Safe tree

Christmas trees have been a part of the season's festivities for centuries. Years ago they were lit by candles clipped on to the branches, and while they looked beautiful, they also created a very real fire hazard.

Electric lights have made the Christmas tree even more beautiful and much safer. Even so, make sure your wiring is in good shape and be sure to keep the tree supplied with water.

Junior Auxiliary has 20 members

Eleven new members joined the Junior Auxiliary of St. John's Rockwood Church to increase their numbers to 20. About 50 parents and children met in the church for the enrollment service which consisted of a reading from the New Testament by Pam Ingle, a prayer in unison by the new members, and a short talk by the minister, Rev. E. Sewell.

The new members received green felt neck ties to match their uniforms of white blouse, green skirt, and green beanie.

Carols, led by Nancy Ingle, were sung around the Christmas tree in the church hall and J. A. members served refreshments.

The members meet in the church hall Monday evenings and are given instruction in knitting and art work by leaders Mrs. J. Williamson and Nancy Ingle. There are outside activities, hikes and nature studies, in good weather. Classes are non-denominational.
