Notes and Quotes

from the world of sport

THE FINANCIAL POST reports that there is now a way to take the guesswork out of a golfer's drives. This optical instrument is said to give the exact number of yards from ball to hole. The device is fully automatic, requiring no focusing. The golfer merely stands above his ball, looks through the rear aperture and lines up the flag on the yardage scale to measure his distance. Packed in a plastic container, the device is small enough to fit into a shirt pocket!

How about something like that to eliminate the excuse of not being able to judge the distance to the hole, which rookie golfers often use as a cover-up for their own lack of ability!

LATEST STATISTICS from the Halton County Baseball League show that Danny Arbic of the Georgetown Giants is leading the league in two hitting departments.

Danny cracked out 15 base hits in his first 22 trips to the plate for an amazing .682 average. Included in the 15 base hits were three triples, which gives him the league-lead in that department as well.

NICE TO SEE that former Actonian Pete Vale has maintained his interest in minor baseball. Pete is president of the Babe Ruth Baseball Association in Galt this year.

SPORTS PUZZLER of the Week: On June 22, 1951, this member of the New York Yankees led off an inning, each of the nine times he came to bat in a double-header. Who is he?

ANSWER: Phil Rizzuto, against the White Sox. He led off the first, third, fifth, seventh and ninth in the first game and the first, fourth, sixth and eighth in the nightcap.

Competing in only his third steeplechase ever, Bruce Andrews finished first in the Men's 3000 metre steeplechase, at the all-comers meet, at CNE stadium in Toronto, last night.

Bruce was one of Ontario's outstanding track stars, while he was attending Acton District High School. After graduation, he attended Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey, for four years, on a track scholarship.

Three years ago, Bruce returned to Acton District High, as a teacher, and is chiefly responsible for the success the school's track and cross country teams have enjoyed since then.

This year Bruce ended a three-year personal retirement from competition and is now training about 80 miles a week.

At Saturday night's mixed euchre at the Legion, Peg Louttet won the steaks with a score of 65. Elsie Johnson was second with 62. Molly McHugh won the bacon for hidden score with a 47.

Norm Cunningham walked off with the steaks for the men, posting a score of 80. Ethel Anthony took second with a 59, while Helen Yatsman took the hidden score with a 42.

There was no mixed euchre at the Acton Legion Saturday night. Instead, everyone enjoyed a delicious beef barbecue.

A group from Guelph, including Nelson Jackson, on the violin, and Phillip Jackson and Raymond Greens on guitar, played before the barbecue. George Fountain also played, in the fine fashion he always does. After the barbecue, Merv Woods and his orchestra played for the dance, much to the enjoyment of all who attended.
