Legion minor hockey banquet toasts the '67-'68 season

PHOTOS AND STORY BY JOHN McNABB

Acton's Legion Minor Hockey committee toasted off the '67-'68 season last Saturday afternoon when they played host to all the teams competing in this year's league at their annual hockey banquet in the Legion Auditorium.

Team trophies as well as individual trophies were passed out during the program, only after the kids, coaches and managers enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner prepared by mothers of the players.

Toastmaster Gord McCutcheon introduced the members at the head table including Bill Buchanan, minor sports committee member, Gord James president of Branch 197 Canadian Legion, Bob Loutlet, chairman of the Legion Minor Sports committee, Charlie Thomson chief statistician and back-bone of the minor hockey and special guest Gil Malcolm who spoke briefly to the boys on the sport of soccer which he is presently trying to promote in Acton.

In the four different divisions consisting of atoms, novice, pee wee and bantam, categories for trophies consisted of team trophy, high scorer and most improved player.

Bob Loutlet presented the trophies to the Atom division winners. Jeff Shields accepted the John Kenner trophy on behalf of Murray Scoypp's Weston team champions. High scoring trophy went to Scott Malcolm and the Alec Johnson Trophy for most improved player went to Jeff Shields.

Team captain Ricky Baginski received the Tom Watson trophy from Bill Buchanan on behalf of coach Clarence Hill's novice champion Niagara Falls. The Claude Pipher Trophy for most improved player in this division went to Steve Brunelle while Rick Baginski collected the high scorer's gold.

Charlie Thomson handed Jim McNabb the Acton Creamery Trophy which he accepted on behalf of Baltimore, the pee wee champs. Bill McKnight and Ken Marshall coached the bantam team through the season. High scorer's trophy went to Dave Forrester and the Acton Legion trophy for the most improved player was earned by Charlie McCrae.

In the bantam division Randy Marsh, captain of the Hershey team, accepted the George Molozzi Trophy. Roy Swan coached the bantam squad to victory.

Ron Loutlet copped the high scoring trophy this year and the Gordie James trophy for the most improved player went to Gord Murray.

This year there were three new trophy categories.

Don Marzo presented the Acton Industrial Minerals trophy for the most improved goalkeeper to David Salt.

Don Ford, representing the Referees' Association, presented their trophy for the most gentlemanly player to Mike Ferguson and Treth Armstrong presented the Armstrong Trophy for the most popular player on the Bantam Four Town Tournament team to Steve Connell.

Minor sports chairman Bob Loutlet promised the organization of a midget team for next season's schedule and prompts any eligible player to join.

An appreciative night was held by the Legion for the coaches, managers and supporters of minor hockey here in Acton, on Friday night.

POET'S CORNER

Where are the loved ones we grieved for so deep,
As they passed through this life on their way,
And finally entered that era of sleep,
Which we all have to enter one day.

Oh! How we mourned them and grieved as they went,
As our own little world seemed so dead,
And we speak of them kindly, without a harsh word
As their time on our earth has been spent.

Flowers and tombstones with words etched upon,
Serve to bear in our minds through the years;
The passing of loved ones forever now gone,
Bring back memories, worries and tears.

And we always remark on their kindest ways,
Never speaking of faults in our pain,
As we always forget their perpetual gaze,
From the warm earthy place where they're laying.

But they watch o'er us still from the Heavens above,
And they walk all the time by our side;
In memory, in matte, unseen, and with love
They serve ever more as our guide.

For their souls are with God, and their bodies but dust,
And their spirits are with us in prayer;
Though they've left us in person, they're with us in trust,
And they, too, grieve at our loss and care.

But always remember that though they are gone,
To a Heaven of glory and grace,
Some day we will join them and gaze thereupon
The Lord's precious, infinite face!
