Agreement

Council, Beardmore's exchange land lease new dump site for $1

Negotiations with Beardmore and Co. over a new dump site and arrangements for the company to use town water in the event dredging spoils Fairy lake water needed little discussion at council's Monday meeting before the two items were settled to council's satisfaction.

A motion carried accepting the recommendation of the special committee agreeing to a transfer of the present dump site (actual boundaries to be determined) in exchange for the land, as defined by the consulting engineer, required for the new sewage disposal plant from Beardmore's.

It was further resolved that the town lease from Beardmore and Co. for a 12 year period a new dumping area extending from the C. N. R. tracks to the old radial right of way, being approximately 250 feet in width with provision for an extension of the lease for a further 12 year period. Cost would be one dollar a year.

It was also agreed to supply Beardmore and Co. with approximately 200,000 gallons of water a day in the event the company would be unable to use water stirred up by dredging. Rate for the water would be 30¢ a thousand gallons.

Mayor L. Doby, Councillor Bob Drinkwater and clerk-administrator J. McGeachie met with W.J. Beatty and N. Braida of Beardmore and Co. to work the agreement out on proposals and counter proposals by both interested parties.

Councillor Drinkwater said he found the company representatives very obliging and co-operative. He felt the deal worked out was a "good sound" one and he urged acceptance.

The mayor outlined the agreement for water noting the company was prepared to pay the ordinary rate less the sewer rate.

Both the reeve and Councillor Ted Tyler Jr. agreed it was a good deal with Mr. Hinton observing he had talked with the president of Beardmore's and thought it was negotiable.

Mr. Hinton said he'd like to express complete confidence in Beardmore's but he recommended purchase of the dump site rather than transfer.

Mayor Doby outlined the company's reasons as being an attempt to avoid red tape in order to proceed quickly with the deal.

Prizes for the draws to be made at the arena Friday evening will be displayed in the Liberal Committee room downtown (former Watson Music Store) this week. Prizes consist of a lazy boy chair, set of five new tires mounted, a set of luggage, vacuum cleaner set and a transistor radio.

Shoppers are advised to ask for their coupons at supporting business places and be sure to fill them out and have them deposited before boxes are picked up Friday night.

Try to save some money if possible. Some day it may be valuable again.

Rev. A. McKenzie delegate to Toronto Tory convention

"It's an experience I wouldn't have missed for anything," said Rev. Andy McKenzie of the Progressive Conservative national convention in Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto.

Rev. Andy was one of five delegates from Halton who attended the convention which elected Robert Stanfield to head the party in place of John Diefenbaker.

"It was a real democratic choice," said the popular Knox church minister. "Most of the delegates were free to choose their own candidate."

Mr. McKenzie pointed out the two final candidates for the post, both provincial premiers, were very able men and a vote either way would be a good selection. He personally favored Duff Roblin.

Mr. McKenzie attended all sessions of the convention and didn't return home until late Saturday when the final selection was made.

He expects a big change in the climate at Ottawa when Bob Stanfield takes over the leadership. "Even the Liberals are anticipating it," he smiled.

Mr. McDonald's campaign will be based about the need for improvement in the educational system and the distribution of education.

He is married and has three children. They make their home in Burlington.

He held responsible positions with United Co-operatives of Ontario as well as executive positions in credit unions before returning to the teaching profession.

The N.D.P. candidate was the president of the York South C.C.F. group and district captain in 1949 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Shoppers happy with

Old Fashioned Days

Old Fashioned Days in Acton is going over in style, not only with the 37 business places participating but with shoppers.

Merchants and help are dressing up in old fashioned costume, with many staging sidewalk sales. Sales were so brisk at many places last week, stores were sold out of sidewalk sales merchandise and a special trip to Toronto to replenish supplies was made on Monday.

Prizes for the draws to be made at the arena Friday evening will be displayed in the Liberal Committee room downtown (former Watson Music Store) this week. Prizes consist of a lazy electric heating is clean, quiet, comfortable.. and costs less than you may think

Electric heating offers so many advantages, you might easily expect it to be expensive. Surprise. Electric heating is clean and quiet, yet comparable in cost to any automatic heating system. That's why people who live in electrically-heated homes aren't necessarily wealthy. Just comfortable.
