Milton Brick urges townships develop own water system

Representatives of the Milton Brick Company told Esquering Council Monday that they would like to participate in a proposed scheme to supply water to Milton Heights and made it clear the company favored developing a municipal water system for Esquering and Nassagaweya rather than accept water from the Milton system.

Peter K. McWilliams, solicitor representing the company, said Milton Brick would co-operate in every way to assist the townships to set up their own water system, from which the company would like to draw water.

Mr. McWilliams was accompanied by J. T. Blune, president of Milton Brick, and another company representative.

Referring to past negotiations between the two townships and Milton, Mr. McWilliams said he realized from his own experience that Milton Council could be difficult to deal with. The solicitor also said he was aware there was lots of water in the area where Milton had drilled its well and the system could handle any amount of water Esquering could want.

Mr. Blune suggested the situation in Milton Heights could reach the point where it could become a "health situation." His company is considering expansion but it would depend on the amount of water available. The company has to "drain water for drinking now and has some reservoirs for industrial use."

Councillor Pat Patterson asked point blank: "Does this mean we are going into the water business?"

Deputy-Reeve Tom Hill explained to the delegation that the committee from the two townships was awaiting a report from the engineer and it would be wise to pursue his suggestions.

Councillor Bob Lawson felt the township could not just step in and do what they wanted since Milton had the well drilled and paid for it.

"Legally, there's nothing to stop Nassagaweya or Esquering from drilling a well in the vicinity of Milton's well," countered Mr. McWilliams. Milton owns only a small part of the land there, he said, and has no monopoly on the water.

"The Milton well is in the Nassagaweya area and you shouldn't have to take a back seat to them," he told council.

Mr. Lawson felt, however, that if the Ontario Water Resources Commission knows there are copious amounts of water in the area of the Milton well, all three municipalities should participate in one well.

Mr. McWilliams didn't agree. "Eventually you could be in a position to supply Milton with water," he said. He also claimed the Milton pipeline to the well was too small to meet future needs.

"You could very well find that if Milton needs the water in the future they could cut you off," Mr. McWilliams warned.

Both Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Blune reminded council Milton Brick was a "substantial taxpayer" in the township. They predicted a good source of water could mean expansion for the company and creation of industrial sites for other industry.

Council and the delegation pored over a map pointing out suggested routes for a pipeline before Councillor Lawson suggested the O.W.R.C. should be contacted for its views. Then, he stated, would be the time to have a meeting with all the participating bodies.

Council told the delegation their suggestion would be considered before the township committed itself on any water agreement.
