Honeymoon trip to Nassau follows marriage in Welland

A wedding trip to Nassau followed the marriage on Oct. 7 of Sandra Mary Della Valle and William Gordon Bestward of Rockwood, at St. Mary's Church, Welland. Rev. d. Grecco officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony and Mrs. P. Guzza, organist played the wedding music.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrea Della Valle, Hellems' Ave., Welland, are the bride's parents and the groom is the grandson of Mr.

and Mrs. J. Douglas McNabb of Rockwood. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

A floor-length gown of French cut velvet was worn by the bride. It was styled on empire lines with cowl neckline and long full sleeves with three-quarter-length sleeves with rolled cuffs, and empire bodice. The skirt was floor-length. She wore a bow in her hair of matching green velvet with bronze trim and her bouquet was of yellow roses and bronze mums.

Charles Andrew of Guelph was best man and ushering were Alan and Peter Gormaker of Hamilton. A reception was held at the Rex Hotel, Welland.

For travelling the bride chose a red dress, navy blue cape and matching hat. They are residing in Welland.

Guests were present from (Jule, South America; Hamilton, Guelph, Rockwood, Sarma, Windsor and Philadelphia, Penna., and Acton.

Kathie Lynch president Acton 4-H Homemaking Club

Acton 4-H Homemaking Club commenced on Oct. 15. "The Third Meal" deals literally with "everything from soup to nuts." The members learn how to prepare meat dinners, fish dinners, and a variety of salads and desserts.

Leader once again is Mrs. Lynch and assistant leader is Mrs. McNaughton. During the first meeting held at the home of Mrs. Lynch, officers were elected:

President, Kathie Lynch; vice-president, Diana DeVries; treasurer, Shirley Sayers; secretary, Carrie Maxwell; reporter, Mary Ann Freiler.

Other members are Shirley Joque and Linda Sayers. The name is "Seven Little Chefs" which shows a true picture of this club.

Meetings are held weekly at the home of each member. The girl who is the host, also has to demonstrate the recipe of her choice, which has been printed in the members' pamphlet.

On Saturday, Nov. 2, the Seven Little Chefs held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Lynch. Guest for the meal was Mrs. Williams, the Home Economist. The noon menu was tomato soup, chicken salad, tuna casserole, garlic bread, tossed salad, snow pudding with custard sauce, chocolate chip cookies, lemon cheese cake and coffee. The meal proved to be quite successful and it was enjoyed by all those who attended.

Plans are now being made for Achievement Day to be held on December 14. Topic for a demonstration is "Tossed Salad for a Buffet Dinner". Each member will be taking part in this in some form.

Footnotes on Beth's Birthday Party:
Two weeks ago I was spending a fair bit of time planning my daughter's eleventh birthday party and doing a lot of worrying about how everything would go. The party was a success—no spills, no breakages, no arguments, a lot of laughter, and so much politeness I was amazed!

I had left planning the games until the last minute, hoping that the weather would be nice enough that the girls could spend an hour or so, out in the pasture riding the pony, but it was so cold and miserable that I hadn't the heart to keep them outside any longer than half an hour. I thought that a short treasure hunt would use up some of their energy and sent each one out with a paper lunch bag on which I had typed a list of things that they were to find—a cedar twig, a dandelion leaf, a horse hair, a goose feather, a thistle leaf, etc. I happened to glance out of the window a few minutes after they had shot out of the door, and saw them descending in a horde upon the pony belonging to our neighbors. I thought that they would have the poor thing picked half bald the way they were going at her, but she seems to have come through it all right. In spite of all the running and scrounging and scrambling, there was only one casualty—my mother-in-law, who was helping little Judi, became so vigorous while bounding around leaping at stray leaves, that she split a necessary seam going up a hill and lost a garter going down the other side.

For the second game, I arranged 14 items in the living room in places where they were definitely out of place—a pumpkin in the fireplace, a stalk of celery in a vase of flowers, an aspirin on a statue, a straw on the window sill, and so on and asked the guests to list them. (It was not a tribute to my house-tidying that some of the youngsters found 18 or 20 things definitely out of place.) I had a marvelous time later while reading the lists, as the spelling was hilarious—pumpkin, pumpkin, papper, sroodriver, swerdiver, aspain, lightbulb, plastersean, peanow, patoe pealer, and oper.

In the midst of the games, I was dashing in and out of the kitchen adding the final touches to the meal. When I was shopping beforehand, I couldn't find an undiced loaf of bread for the Party Sandwich Loaf, in the three stores I was in, I improvised by buying an ordinary sliced sandwich loaf (with fairly square slices), trimming the crusts off, and laying four slices end to end to make each layer. This turned out much the same as it would have with the proper bread, only longer. It went over quite well with the girls—7 ayes, 2 nays, and 1 second helping. Our animated disposal unit took care of the "nays" to make it unanimous, in a way.

My favorite cake as far as birthdays go, is a chocolate DIPSY DOODLE CAKE. It is so moist that very few crumbs fall, and it is so good that it is always the one that each member of our family asks for when I plan their birthdays. This time I made a chocolate icing, since Beth asked for it, but I prefer an almond flavored icing. Even though I doubled the recipe and made a huge cake, it has been disappearing rapidly with every tea break that Gord takes.

Walker Lodge ladies' night
There are over 60 widows of former Walker Lodge members, and these were special guests at the ladies' night last Saturday evening.

The event, under the direction of Vic Patrick, was held in the Legion hall and attended by over 120. Many of the widows accepted the invitation, the oldest being sprightly Mrs. R. M. MacDonald.

The delicious roast beef dinner was served by the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

Wor. Master George Lee welcomed everyone and Herb Ritchie said grace. Jack

Mission Circle joins world-wide Day of Prayer
Members of the Baptist Mission Circle joined with Baptist women around the world for their annual day of prayer at their November meeting held in the church Monday evening. The theme this year was based on the verse "Inasmuch as you have done it unto me."

Janice Harris, Frances Feltham, Aileen Lott and Mary Landsborough gave readings and prayer under the headings of compassion, testifying, praying and giving. Marg Baillie read a familiar hymn. Jessie Coles gave the purpose and use of the offering. Elda Fryer had charge of the program.

During the business period plans were made for the Christmas meeting to be held in the church Dec. 2 at which gifts will be exchanged. A letter was read introducing the Canada Cuba prayer pack which is to be a participation by the Mission Circle. There will be prayers for the Cuban work as well as a monthly letter to be written to a native pastor.

At the close of the meeting a social half hour was spent over a cup of tea served by the committee in charge.

MR. AND MRS. BILL BESTWARD were married in Welland on October 7. She is the former Mary Della Valle.

Successful bazaar, tea held Saturday by Anglican Women

The fine weather helped to assure the success of the bazaar and tea held by the Anglican Church Women in the Parish Hall on Saturday, November 2.

Afternoon tea was served at small tables with centre pieces of chrysanthemums and the large centre piece on the head table was donated by Caroline Nurseries. Tea was poured by Mrs. H. Dawson, Mrs. F. New and Mrs. C. Lindsay who were kept very busy.

The tea was convened by Mrs. V. Bristow and she was assisted by Mrs. C. Taylor, Mrs. G. Fountain, Mrs. F. Oakes, Mrs. S. Newton, Mrs. R. Anderson, Miss M. Rowles, Mrs. C. Cook, Mrs. J. Turkosz, Mrs. J. Rol, Mrs. R. Harding, and Mrs. L. Clarke.

Mrs. E. Pratt was on the door selling tickets for the tea for those who had not already purchased them from members. The door prize was a beautiful quilt made and presented by Mrs. Robbins. This was won by

Mrs. Gwen Salter, 120 Edinburgh Road, Guelph.

All the tables were very well patronized and the overall result of the afternoon's hard work by the Members was $406.50, with possibly more to come in.

The ladies in charge of the tables were as follows: aprons, Mrs. A. Bayliss and Mrs. R. Harding; calendars, Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. C. Winn; miscellaneous, Mrs. G. Haggitt and Mrs. J. Creasey Sr.; white elephant, Mrs. D. Hunter, Mrs. G. Holmes and Mrs. C. Lindsay; preserves, Mrs. K. Lumbers and Mrs. D. Neely; baking, Mrs. W. Denny, Mrs. C. Holmes, Mrs. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. J. Rol, Mrs. G. Fountain and Mrs. C. Nelles who was also responsible for convening this very successful bazaar.

Walker Lodge ladies' night
Carpenter had a humorous welcome for the ladies.

Musical entertainment followed: the Legion Choralists under George Musselle sang several numbers and Joe Petic played the accordion. Hector Daigle and Hal Leachman played guitar and mouth organ numbers, and John McHugh sang two solos.

Dancing concluded the evening.

Vic Patrick was in charge of the arrangements. Among the many attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Franklin, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knapton, Georgetown.

Library locale for art classes

Art classes are resuming this Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the library. An instructor will be present to assist.

Response the first night was good, and there are several beginners this year. Last week's session was cancelled because of Hallow'een.
