Permits total $875,280

More homes under construction but apartments still up in air

Everything is coming up houses in Acton this month.

Building permits for homes totalling $875,280 have been approved by Building Inspector E. T. Marks for construction by three major companies.

However, there has been no official word about the construction of apartment buildings as yet.

According to Mr. Joe Hurst, acting Town Clerk, "We think there are to be two going up on the Beverly property behind Frederick Street, but we have no definite word."

Although there has been speculation about an apartment on Churchill Road, no application for a building permit has been received at the town office.

The permits for homes granted, range from $12,000 to $19,000. However, Mr. Hurst points out that this is by no means an accurate estimate of the final cost of the houses.

Seven foundations have been laid on Cobblehill Road by the Monex Construction Company, and a total of 29 houses are under construction by Rubin Corporation in Lakewood subdivision. In addition, A and Z Construction is putting up eight homes in Lakewood.

The sudden burst in activity comes after several months of delay. Contractors were prepared to work in the spring, but lacked available capital to go ahead.

Apparently there has been some relaxation in the granting of mortgages for homes.

Hike? — try Bruce Trail

The Bruce Trail Association announced that their hiking association will be leading rambles, nature hikes on Saturday July 13 as their contribution to Conservation Week in Halton.

Starting at Rattlesnake Point, Conservation Area, located on No 10 road, two miles west of Highway 25, hikers of all ages will be led over a two-mile loop in the Bruce Trail which runs through the buffalopreserve operated by the Halton Region Conservation Authority.

Hikes will be guided by members of the Bruce Trail and will start at the picnic shelter at Rattlesnake located on the south section of the Area. The Club will set up a display booth in the picnic shelter, and are certain that many nature enthusiasts will want to enquire about the club.

Extending for 450 miles along the Niagara Escarpment, the Bruce Trail is one of the most popular routes of exploration of woodland and creeks for outdoor enthusiasts of all ages.

POET'S CORNER

TODAY
By David E. Cohen

It is not always what we were,
Or how we lived, or what we've been,
But rather, what we make ourselves,
A pauper, or a miser mean.

It is not just what people say,
Some things that hurt, and most unkind,
But 'tis the lesson which we learn,
When we, our inner-selves do find.

It is not all the things we see,
Nor all the things we learn to know,
But how we use those useful things,
These are the things which really show.

It is not words which people say,
That cause the turmoil and the strife,
But 'tis acceptance of these things,
Which form for us a better life.

It is not here that matters much,
But how we live, and where we go,
And Heaven is our greatest prize,
When we, His Word, shall learn to know.

Put all your troubles in a ball,
And cast them from you far away,
For Yesterday is gone forever,
Live now only for Today.

Presently renting an old house on Hugh St. in Milton, Halton's Children's Aid Society is making plans for the future and has engaged an architect to draft a preliminary plan for a new building.

TRAIN PERSONNEL

There are more than 100 known causes of mental retardation. Science has begun to find some preventive methods in some cases. One of the areas of activity of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children is the sponsoring of scientists and the provision of leadership training for professional personnel.

Architect Donald Skinner has come up with a design for a split-level, square building incorporating office space, a board room, observation room, interview rooms and storage areas. C.A.S. President Reeve A. Ledwith of Milton reports. The Society has already studied the plans and has forwarded them to County Council's property committee for consideration. The topic is on the committee's agenda for a meeting later this week.

To date no specific site has been considered by the Society, Reeve Ledwith said.

The south elevation of the building is shown in architect Skinner's drawing, above.

Fire bureau

Hydro inspectors give safety talk

Two electrical inspectors from Ontario Hydro brought a timely message to the June meeting of Halton County Fire Prevention Bureau, held in Milton Fire Hall last week.

Approval markings on the electrical equipment and appliances you buy for your home mean the appliances or equipment, under normal use, will not create a fire hazard, the inspectors told Bureau members from Halton's five fire departments. They cited CSA—Canadian Standards Association; CGA—Canadian Gas Association; and ULC—Underwriters Laboratories of Canada as the safety marks to look for when buying electrical equipment.

The CSA, CGA or ULC stamp is your assurance the appliance or equipment has been tested and proven safe. Inspectors R. Enderfield and I.T. McKenzie of Hydro's Niagara Region field electrical approvals department told the Bureau.

"Ontario Hydro has always been a leader in electrical safety, and some 200 electrical inspectors in Ontario have undoubtedly saved thousands of lives" by their thorough inspections of electrical inspections of homes, institutes and commercial buildings, Mr. McKenzie said.

He urged Bureau members to report any unsafe installations or appliances to Hydro's special inspections branch or a local inspector. "Reporting it could be a lot easier than putting out the fire it could cause," he said. A discussion followed on new regulations covering underwater lights and electrical installations on swimming pools.

This Advertising Code is your protection

False or Misleading Advertising—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which contains false, misleading, unwarranted or exaggerated claims—either directly or by implication. Advertisers and advertising agencies must be prepared to substantiate their claims.

Public Decency—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which is vulgar, suggestive or, in any way, offensive to public decency.

Superstitions and Fears—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which is calculated to exploit the superstitions, or to play on fears to mislead the consumer into the purchase of the advertised commodity or service.

Exploitation of Human Misery—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which offers false hope in the form of a cure or relief for the mental or physically handicapped, either on a temporary or permanent basis.

Price Claims—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which makes misleading or inaccurate presentations of actual and comparative prices.

Testimonials—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which contains false or misleading testimonials, or which does not reflect the real choice of the person giving the testimonial. Advertisers and agencies must be prepared to produce evidence in support of the claims made in any testimonial advertisement.

Disparaging Claims—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which unfairly disparages products or services of other advertisers. Substantiation is always required where comparisons are made with competing products or services.

Professional or Scientific Claims—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which distorts the true meaning of statements made by professionals or scientific authorities. Advertising claims should not be made to appear to have a scientific basis they do not truly possess. Scientific terms, technical quotations, etc., should be used in general advertising only with a full sense of responsibility to the lay public.

Guarantees—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, offering a guarantee or warranty, unless the guarantee or warranty is fully explained as to the name of the guarantor or warrantor, conditions and limits, or if it is indicated where such information can be obtained.

Advertising to Children—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which would result in damage—physical, mental or moral—to children.

Imitation—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which deliberately imitates the copy, slogans, or illustrations of other advertisers and is apt to mislead the consumer.

Bait Advertising—No advertisement shall be prepared, or be knowingly accepted, which does not give the consumer a fair opportunity to purchase the goods or services advertised at the terms or prices represented.

SPECIAL NOTE: The Advertising Code embraces those areas in which it is possible to make an objective appraisal of advertising content. It does not extend to the subjective area of taste, which is difficult to pinpoint, and in which personal judgment plays such an important part. Nevertheless, the participating organizations agree to discourage, wherever possible, the use of advertising of questionable taste, or which is deliberately irritating in its content or method of presentation.

The Canadian Code of Advertising Standards was adopted for your protection. It has now been accepted as the minimum standard for advertising ethics by leading national advertisers, their advertising agencies, and all media groups across Canada. If you are interested in a personal copy, please write: The Advertising Standards Council, Canadian Advertising Advisory Board, 159 Bay St., Toronto 1, Ontario.
