Quick change wig artists delight, fascinate ladies

A provocative and enjoyable event took place at the Centennial School gymnasium last Monday evening when the United Church Unit 3 ladies presented a hat and wig demonstration to a curious but interested audience.

Mrs. Robert Tripp was on hand to introduce the special commentator, Miss Irwin, of Walker's Department store in Guelph, as an expert fashion consultant and hairdresser. Miss Irwin proceeded to describe the hats worn by various members of the ladies group, with Mrs. Lloyd Dyer, Mrs. Grant McRae, Mrs. Stan Harris, Miss Marion Bayne, Mrs. Ray Thomson, Miss Linda Law, and Mrs. Oscar Drijver participating as models. After the hat display a short intermission was then held at which time draws were made with the only gentleman in the audience, little Kevin Nichol responsible for pulling out winning tickets.

Mrs. Harold Scott won the first prize and Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Tarzwell, Mrs. Fountain, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Oakes, Miss Norma Wheeler, Miss Carol Gregg, and Mrs. Dufloss, were the other lucky winners of the prizes donated by various local merchants.

The highlight of the evening followed when the ladies were favoured with a presentation of mod feminine sex appeal in the form of long and short hair falls, with wigs and complete wigs of synthetic hair, introduced as the latest completion to madame's accessory wardrobe.

A professional hairdresser, Miss Irwin presented and proceeded to mount the long and short falls on her models using pretty Miss Linda Law as her first model. The clever stylist showed how combing and brushing enhanced the appearance of a hair piece, as she manipulated the feathered curls to look natural and alluring.

Grey wigs for a change of pace and hurried changeovers were shown, with Mrs. Howard Brace modelling one interesting coiffure. Marion Bayne looked adorable in a Victorian-type hairdo which was effected by combining a small hair piece with her own specially combed hair setting.

Julie Brace wore a platinum curly wig and Mrs. Joy Law was glamorous wearing a blonde hair piece set on and brushed up to take on the appearance of her own complete hair do.

A buffet lunch almost completed the evening with time out while blondes, redheads and Indian personalities began to emerge on the stage as avid wig and hat enthusiasts dared to flout their inhibitions and change their hair modes and colouring in quick succession.

Instant glamour or slapstick comedy was the order of the hour and, whether or not the evening was a financial success, it was certainly one of delight and fascination to many Rockwood, Acton, Eden Mills and Guelph ladies.

Speakers, presentations elections at Home, School

Several awards were presented at the first Home and School meeting of the Rockwood and Eden Mills Centennial Public School last Thursday, October 20.

Bob Leslie presented the new Bob Leslie family award for the greatest academic proficiency to Debbie Hartung; Mari Ellen Saunders received a small replica of the Earl Osborne and family "Citizenship" trophy, and Don Hills presented Tim Hartman, the winner of the Don Hills "Safety Patrol Award" with a picture of High Post Law in Rockwood, with the actual trophy being kept at the school and Janice Wilson and Billy Wendorf received books presented by Mrs. Joy Law for the greatest academic progress.

Approximately 50 parents from Rockwood and Eden Mills attended the meeting which was held in the gymnasium auditorium, at which time the last Thursday evening of each month at 8.15 p.m. was definitely established as the regular Home and School night.

During the meeting Rev. Don Sinclair was nominated as treasurer and Mrs. Betty Marshall from Eden Mills for the position of program convener. Both agreed to accept the positions and were unanimously elected. Thus the present slate of officers for the Association reads: president, Mr. Sandy Hudson, vice-president, Mrs. Bob Gilbertson, Eden Mills, secretary Mrs. Aileen Buchan, Eden Mills, treasurer, Mr. Don Sinclair, Rockwood, program convener, Mrs. Betty Marshall, Eden Mills, and although the position of social convener has not been filled, it is hopeful that by the next meeting another name will complete the list of executive members.

Mr. Sandy Hudson then turned the meeting over to Mr. Grant McRae who thanked the various trophy donors, expressing the tremendous merit in such awards as incentives for which the children could work.

Mr. McRae proceeded to welcome the two speakers of the evening and Mrs. Lloyd Dyer introduced Mr. Bruce Truscott the Wellington School Board representative. He gave a résumé on the function of the county school board from the practical and business point of view, dealing vocally with bus and property costs, and other informative facts regarding school board procedures, stressing the point that "Your county school board is as near as your telephone, and all parents are encouraged to phone in and discuss school problems at any time."

Mr. Grant McRae then introduced Mr. Whitefield, our past area superintendent, who talked to the parents attending about the necessity of equal education for all children and, as a county school board he said, "We are attempting to attain the highest level possible for every individual child."

Both speakers were thanked by Mr. George Day, the past secretary for the now dissolved Rockwood School Board and after this a lunch was served while, at the same time, over coffee and donuts, a heated discussion took place which did not pertain as much to Home and School business and how the Wellington County School Board affected the Rockwood Public School system as much as how it would affect local taxes.

A few questions were left unanswered, but a new slate of officers had been elected, an established meeting date set and two informative speakers had been heard and parents went home thinking.

C.W.L. plans many activities accept gift from Father Day

The first regular meeting of the Catholic Women's League Rockwood and Oustic was held in October at the rectory with the president, Mrs. R. Haliburton, presiding and Mrs. Roy Bacon as secretary.

Correspondence was read and filed and the following motions were made and passed.

That a refreshment booth be set up at the October farm auction sale of Mr. Van der Kroft with coffee, donuts, and hot dogs the main menu items.

That Friday, November 7 be set aside as a public eucharist date to be held in the rectory at 8.30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

That November 12 be the date set aside for the annual Fall Bazaar which will be held in the Rockwood town hall using a special Christmas theme. Various conveners were chosen for the bake tables, and sale tables, a special children's booth, and another for bingo with a general discussion on a draw for the transistor radio which had been donated to the C.W.L. ladies for the bazaar as a parting gesture of Father Day, pastor of Sacred Heart in Guelph, who has been, until recently, pastor as well as director of the Rockwood and Oustic parish.

The business part of the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday, November 12 and an exciting program was enjoyed when Mrs. Wakeford of Galt gave a Stanley Brush demonstration with the special bonus prizes, made from quantities of sales, being set aside by the ladies to be used in the fall bazaar.

Mrs. Mary Gillilan won the draw for the evening and Mrs. Marjorie Saunders served a delicious luncheon culminating a successful meeting.

HAPPENINGS AT ROCKWOOD CENTENNIAL SCHOOL

By Dale Hamilton

On Friday, Nov. 1 Rockwood Centennial School held their Halloween dance. The gym was decorated in orange and black with a large lighted pumpkin. Cornstalks, corn and pumpkins were also used in each corner. The dance was a success and brought the students council about $21.

On Tuesday, Nov. 4 we will play soccer against Hillsburg. This is just one of the many soccer games that will be played against different schools. Because of the unexpected snowfall games were cancelled until now.

"Are you the girl who took my order?"

"Yes, sir," replied the waitress, politely.

"I'll be dined," said the amazed patron, "you don't look a day older!"
