decided at a recent meeting of Caledon Township Council. A copy of the request has been sent to Wm. Davis, M.P.P.

Erin Chamber of Commerce last week had new welcome signs to Erin installed on 24 Hwy. at the northern and southern approaches to the village. The new signs read "Welcome to Erin, just a little bit of heaven."

Research by the Erin Advocate has turned up the fact no less than five hotels have started in Erin. Only the Busholme Inn is left and it was believed to have been built as a hospital. The Station House, Queen's Hotel, the Clark House and the Glale Hotel were others. Three — Station House, Queen's and the Glale — suffered an affliction common in those days — fire which completely destroyed them.

Mayor John Campbell made an interesting observation at the recent meeting of the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities. He used hydro consumption figures as an indication of the growth of Fergus. He said that the hydro load for Fergus in 1962 was 3,907 kilowatts. Two years later, it had increased by about 15 per cent. By April of this year, it had gone up 80 per cent to 7,400 kw. and it is anticipated that by next year, when the first stage of the Noranda Copper Mills plant goes into operation, the consumption will be 11,400 kw. With further expansion in the town, His Worship predicted that by 1970, it will have reached 16,000 kw. This would mean that between 1962 and 1970, the hydro consumption in Fergus will increase 310 per cent.

OAKVILLE

Town council refused to force Oakville stores to close July 1, Canada's 100th birthday, despite protests by employees of some plaza stores.

Warning council not to become involved in any restrictive store closing by-law, Mayor Anderson said the individual's conscience should decide the issue.

William Brooks, administrator of Oak-Queen Plaza, said merchants intend to open as usual because they had planned a rodeo and to give free hot dogs and other gifts to shoppers.

Downtown merchants indicated they will close on July 1 so their employees can celebrate the country's 100th birthday.

Assessors meet

Halton assessors met together Thursday of last week in the Acton Music Centre, guests of Acton assessor Bill Erskine. The group had dinner and also inspected the new library and hydro building.
