

White, yellow color scheme for Papillon-Nicholas vows

In a double-ring ceremony in St. Joseph's church on May 25, Joan Ann Nicholas became the bride of David John Papillon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholas, Whitney, Ontario; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Papillon, Acton.

Yellow and white mums decorated the church for the 2:30 p.m. ceremony conducted by the Rev. V.J. Morgan. Mrs. James Bradshaw played the organ and the bride and groom sang "This Day-0 Beautiful Mober".

The bride wore a traditional long gown of white peau-de-sele with a floor length train and a flowing shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Joan Bowers, Toronto, was maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Sherry Morris, Acton. They wore yellow floor-length gowns with matching trains. The flower girl, Sheryl Papillon, daughter of the groom's brother, wore a white floor-length dress.

Their bouquets were balls of white and yellow daisy mums, swinging from ribbons.

Ring bearer was Craig Gordon, nephew of the groom.

John McNabb was groomsman. Ushers were Jerry Nicholas, Steve Caswell and Kenneth Papillon.

The reception was held at the Legion Hall, with guests present from Acton, Whitney, Toronto, St. Catharines, Kitchener and Oshawa.

The couple left for Toronto, Montreal, New York and Niagara Falls, the bride wearing a shocking pink coat and dress and gardenia corsage. They are
