

Hill, Patterson clash over meeting date

Esquesing Council approved a request from Tom Chudleigh to build a bunkhouse for seasonal workers employed to pick apples at his farm on No. 25 Highway at last week's meeting.

Mr. Chudleigh received approval from Canada Manpower which provides the workers from other countries, most of them from the West Indies. The building will be equipped with water, sewage outlet, showers, sink, bathroom and kitchen and would accommodate three men during the apple season.

The bunkhouse can be used only by farm workers.

A request from the Department of Highways for a forecast of 1969 expenses on roads precipitated some disagreement between Deputy-Reeve Tom Hill and Councillor Pat Patterson over a convenient date to discuss the report council would prepare.

The Department requested the report by November 15. Clerk Del French said M.P.P. Jim Snow had been contacted and he said most other municipalities were asked for a report. It was a "first" for Esquesing "because of our roads needs study," thought the deputy-reeve. He's (Jim Snow) going to have Esquesing.

"He better watch out or he's going to get 'a-squeezed,'" quipped the reeve.

Further discussion on roads brought out the fact that recommendations for a new bridge on 17 Sideroad had changed from steel to cement construction.

An advertisement for a clerk-typist for the township offices drew 19 applications for the job which council opened individually and had read. Later they were turned back to a committee for a suitable selection.

A letter from a farmer protesting an open deer hunt in the township from Brian Bond, 10th line farmer, drew a wry comment from the reeve. "No worry," he said "There's no deer season in Halton anyway."

Correspondence from the township solicitor disclosed that he felt an amendment suggested by lawyer Fred Nelson to by-law 18-68, the controversial land separation by-law, was correct. Mr. Baines suggested an all-embracing by-law.

A letter from M.P.P. Jim Snow in reply to an enquiry divulged that the township was defined as a planning area in 1953 and never dissolved. Mr. Snow said he would be glad to discuss an Official Plan and a Comprehensive Zoning By-law with council and send any helpful literature.

Later in the meeting, on the urging of Councillor Bob Lawson, Council appointed a seven man Planning Board, the first in the township, by drawing names from a hat.

"I'd like to see the body get together, appoint a chairman and secretary and get going," urged Mr. Lawson, long an advocate of township planning.

Deputy-reeve Tom Hill criticized the telephone company over the condition of the 4th Line in some places where the company was laying cable.

"Anyone doing 35 or 40 miles per hour could end up off the road," charged Mr. Hill. "One man broke his wagon," on the uneven surface of the road said the reeve, agreeing with Mr. Hill.

The clerk was instructed to phone the company and make them aware of the situation.

Council passed a by-law to impose a special drainage rate on Lot 11, Con. 8 for the sum of $11,000 with no discussion.

Grants of $200 to Esquesing Agricultural Society and Acton Agricultural Society were approved in addition to a $50 grant to Milton Fair.

Advice from the Ontario Water Resources Commission that the best way for Glen Williams to get a sewage system was to hook into the Georgetown system, Council passed the following motion without comment: "The O.W.R.C. be requested to prepare and present a proposal to the Township of Esquesing for the construction of sewage and water supply to the village of Glen Williams as a provincially owned project including a rate on a usage basis to meet all the costs involved under the provincial program, and an appropriate form of contract."

Reeve George Currie welcomed Norval Scoutmaster Gord Douglas and scouts Bobby Lee, Bruce Hamilton, Murray Sallant and Barry Fendley to the meeting as observers. The reeve presided for the three hour meeting with all councillors present.

Sunday racing decided soon

The question of Sunday racing at Mohawk raceway will be answered Dec. 2 when the township meets its council for the coming term.

Council discussed the matter earlier in the year and decided not to pass a by-law permitting the racing on Sunday but rather put the question to the people. Since then various church groups, individuals and the Trustees of the Police Village of Campbellville have expressed their objections against the passing of a by-law permitting racing on Sunday.

Council will have last say in the matter and they have the right to turn it down if the people vote for it but they are expected to exercise this right only in the instance of a small majority. If however, the people turn it down, down it will likely go.

$2,032,000 sales in Savings Bonds

More than $69-million in sales of the 1968 series of Canada Savings Bonds through payroll savings have been achieved to date by Ontario organizers in the current campaign.

Sales to date in the Halton and Peel area total $2,032,000. Organizers for the area are Mr. W. G. Phippen and John E. Sharpe.

Bulldozer turns pile of sod to start Sheridan building

Representatives of several local governments attended the sod turning ceremony for Sheridan College of Applied Arts and Technology along with representatives of various branches of the provincial government last week at the north Oakville site.

Archie Turner, Chairman of the Board of Governors, for Sheridan chaired the ceremony. He spoke gratefully of the determination and vision of William Davis, the Minister of Education for Ontario, and of the Ontario Government which finances much of the operation.

Mr. Turner noted the accessibility to the population of Halton and Peel counties, the president of the school and the faculty as reasons for its potential greatness. Oakville Mayor MacLean Anderson spoke on behalf of all local governments, and said it was an honor to see the first step in the history of what will become Sheridan University by the year 2,000.

J. M. Porter, President of the College said it was remarkable how the school, now situated in temporary quarters in Brampton, had come so far, in such a short time. He said the school would be "people oriented" and he was thrilled to see the operation started. Mr. Porter declared the construction process officially underway and his statement was met by a busload of cheering students on hand to witness the ceremony.

M.P.P. Jim Snow of Halton East brought apologies from William Davis for not attending and offered congratulations from himself and the government. President of the Student Senate Bryan Frank told the gathering "A college is the students and we've got the number one college in Ontario and the best students in the world."

Mr. Turner, Mr. Porter and Mrs. Frank took part in the giant sod turning ceremony. George McDonald, an instructor at Sheridan's Heavy Equipment School branch near Milton operated a Euclid bulldozer while the officials stood on the machine and throngs of photographers from the press and the school competed for the best picture as it gouged out a mound of earth.

A visual arts building will be the first to come and it is scheduled to be built in 1969. Marani, Rountathwaite and Dick is the architectural firm and Milne and Nichols of Toronto have the contract for construction of the college. The site is on the west side of Trafalgar Road, between Queen Elizabeth Highway and the Upper Middle Rd.
