Do-it-yourself sod turning

at Sheridan Oakville site

Sheridan College will hold a "do-it-yourself" sod-turning ceremony at its new Oakville campus site on Monday, Nov. 4 at 2 p.m.

Bulldozers and/or backhoes from the heavy equipment school at Milton, an affiliate of this Halton Peal community college, will probably be driven by a hard-hatted Bill Davis, Minister of Education for the province of Ontario, or J. A. Turner, chairman of the Sheridan board of governors, or both, during the ceremony.

The event takes place at the 102-acre site on Trafalgar Rd., immediately north of Queen Elizabeth Way, south of Upper Middle Rd. in Oakville.

The Hon. William Davis was expected to officiate at the ceremony, but college officials were awaiting his return from Scotland before receiving confirmation of his attendance. Sheridan President John M. Porter will speak.

Members of the college's board of governors, presidents of community colleges in Ontario, principals of Halton-Peel secondary schools, school board officials, mayors and reeves of municipalities, representatives from the college's consulting architect, and other dignitaries have been invited to participate.

The Sheridan Student Senate, comprising 25 members, will represent students' interest at the sod-turning.

The ceremony will signal the start of the $3,000,000 Visual Arts Building's construction, as Phase 1A of a four-year program that will see the completion of a five-building radially designed college destined to hold 5,000 students.

Visual Arts students, presently housed in one of the college's campuses at Brampton, are expected to occupy the new building by September of 1969.

Current budget restrictions are not expected to interfere with Sheridan's development, as financial commitments have already been made by the provincial government.

Refreshments will be served at the site.

Honor warden at dinner Fri.

Halton's 1968 Warden Reeve William F. Hunter of Georgetown will be honored by fellow Halton councillors and county officials at the annual Warden's Dinner, being held this Friday evening in Georgetown Legion.

Toasts to the Warden, the county council and the past wardens are slated for the program. The speeches and presentations will follow a dinner.

Puppy winner justifies name

Terhardt's Winner, the local German Shepherd puppy which thinks its name is its destiny, was judged "best in breed" at the St. Barnard Club of Canada Sanction Show in Thornhill defeating approximately 25 other Shepherd pups. It was Winner's fifth win in a row.

On the previous weekend he took "best puppy in breed" at the Greenwood Kennel Club show in Toronto.

At the same show his owner Miss Laura Treble, R. R. 1, Georgetown, also had wins handling two local canines. Kobi's Grand Watcher went 'best of Winners'. Saturday, completing his championship with points to spare. And Sunday Mt. Blanc's Binky, a Keeshund, gained two more championship points going 'best of breed'.

Kobi's Grand Watcher is owned by John Van Der Meer, R. R. 1, Limeshouse, and Mr. Blanc's Binky is Miss Treble's.
