LIMEHOUSE

Laymen take part in service visitor back after 32 years

By Mrs. A. Benton

Visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noble and family of Hamilton visited with the James Noble's a week ago. Mrs. Johnson of Thornloe, who moved from the village thirty-two years ago, visited Mrs. Meredith and Mrs. Noble one day last week.

Mrs. George Pearson and Mr. Wilfred Crozier of Milton spent Sunday with the A. W. Benton's a week ago.

Mrs. S. Smith of Weston has been with her sister Mrs. Paterson.

The Young People's group met in the Limehouse Presbyterian church early Sunday evening.

The Popt families held an engagement party in Limehouse Memorial Hall in honor of Miss Marianne Poot and Mr. Abel Frankfurter recently.

We extend sympathy to Mrs. McDonald and family and to his brothers and sisters in the very sudden passing of Russell on Saturday. Burial was from Rumley-Shoemaker Funeral Home in Acton on Monday, to Limehouse Cemetery.

On Laymen's Sunday, in the absence of Rev. F. N. Young, several elders assisted in the service at Limehouse Presbyterian Church for a first time in history. A. W. Benton conducted the service, K. C. Lindsay reading Scripture and A. C. Patterson had the long Prayer.

Rev. Bakson of Georgetown preached the sermon. The choir, directed by Mrs. Bert Benton and with Mrs. Roughley at the organ, sang an anthem during the offering.

Mrs. Mitchell, president of Limehouse Presbyterian Church W.M.S., presided for the fall thank-offering meeting in the church on Sunday evening. Scripture was read by Mrs. Bert Benton on behalf of the young peoples group and Mrs. James Noble led in prayer. Misses Betty Ann and Mary Lou Brown sang two lovely duets, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "I know A Name; It's Jesus". Mrs. A. W. Benton introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Harold Mahatoo of Guelph, who teaches at Brookville. He told of the geographical, historical, educational and religious set-up of the densely populated but economically progressive island of Trinidad. Born and educated there, he is descended from East Indian parentage, which nationality shares the large percentage of population with African Negro descendants. The majority of Negroes are Roman Catholic, while the later generations of East Indians are chiefly Presbyterian or United Church of Canada.

In spite of crowded and poorly equipped schools some very clever students have gone out to further education. Prior to 1962 the chief goal was college in Great Britain, but since independence, Canada is attractive. They are very grateful to the great help extended through the years by Canada, especially the Presbyterian Church Missions. Since immigrating here he has become a Canadian citizen and feels he has been well treated and is ready to thank Canada publicly at any time. As a tourist attraction he told of the tropical growth, very good beaches, the asphalt lake and the scant danger of severe hurricanes.

Mr. Mahatoo showed numerous slides, assisted by his brother-in-law, of their native land and of his wife and family. Mrs. Sanford thanked the speaker, the singers and others contributing to the success, even if only by their attendance, of the evening. Rev. F. N. Young pronounced the Benediction and all enjoyed a social half hour downstairs after.

The name chosen for the Club is "Ospringe Woolly Workers." Brenda Bruce called the roll, answered by "Show a sample of material and tell why you think it is wool."

Judy Ellis demonstrated how to take measurements for a skirt or jumper.

The leaders Mrs. R. Ellis and Mrs. D. Milton led in a discussion on different weaves of material, choosing material, color, or design and pattern for skirts.

The girls divided into groups of two and measured each other for pattern size.

The hostess served cookies and juice at the conclusion of the meeting.

The third meeting of the "Ospringe Woolly Workers" was held at the home of Mrs. R. Ellis.
