Indy-type speedway, drag strip proposed for Esquesing farms he went on to say that his clients

Plans for a mammoth International Speedway, between the Third and Fourth Lines of Esquesing just north of Highway 401, were unveiled at a special meeting of Esquesing Council Monday night.

Between 30 and 40 residents of that area of Esquesing south of Five Sideroad jammed the township council chambers

Monday night as promoters finally appeared to reveal plans for a car raceway in the area. Last week, residents of northern end of the township had appeared to voice their opposition to a drag strip under construction between the Fifth and Sixth Lines north of group's delay in presenting plans and propose to build a one and three-quarter mile oval raceway half of the oval, which would run almost barallel to Highway before Council, lawyer E. A. Goodman went on to explain his clients own 240 acres of land and stands that will accommodate approximately 20,000 spectators. The southern 401, would be extended to also serve as a drag strip 3,000 feet in

Main features of the raceway would be two or possibly three large events for open wheel racing cars, similar to those used at the Indianapolis Speedway. These events would draw crowds of between 20,000 and 30,000. Three or four unaller events would attract crowds of close to 12,000. In addition 10 to 15 drag strip racing events, some with professional drivers and others open to the public would Allowing for one or two days warmup for the main events, Mr. Goodman estimated the raceway would be in use about 45 days a year. The events themselves would be held on weekends and holidays only, from May until September.

Mr. Goodman said the raceway would be completely fenced in to meet International racing standards, but did not deny that people living in the eight homes adjacent to the raceway would experience the inconvenience of noise on the days events were held. However,

The raceway site was chosen because of its proximity to exits and entrances to highways 401 and 25, and because of the rising interest in auto racing in this part of the province. Mr. Goodman said his clients were prepared to assist the municipality financially with any problems the raceway would create on township roads.

Mr. Goodman said his clients could either provide their own sewage in accordance with Department of Health regulations or were prepared to stand the cost of hooking up with Milton's sewage system. Water, he hoped, could be either brought in by truck or purchased from the town of "This is a good type of assessment for Council to have" Mr. Goodman concluded. He estimated the project would cost in the neighborhood of $2 million.

In answer to a question from deputy-reeve Tom Hill, Mr. Goodman said he wasn't certain any members of his group were among those who previously tried to locate in Chinguscousy Township, but admitted some of his clients were interested in the Lakeshore raceway in Toronto.

Prospective manager of the new raceway, Reg Booth, presently part owner of Edmonton International Speedway Park, was also at the meeting to answer questions.

"Are these cars bigger than at Mosport?", deputy-reeve Hill wanted to know. Mr. Booth replied that the "Indy" type cars have more horsepower, but don't perform as well. "How many cars do you start a race?" asked councillor Russell Miller.

"The most we've started in Edmonton is 24", Mr. Booth answered. He went on to say that a normal 200 mile race would consist of 80 laps of the track and that cars would average 105 miles per hour for the 200 miles. Mr. Booth explained that Another resident William Lawson asked Mr. Goodman what he thought the raceway would do to the value of adjoining property. Mr. Goodman admitted that until the raceway was established, property values would probably go down, but predicted that after two years values would tend to increase again. He added that the two or three large events each year concerned.

When Mr. Axler indicated that he had not yet received such approval, reeve Currie anapped back, "Well I'm afraid we're going to be through with you very thortly". The reeve insisted Mr. Axler consult with the Health Unit

Mr. Axler told council he had presented plans to the township planning board last March 19. He agreed that the plans would have to be approved by the Health Unit, but asked that council first give their approval to the project so that he could have further studies undertaken. "We're prepared to make Silvercreek a nice place to live", Mr. Axler continued. He claimed his subdivisions would cater to a large variety of needs, since the 267 lots were of several different "How will you supply water?" Reeve Currie asked.

"We intend to supply water from a central well, but whatever means is satisfactory, to each and every lot", Mr. Axler replied. He also mentioned that there is an existing reservoir, belonging to the town of Georgetown near Nighway 7. Councillor Ken Marshall favored seeking further planning

"I'm in sympathy with this, because one of the big needs today is housing, but I'd like to see this council get some up-to-date planning advice." Referring to the drag strip presently under construction between the Fifth and Sixth Lines north of Highway 7 councillor Russell Miller asked, "Do you think people would want to build next to a drag
