Dosage is critical

Parasite control in sheep, lambs

A build-up of internal parasites in sheep and lambs on summer pasture can be a serious problem. This is particularly true when there is plenty of moisture. In controlling these parasites, broad spectrum anthelmintics, particularly Thiabendazole and Minitic or Promintic, are commonly recommended.

Since there is some evidence that parasites can develop a resistance to these, if used continuously, it is common practice to also use Phenothiazine in the worming program sometime during the year. Phenothiazine can be used in the spring of the year before the flock goes to grass, one of the other drugs in the summer, and the third in the fall.

Precautions must be taken to administer these drugs carefully, and particularly with Minitic, the dosage level appears to be critical. The recommended dosage (based on a weight approximation) was recently administered to the O.A.C. Sheep Flock. No ill effects were noted in mature ewes or rams, either on dry feed or on pasture. However, seven lambs on pasture from a total of 64, died within one half to two hours after receiving the drug.

Eighteen lambs on dry feed were given the same dosage with no adverse effects. Lambs died with some respiratory distress and severe depression of the central nervous system. There is no antidote for this drug. There is no satisfactory explanation for the deaths in the lambs on pasture but not on dry feed.

In view of this experience, the following precautions are recommended with Minitic. Lambs must be weighed and the recommended dosage administered as they come off the scales. While the toxic level is reported to be twice the dose, it appears that other factors may influence the toxic level. In addition, this drug should not be used if sheep or lambs have received any of

A Tory, maybe?

"It must have been a Tory," Halton's newly-elected M. P. Rud Whiting of Oakville was saying Wednesday afternoon of last week, when his car received $75 damage in a hit-and-run accident on Main St., Milton.

The M. P. was having a dinner meeting with a local Liberal party official, Mayor Brian Best at the Milton Inn and his car was parked in front of a store, owned by another staunch Liberal — Reeve Austan Ledwith. After lunch Mr. Whiting returned to his car to find the left side badly crumpled.

Bystanders apparently copied down the hit-and-run driver's licence number and later in the day Const. Len Pickett of Milton Police apprehended and charged the culprit — a Cooksville man, who didn't even have a vote in the June election in Halton riding.

FARM PRODUCTION UP Gross value of Ontario farm production totalled $1,400,000,000 in 1967 an 8 per cent gain over the previous year. Average prices received by farmers were generally better than in 1966, with vegetables increasing by 10 to 12 per cent, and fruits by 5 per cent.

Air seven grievances at township council

Nassagaweya council has advised the Committee of Adjustment for the township to act more promptly on notifying applicants of the committee's decisions. The recommendation was made at the last regular meeting of council August 6, following severe criticism of several of the township officials. Mr. and Mrs. R. Dudnik of R.R. 1, Moffat conveyed their grievances to council both in a written letter and by a personal visit to council.

The letter was broken into seven divisions, each making a separate request or demand.

The first request was the removal of Chairman Maurice Newton from the Committee of Adjustment as well as Doug Beattie who is a member of that committee.

The letter suggested the number of members on the committee be increased, requested a by-law to control barking dogs, and insisted there must be a larger fire truck than the one presently in existence.

The letter implied township workers Mrs. Vera Cockram, Building Inspector S. W. Savage and Clerk J. C. McIntyre had given Mrs. Dudnik misleading information.

The letter also urged action to prohibit Don Miles from burning and wrecking cars. Mr. Miles lives near the Dudniks.

Council read the written complaints and listened to Mrs. Dudnik.

Mrs. Dudnik's largest grievance was against the committee of adjustment which had turned down her application for a land separation. She was even further upset when the committee took 23 days to notify her of their decision.

Mrs. Dudnik complained the deadline for the proposed sale was June 30.

Following the committee's refusal Mrs. Dudnik was advised to appeal to the O.M.B. but failed to do so in the 14 day period allowed.

Her only recourse now is to pay $25 to the Committee to be heard once more, and then appeal to the O.M.B. if her application is turned down again.

Mrs. Dudnik vowed the township would be billed for $260 that she and her husband had spent on a plan of the area submitted to the committee. Mrs. Dudnik insisted that she had been advised a plan was necessary and now believes it is not really necessary at all if a sketch is presented.

Marshall's office checks the condition of fire fighting equipment. "I've sufficient faith that if the Fire Department knew the truck was in poor shape they would say so."

"Besides," said Mr. Lawson, "it can't be in such poor shape if what a gentleman here said at a nomination meeting is true."

At this point Councillor Lawson reiterated his intention to resign from the Georgetown Area and was requested by the reeve to write it out as a resolution. He did so, but when the reeve read the resolution out, Mr. Lawson's fellow councillors, polled by Mr. Currie, refused to accept it.

"You are still on the committee, Bob," Reeve Currie decided. "They won't accept your resignation."

It was agreed, however, to check out the truth of the stories about the fire truck's condition.

FIGHT RETARDATION

This is Canadian Retarded Children's Week in Canada and the Canadian Association for Retarded Children stresses that 16,000 children born each year and every year are, or are destined to be, mentally retarded. Mental retardation is the greatest single chronic disability among our children today. Join in the war against this problem and help find the causes and prevention of mental retardation. Support the work of the North Halton Association for the Mentally Retarded in every way possible.

WHAT IS T.V.

By David E. Cohen

T.V. is a jumble of wires, coils and tubes, in a box that is colored and gay. It is mute on its own, and unless it's switched on, it has nought whatsoever to say.

But just plug in the cable and switch on the switch, just juggle the buttons and dial. Then adjust a few gadgets and twiddle some knobs, and a picture comes through in a while.

You can have lots of fun, and many a smile, with a reasonable amount of margin. Between the commercials, which seem to go on, with a non-ending technical jargon.

All in all, it's a pleasure, for both young and old, "Till you're addicted and just sit there yawning; watching the late show, its mysteries unfold, in the very wee hours of the morning.

For T.V. is a gadget, befuddling the mind, and in sleep leaves you tossing and turning. But taken in very small doses, I find, it's a great source of knowledge and learning.
