

Families in costume in centennial class

All dressed in shades of brown Mr. and Mrs. Ken Thomson and two boys of R. R. 2, Acton, won the $10 first prize for centennial families at the fair. The special for this year only was given by the Free Press. Mr. Thomson and his two sons wore cutaway coats and top hats, while the head of the family had a cane and matching beard. Mrs. Thomson wore a charming floral gown with parasol and bonnet to match.

In second place, despite the fact part of their entry was missing, was Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deah and family of Rockwood. They first entered the contest with two children; another girl with her long skirts flying ran up to join them on the platform but a fourth child never did make the competition.

Third came Mr. and Mrs. John Creasey and two children of Acton.

Fourth was Marvin Hunter of R.R. 1, Acton, escorting his sister-in-law, Mrs. David Hunter in her gown made from an authentic pattern, with two children - one his, one hers - cousins Tammy and Jimmy.

In fifth place were Mr. and Mrs. William McLean and family, R.R. 1, Glen Williams and in sixth place Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frank of Milton and two granddaughters in pretty print gowns.

Show quilting in W.I. booth

One of the unique features of the Acton Fall Fair was the practical demonstration of quilting by members of Dublin Women's Institute. Many stopped and watched the women working on this quilt during the afternoon and were interested with the handwork.

There were cash prizes for all entrants. Judges were former mayor George Barbeau, Toronto; Joyce and Jack Carpenter.

At five o'clock a lucky ticket was drawn by Mrs. Melvin McCullough, President of the Lady Directors of Acton Fall Fair Board, Miss Mary Moffat, R. R. 2, Rockwood, was the fortunate winner of this beautiful quilt. All plans of this demonstration were finalized by the Quilt Committee of the Dublin Women's Institute composed of Mrs. G. Robertson, Mrs. W. Frank, G. Robertson, Mrs. G. Collins, Mrs. W. McIntyre, Mrs. J. A. Van Fleet and Mrs. D. Moffat.

The Chamber of Commerce is trying to arrange another "Meet the Candidates" night.

Scout News

All the hard work on the float really paid off. We won first prize with it, $25.00! It should enable us to buy a patrol tent.

District camp will be held Sept. 29 (Friday evening) Sept. 30 and October 1st. It is centered on physical fitness, allowing every scout to pass the physical fitness badge. It will be held on Mr. Mansell Nellis' property about two miles south of Highway, Elbe Spring Line. Both Saturday and Sunday parents may visit their son if they wish. The cost will be $4 per scout.

The recruits and upcoming cubs have been informed that in order to go to camp they must have passed their hand-foot badge. This is not a special measure for this camp. The scout badge is a minimum requirement for all camps.

So, recruits and cubs get with it, this Thursday and next Thursday you will get plenty of time to pass the eight requirements.
