Five provincial ministers attend federation meeting

By Mrs. Deniz Lawrence
The annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was held in Toronto, Nov. 10-12. Those attending from Halton were A. R. Coulter, vice-president of the Ontario Federation; Deniz Lawrence, Halton President and Zone 4 Governor and his wife; Tom Alderson and Tom Foster, Halton vice-presidents; Harold Middlebrook, Chairman of Property Committee of the Halton Federation of Agriculture; and Edrie Dawson, Halton Secretary.

The speaker at the convention banquet on Monday, Nov. 10 was Charles Munro, president of the organization for the past three years. He was recently elected president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and more recently a vice-president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

Mr. Munro spoke on the position of Agriculture today, the role of the Federation of Agriculture, what has been accomplished during the last year, and what is hoped for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro entertained at an at-home in the presidential suite at the hotel, after the banquet. Mrs. R. G. Coulter, Mrs. Eugene Coulter, Mrs. Deniz Lawrence and Mrs. Ray Hargrett assisted Mrs. Munro with the refreshments.

A highlight of Tuesday's program was a spirited speech by Sir Thomas Moore from the U.S.A. His speech was rich in humor, pithy observations and an astounding ability to point out the weaknesses and dangers of agriculture in the U.S.A. and Canada, and unlike many speakers he did not leave us sitting there. She had sound and wise remedies for the dangers, pitfalls and maladies that are afflicting agriculture today.

Everyone felt she had faced the situation squarely and we saw ourselves as never before. It set everyone thinking.

Tuesday evening saw the election of the new executive and directors. Precedent was set by the taking of a straw vote to alert the members to the wishes of the convention before the official vote took place. Some anxiety and confusion reigned earlier in the day because of the new Federation by-laws and new methods of election of executive. Hours of discussion seemed necessary to clarify the issue and produce the straw vote. One big point made by the assembly was that the new direct membership members should have the power to vote in the straw vote, to make their wishes known. The direct membership will give power and a say in the affairs of agriculture and the action of the Federation of that the average farmer really has not had in the past. In the past, only members at convention delegates had a vote in decisions made. A whole new concept of a farm organization would seem to be emerging.

This point was further enlarged when the straw vote and the official vote elected Gordon Hill, a former president of the Ontario Farmers Union as the President for 1969-70. He has two able vice-presidents, Frank Wall as first, and Keith Mathies as second. Gordon Hill was made a member from the Board after the precedent setting feat of being elected President of the Federation from the floor, as a direct member, not from the board of governors or directors as they are now called, as has been the practice in the past.

In the past the president's path was paved with hard work up through the seats of county member, governor and eventually through the vice-presidents. So everyone should be able to see why the convention body felt "all shook up" so to speak after an eventful day Tuesday. The feeling was that the Federation would never be the same but the general consensus of opinion seemed to be that it would probably be all for the best, but some are biding their opinion in a "wait and see" attitude.

There were 40 some odd names nominated and 27 stood for election, for the nine seats as directors from the convention and membership voters.

The successful candidates were: James Jacklin, Zone Governor and member from Bruce County; Thomas Robson, former vice president and member from the Vegetable Bd.; Roy Coulter, former vice president and member from the Wheat Bd.; Rev. B. Daynard, member from Perth County; Bruce Taylor, member from Durham County.

Others are Clare Curtin, zone Governor and member from Hog

Bd., and President of the Hog Producers, Robert Allan, governor and member of last year's executive; Malcolm Davidson, governor and member from the Special Swine section; Chas. Huffman, Past president and member from United Co-operatives.

The highlight of Wednesday at the Convention was the breakfast with several Provincial Government Ministers. There was an overflow attendance with Mr. Charles Munro as chairman, assisted by Mr. Gordon Hill, the new president.

Hon. W. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, spoke of the good relationship between the Federation and Government, and what the Government had attempted to do to help agriculture this year. Hon. George A. Kerr, Minister of Energy and Resource Management, spoke on the problems of pollution and what government intends doing to solve the situation. Hon. Wm. Davis, Minister of Education, was somewhat under fire on the subject of education taxation after he spoke on the new County System of Education. Hon. Thomas Wells, Minister of Health, spoke on the new Government health schemes. Hon. Darcy McKeough, Minister of Municipal Affairs, received the most questions in regard to land and farm taxation. He was under fire for some time. He spoke about the new plan for taxation which is to be tried out in Peel and said that the Federation would be kept informed of developments.

Mr. Gordon Hill thanked the Ministers for taking the time out of their busy schedules to attend the breakfast, and for answering our questions.

Three more directors were elected from among the 12 delegates chosen by the direct membership at the regional meetings on Monday. There were Delmer Bennett, past president of Farmer's Union; Dorothy Houston, member from Timiskaming; and Brian Ellsworth.

Snow speaks for farmers

Jim Snow, MPP for Halton East spoke of the plight of Channel Island cattle breeders in the legislature recently. Mr. Snow noted the problems being caused when the Milk Marketing Board assessed this breed of cattle on even ground to others.

Previous to this their product had commanded a higher price and now have to settle for a lower return for their product, he said.

TRACTOR UPSETS

Tractor upsets account for a large number of our farm machinery accidents, says Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Speed too fast for the conditions is one of the major causes of these accidents. However, both standard and row crop tractors can be overturned at less than eight miles an hour. So watch those turns—at any speed.

Livestock tour attracts 39 men

By H. Cook
The Livestock Management Tour was attended by 39 individuals this year. The tour began in Guelph on Sunday, Nov. 9, with brief discussions on the dairy, beef, swine, and sheep industries and farm management. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, beef, dairy, swine, and sheep farmers were visited. The tour stressed the management aspect of farming and this was an excellent opportunity to see and compare various management practices. Each evening discussions were held to evaluate the different enterprises and to discuss these management practices.

The tour arrived at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair on Thursday, at which time the individuals took part in the Inter-County Livestock Judging Competition. Each county team of three contestants judged three classes of dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, and one class of sheep. The standing of the county teams was as follows: Simcoe N. Oxford, Lincoln, Manitoulin, Algoma, Middlesex, Perth, Peterboro, Prescott, Halton, Wellington, Renfrew, Algoma and Middlesex tied for fifth while Perth and Peterboro tied for seventh.

The Halton County team, sponsored by the Halton County Milk Committee, was made up of Dwight May from Hornby.

Bruce Coles from Acton, and Robert Foster from Ballinafad. Cash prizes were awarded to the 40 highest ranking contestants of which Dwight May was 13th and Bruce Coles was 30th. Doug Langman from Orillia had the highest score in the competition. Thursday evening many of the contestants took advantage of the tickets provided for the show at the McLaughlin Planetarium.

Friday the tour visited various stock yards, packing plants, and marketing boards throughout Toronto. An Awards Banquet was held for the contestants in the King Edward Hotel and tickets for the Horse Show at the Royal were provided for Friday evening, which concluded the tour.

Demonstrate tractors

By H. J. Stanley
A demonstration of Zator tractors, manufactured in Czechoslovakia, is to be held on Saturday, Nov. 22 at the farm of Barry Gray, 1 mile west of Harrison at the junction of highways 87 and 89.

This is being sponsored by the Ontario Farm Machinery Agency, owned by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. During the past year many tractors and other pieces of machinery have been imported from Great Britain at a considerable saving to Ontario farmers.

Now, tractors from Czechoslovakia are being considered. Four different tractors will be demonstrated ranging from 35 to 90 horsepower. Demonstration time is 1 to 4 p.m., with everyone welcome.

Some meats unknown

The seventh meeting of the Ballinafad Southern Chuck Wagons was held on Saturday, Nov. 15 in Ballinafad Church. Following the usual pledge, roll call and minutes, the girls made final plans for meeting 8.

Then came a discussion on variety and processed meats. Unknown to some girls were such things as tripe, heart, brains and sweetbreads. For the demonstration Beryl McEnery and Beverly Leitch prepared braised liver and vegetables.

The Datsun is built like a truck but handles like a good small car. Easy to drive. Easy to park. Inside, it's got a wide bench seat, padded sun visors, 2-speed heater/defroster and a smooth 4-speed slick shift... just like a car.
