

My Fair Ladies centennial ball on Friday

AUTHENTIC PATTERN was used to make June Hunter's gown for Friday dance. She held up her sweeping skirts with a loop when she danced with escort, husband Dave. (Staff Photo)

ALL IN COSTUME but one, ladies' fair board members previewed the costumes they'll wear at the centennial fair, at the fair board dance Friday. (Staff Photo)

GENTLEMEN OF the hour were Mel McCullough and Andy Frank who placed first and second in the competition for men at the centennial ball. (Staff Photo)

The Acton Free Press

Graceful waltzes suited the ladies' gowns best, but there was zesty square dancing, too, at the fair board centennial ball in the community centre Friday evening. Despite the day's heat, the arena was comfortably cool with a fine breeze for the special dance. About three-quarters of the ladies came in lovely copies of hundred-year-old fashions, a few of them accented by genuine heirloom brooches and lockets.

Gentlemen in costume weren't many, but those who were twirled their canes and tipped their hats for the judges during the grand parade.

Mrs. George Ironside, Silvercreek, spoke for fellow judges Mrs. A. Orr and Mrs. D. R. Dills when she awarded centennial pins and silver dollars, for first and second, to:

Best dressed couple: Mr. and Mrs. Stan Matthews; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davidson; lady, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. George Wallace; man, Mel McCullough, Andy Frank.

Mrs. Clifford Storey presented the prizes.

Fair board ladies assembled for their group photograph were Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd McLean, Mrs. Jesse McEnery, Mrs. D. Matthews, Mrs. R. L. Davidson, Mrs. J. McCulloch, Mrs. Bill McDonald, Mrs. W. Waldie, Mrs. Mel McCullough, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. Walter Linham, Mrs. Stan Matthews, Mrs. Ab Robinson, Mrs. C. Swackhamer, Mrs.

Lloyd McEnery, Mrs. Ed Archibald, Mrs. Clifford Storey, Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. J. Van Fleet, Mrs. Calvin Aitken, Mrs. Frank Freeman and Mrs. Don Brown.

The melodymen played, and there were spot and anniversary dances. The fair centennial committee arranged the very pleasant evening, well attended by a crowd of over 120.

BEST DRESSED COUPLES, holding their beribboned prizes, are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Matthews. Mrs. Davidson's medallion on a long chain pictures Queen Victoria, and other accessories were authentic antiques. Mrs. Matthews was dressed in cherry red taffeta with black lace. The Matthews placed first in the judging and the Davidsons second. (Staff Photo)

BEST WOMEN'S COSTUMES at the centennial ball were worn by Mrs. George Wallace and Mrs. Elmer Smith. Mrs. Wallace, who placed second, wore a copy of an old gown in brown taffeta, with family heirlooms as accessories. Mrs. Elmer Smith wore a rose gown over hoops with accents of lace and sequins. She was placed first by the judges. (Staff Photo)