The Free Press Acton, Ont.

Dear Editor: Premier Roberts in his speech turning down medicare, in referring to the two provinces (N.B. and P.E.L) claiming inability to afford their 50 percent of the cost, said: "Like the starving man offered a loaf of bread for five cents, it means nothing if he lacks the five cents." He felt that "we could not, in all conscience, take advantage of a plan in which the cost of medical care in Ontario would be subsidized by tax revenue raised in other provinces who have indicated that Rockwood 856-4246 their resources are not sufficient 856-4373 to permit them to pay that portion of the planthat would be their responsibility." That statement is a bit confusing to me but I wouldn't mind giving the starving

Also from the east coast comes evidence of progressive thinking. Premier Smith of Nova Scotia recently indicated that his government has calculated on a $15 million a year expenditure or medicare.
