

Esquering Council meeting

Approve addition for Pineview

Approval for a $411,700 addition to Pineview Public School was given Esquering Public School Board Monday as township council held their regular August meeting.

The project will now be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for their approval.

At council's previous meeting two school board representatives had outlined the pressing need for rooms at Pineview, noting there would be an additional 210 students entering the already crowded structure north of Hornby in the fall of 1969.

The 10 room addition will include six regular classrooms, one primary opportunity room, one kindergarten room, one library, one general purpose room, two change rooms and a health room.

Grants of $356,512 are available on the project as well as a 50 per cent grant on furniture, which means township residents would have to furnish approximately $40,000 for the project.

A by-law authorizing the borrowing of $75,000 from the Capital Aid Corporation for an addition to Glen Williams Public School was also passed.

A tense few moments of discussion between a representative of the Back St. area of Glen Williams and council resulted in a decision by Esquering to seek authorization from the Ontario Department of Highways to order a Glen resident to install a culvert in his driveway.

Esquering plans to take control of maintenance of the new Glen Crescent Drive, following the closing of Back Street.

Four of the five residents of the street have installed their culverts, but the fifth is awaiting authoritative word before taking any action.

It was noted that although the residents have been paying taxes on the property, and are presumably owner of the homes, they do not hold deeds to their land.

Reeve George Currie stated no takeover of the road would be made until all culverts have been placed.

Ontario Land Surveyor Fred Cunningham and engineer Ron Materick, reporting on the bridge repair on No. 17 Sideroad, stated additional land will have to be purchased from residents neighboring the site.

Council decided to appoint a representative to contact landowners and negotiate for the purchase.

Representation was made by C. F. Leatherland on behalf of Arthur Colbourne, who wishes to purchase from the township a road allowance west of Highway 25, just south of Speyside, which was closed off when the highway was straightened for safety reasons some years ago.

A request from the Town of Milton to install water service in land presently owned by Esquering, but soon to become part of the town's annexed territory, was granted.

The land includes the new Beaver Lumber plant, presently under construction, whose owners are urgently wanting assurance of fire protective water resources for the future, and Star Steel.

It was learned that two separate complaints from township residents concerning rocks rolled onto the Fourth Line and a washout on the Fifth Line had been dealt with by the roads department prior to the meeting.

Another letter from Milton noted several suggested evenings for a meeting between Esquering and Milton officials to discuss the Milton-Heights water problem had been unsatisfactory to one or the other, and requested Esquering set an evening sometime in early September.

O.M.B. will likely grant 69 Esquering acres...

Mr. Leatherland reiterated his contention that the land not used for the cemetery would be used for a subdivision because of the housing shortage in Acton.

Mr. Shives declared the township could take comfort in the fact that if the town attempted to make the land a garbage disposal site it would mean another public hearing, whose objections would be heard.

Further discussion revealed the township realized only $61 a year taxes on the property, which had no occupants.

The chairman stated it would be difficult for the town to zone the property until it was officially part of the town and the other O.M.B. member suggested the date for annexation be set ahead to Oct. 1 rather than Jan. 1. This would enable the town to ask for an R 1, or R 2 zone at the next hearing when amendment to the zoning will be heard.

The chairman concluded by intimating that the proposal would be accepted but the O.M.B. must reserve its decision until it can be put in written report.

Drivers simulate Russian roulette

The O.P.P. report a total of 184 hours worked during which 832 miles were logged, resulted in twelve charges being laid for traffic offences, 14 warnings issued for various violations and one vehicle being safely checked.

There were three motor vehicle accidents investigated in which the total damage was $1565.00.

There were nine occurrences reported including the above accidents. The remainder were three thefts of bicycles, one malicious damage, one break and entering, one other than criminal.

Two persons were charged while consuming liquor while under the age of twenty-one years.

In Magistrate's Court August 12, at Milton, five convictions were registered with fines totalling $50.00.

The game of "guess what I'm going to do next", which some drivers seem to think is fun, is about as dangerous as Russian Roulette. You want to know what other drivers intend to do, and they have a right to know what you intend to do. Hand signals, brake lights and turn indicators are devised so drivers can help each other keep out of trouble. Many drivers neglect proper timing in signalling. If signals are to be effective, they must be given soon enough and long enough for other motorists to see and act on them.
